Supervisors Uphold Autonomous Panels

By WAT TAKESHITA

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday gave a unanimous "vote of confidence" to the juvenile delinquency prevention and the youth commissions, thus taking some of the sting out of Administrator Alan Bruce's recommendation that the two be merged.

The action came during a relatively quiet discussion of the now famous Alan Bruce Report, which recommended cutting down and merging various commissions to promote efficiency.

On a motion of Supervisor Louis H. Baar, the supervisors also asked two members of the emergency medical care committee, who resigned in anger over the Bruce Report, to remain on the commission. Chairman John F. McInnis said he would write to Thomas H. Larke Jr. and Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr., asking them to reconsider their resignatoins.

"They're both done an excellent job," said Baar. "I hate to see them leaving."

McInnis announced he regrets that Bruce's report created such resentment, and pointed out that the supervisors do not necessarily agree with the recommendations.

McInnis described Bruce as "a good administrator but a lousy diplomat" who "keeps putting his foot in his mouth."

From the outset McInnis emphasized that the supervisors had merely asked Bruce for recommendations. "We anticipate no decision today to change any commission or structure," said McInnis. "We are just receiving recommendations that we requested from staff."

Supervisor Michael Wornum noted that Bruce has been criticized unfairly as a "power mad administrator" when he was merely making recommendations as requested by the board.

"We should stress that the su-

Kent Kin Declared Creek Trespasser, Scolded By Court

By MARY LEYDECKER

A Marin Municipal Court judge today found a member of Marin's land-owning Kent family guilty of having committed two misdemeanors in last spring's flood control protest and gave her a tongue-lashing about her citizenship.

Mary Kent Schardt of Kentfield, who acted as a test case for all 38 defendants arrested in the Tamalpais Creek demonstration last April, was declared guilty of trespassing and failure to disperse by Judge Peter Allen Smith.

Three attorneys for Mrs. Schardt, who is the daughter of Roger Kent, attorney, land developer and long-time Democratic Party leader, said they would appeal the case to Marin Superior Court.

Judge Smith allowed Mrs. Schardt to remain free on her own recognizance and stayed the execution of a $50 fine pending the appeal.

MARY KENT SCHARDT
Declared guilty

The judge's decision came today after hearing arguments from the three defense attorneys, who included Kent, and from Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Michael Anthony. Two hours of testimony had been given at a trial Sept. 30.

Judge Smith suggested that Anthony might have more appropriately charged Mrs. Schardt and the other defendants with a penal code section which makes it a misdemeanor crime to trespass with the intent to obstruct a lawful business operation.

SECTION OF LAKE

They were charged with trespassing under a section which requires the posting of at least three "no trespassing" signs per mile.

The defense attorneys had contended that there were not enough signs.

Judge Smith said that this was not a 20,000-acre ranch which the defendants had "innocently stepped upon" and that they knew they were on private propetry. He added that the piece of land in question is so small that it was probably difficult to literally comply with the law.

He noted that the entire defense case had rested on the sign-posting question as well as the legal constitution of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control district.

NOT IN DISPUTE

"The course of conduct on that occasion (the demonstration) was not placed into dispute," Judge Smith said, when sentencing Mrs. Schardt.

"Although we all believe in conservation . . . and do not want Marin County ruined by unsightly construction projects . . . this course of conduct by responsible adults gives me serious concern," Judge Smith told Mrs. Schardt.

"Ask yourself, what kind of an example were you setting for other citizens?" he continued.

He added that he had no intention of sending her to jail, but that he thought she and the other defendants ought to consider "the rule of law under which we all live."

At the conclusion of Smith's remarks, Kent asked incredu-

Hospital Refuses To Bench Official

The Marin Hospital District board last night flatly refused to go along with a request from the Marin County Board of Supervisors to suspend the director of the Community Mental Health Center for 30 days.

After a more than two-hour closed session, Board President George M. Croke read a brief statement, "At this time we find no evidence to support the request of the board of supervisors to suspend Dr. (Donald P.) Wilson."

Following a long-simmering feud in the county's mental health field, the supervisors on Sept. 30 suspended Dr. Clyde G. Miller, county director of mental health services and asked that the hospital board suspend Wilson to reappraise mental health center operations. (For further supervisors' action affecting Miller, see page 10.)

Wilson, who was hired by the hospital district to run the new mental health center when it opened last year, arrived in the county to be confronted with long-standing and bewildering bickering among mental health organizations.

Last week, doctors, volunteers and others in the field testifying before the board of supervisors again were split on whether or not Miller is an effective administrator or whether he seeks personal control at the expense of services to the community.

The hospital board, which administers the mental health center and provides services to the county under a contract, was unanimous in its decision last night to keep Wilson working.

Although the board did not elaborate last night on its decision, members indicated after the meeting that there was no evidence that Wilson was not doing a good job at the new center.

During the closed session Wilson met with the board for almost an hour but did not comment on the discussion when he emerged from the room. The board also interviewed a psychiatrist, Dr. George R. Caesar, and received advice from the district's attorney, Harold F. Reide.

Croke said that the hospital board will meet in another closed session with the board of supervisors at 2 p.m. next Wednesday to discuss the matter again.

About a dozen of Wilson's supporters waited outside the closed meeting last night to learn the outcome.

Croke said that of the many letters which the board had received concerning Wilson, all but two or three supported him.

Closed Inquest Is Asked

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's attorneys asked today that an inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne be closed to the press and public and that all witnesses be subject to cross-examination.

Kennedy's counsel, in arguments before the Massachusetts Supreme Court, contended the inquest would be "an accusatory proceeding which could result in criminal action."

Edward B. Hanify, counsel for the Massachusetts Democratic senator, asked the full bench of the state Supreme Court to declare the state's inquest law unconstitutional or lay down a new body of restrictions on the proposed inquest in Edgartown District Court.

ON JULY 19

Miss Kopechne was found dead in Kennedy's car in a salt water pond on Chappaquiddick Island July 19. Kennedy said the car was driving went off the side of a narrow bridge and plunged into the water. Kennedy escaped but Miss Kopechne was trapped in the car.

Hanify argued for a full hour of the two-hour hearing before five justices of the court. In addition to asking that the inquest be closed to the press and public, he called upon the court to quash a ruling by District Court Judge James A. Boyle which barred witnesses' lawyers from the court room except while their clients were testifying.

Hanify further asked the court to order Judge Boyle to disqualify himself from the forthcoming inquest because he was a party to today's appeal.

CRIMINAL CASE?

Joseph J. Hurley, an assistant attorney general, who represented Judge Boyle told the court that there had been a great deal of talk about "criminal consequences—and it is probable there could be some criminal consequences."

He said that an inquest could clear persons of suspicion as well as indicating guilt.

"Kennedy himself, on television, referred to innuendo and whispers and gossip," he said. "An inquest could serve to end this and to protect and clear the good name of Miss Kopechne as

More Opposition To Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, assistant Senate Republican leader, announced today he is opposed to the Supreme Court nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth but the White House said President Richard M. Nixon's position in support of his nominee remains unchanged.

Anticipating the question, presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler volunteered the President's continuing position of support.

He added that Nixon's support of Judge Haynsworth does not rest on any Senate count, but on the merits of the case and the President's faith in the integrity of Judge Haynsworth and the soundness of his background.

Ziegler would not comment on the contents of Griffin's letter to the President.

Ziegler said Nixon feels the nomination would move out of the Senate Judiciary Committee to the Senate floor and that Haynsworth will be confirmed by the Senate.

On the other hand, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the assistant Democratic leader of the Senate, said he thinks there is a "serious question" whether Nixon's choice can be confirmed.

In Greenville, S.C., Haynsworth said once again that he would not withdraw.

The judge relayed this statement through his secretary in response to an query as to whether Griffin's action had caused Haynsworth to change his plans.

Griffin's action, which could be a serious blow to administration hopes of confirmation, was given added impetus when Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, chairman of all Senate Republicans, also cast her lot with the opposition.

Mrs. Smith, in a floor speech, said opposition to Haynsworth was "more substantial among Republicans than was generally realized."

Meanwhile, the Senate Judiciary Committee postponed a meeting scheduled to consider the nomination. The postponement was requested by a member—not a Democrat, Kennedy said—taking advantage of the rule that any objection can block a committee from meeting while the Senate is in session.

Griffin announced just before that scheduled meeting that he will vote against Haynsworth—and said he has advised President Nixon.

The Griffin decision threw Republican forces into some disarray since, as whip, or assistant leader, he had been in charge of nose counting for the GOP.

"I don't know what we're going to do," said Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the Republican leader.

Scott said Griffin could have some impact on other senators.

Griffin would not disclose the contents of his letter to Nixon.

He declared, however, that "legitimate and substantial

Viet NCO Club Windfalls Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — A corporation set up by a group of top ranking sergeants running NCO clubs in Vietnam did $1.2 million in business the first year it was formed, a Senate investigator testified today before a Senate subcommittee.

Carmine S. Bellino, an accountant and Senate investigator, said 87 per cent of the corporation's business was with the club systems operated by the sergeants who owned the corporation.

The "Mafia like" operation, the investigator said, contacted suppliers of recreation clubs in Vietnam and told them they had to do business through Maredem Corp. if they expected to continue doing business with the clubs.

Bellino testified William O. Wooldridge, then sergeant major of the military command in Vietnam, received and was credited on the Maredem books as of Dec. 31, 1968, with a total of $34,822.87 as the result of an investment by him of $14,880.

Yesterday Woolridge told reporters he has received only $3,500 from his Maredem investments.

Bellino said two principal owners of the company ran club systems in Vietnam. He said Sgt. William E. Higdon ran the NCO and enlisted men's clubs in Long Binh and that Sgt. Marvaez Hatcher ran the clubs in the First Infantry Division area.

Bellino said that when the company was formed in Hong Kong the partners at first wanted to call it "Aburg Brothers." All of the sergeants involved in the company had formerly run clubs in the 34th Infantry Division stationed at Augsburg, Germany.

Military investigators have testified all were under suspicion of alleged irregularities in the running of NCO clubs in the Augsburg-Munich area.

Also yesterday, Chicago Police Supt. James Conlisk said

Fund Squeeze Could Doom Marine Center

By ANNE BARDWELL

Further congressional belt tightening has resulted in severe research and personnel cuts at the Marin Mineral Technology Center in Tiburon, the Independent-Journal has learned.

Research director Arthur P. Nelson said yesterday that an additional $300,000 budget cut ordered last month on top of a $600,000 cut in May has reduced the center's staff to a third of a year ago and brought three major research projects to a halt.

Terming the cuts a "disaster" Nelson said they would just about stop the center's research in Marine mining and environmental protection studies. "We need the basic research before it's too late, otherwise we tend to rely on expediency and make a mess" he said.

However, Nelson said he still has hope that some of the cut funds may be restored during a Senate-House conference committee hearing of the Senate and House appropriations subcommittees for the Department of the Interior and allied affairs scheduled to begin in two weeks.

The Senate subcommittee voted last week to restore the $300,000 following pressure from California senators and representatives interested public persons and private citizens.

"But the battle isn't over," Nelson said "If the cut stands, it'll kill the center."

He said he will ask the Marin County Board of Supervisors and others who have supported the center in the past to write

More Opposition To GOP War Dissent Moratorium

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican call for a moratorium on war dissent suffered another blow today with the introduction of resolution by two Senate Vietnam critics urging withdrawal of American forces from the battle zone within a "reasonable time."

Unlike two earlier withdrawal proposals, the one submitted by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Mark O. Hatfield R-Ore., does not propose a deadline for an American pullout.

Instead, their resolution criticizes the pace of withdrawal set by President Richard M. Nixon and asserts that the continued presence of U.S. forces can only postpone "the political accommodations essential to ending the conflict."

The Church-Hatfield measure, and the two other withdrawal proposals, appear to have no chance of Senate approval.

But together, the proposals are the starting point for a new inquiry into war policy planned by Sen. J. W. Fulbright's Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Its hearings, the first on Nixon's conduct of the war, begin Oct. 27.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers has agreed to testify in open session, although no date has yet been set.

The committee also has invited testimony from Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

In a speech prepared for the Senate, Church said the United States has no vital interest in preserving the Saigon government of President Nguyen Van

Army Revokes Medal To Ex-Provost Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has revoked a Distinguished Service Medal awarded to Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner when he retired as Army provost marshal general last fall.

This was the second such action by the Army in connection with a central figure in Senate and Pentagon investigations of alleged irregularities in the handling of service club funds.

An Army spokesman said Turner's medal was revoked "when information became available that his service for the period did not merit the award." The period involved was February 1962 through October 1968.

The action revoking the medal was taken on Sept. 26.

Turner, a native of Altus, Okla., began his military career in 1930 by enlisting in the Oklahoma National Guard and was commissioned an Army reserve infantry lieutenant five years later.

As a result of his military police work, he received a number of awards, including the 1967 Enforcement Award from the Association of Federal Investigators for "outstanding contributions and accomplishments as an international author, lecturer, and leader in the investigative and law enforcement fields."

Turner also received a special award presented in May 1967 by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover "in appreciation of his valuable assistance to the FBI" while provost marshal general of the Army.

FIVE-FREEWAY TRAFFIC JAM

An overturned truck on the Golden State Freeway at Stadium Way in Los Angeles creates a traffic jam on five freeways at once. Driver Raymond F. Jones, 50, of San Leandro, said he swerved his big rig to avoid an auto cutting in front of him early yesterday. The truck, carrying two diesel cabs piggyback, flipped. Neither Jones nor the driver of the crushed car in foreground were hurt, but the driver of a sports car which hit the truck across the divider suffered slight injuries. (AP Wirephoto)

Worried Congressmen Quiz Kennedy Aide On Job Sag

WASHINGTON (AP — Treasury Secretary David Kennedy says the Nixon administration finds a 4 per cent unemployment rate "acceptable' 'in its fight to curb inflation.

But he won't say how much higher the jobless rate could go without causing a change in anti-inflation policies.

Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and William Proxmire, D-Wis., made it clear they don't share the view of some economists that last month's increase of unemployment from 3.5 to 4 per cent was a good sign indicating a slowdown in the inflationary trend.

Symington asked: "Are we planning for a recession to reduce inflation?"

Kennedy replied: "No, we must now watch the timing to make sure that doesn't happen."

During yesterday's hearing, Proxmire asked Kennedy to set an unemployment figure which would trigger alarm within the administration, but the secretary said he had no "magic figure" in mind.

Kennedy noted that prior to the Vietnam conflict unemployment rates often ran over the 4 per cent level. Proxmire acknowledged this but said "we can't go back to that."

Budget Director Robert Mayo told the congressmen that should there be a sudden upsurge in unemployment, manpower programs could be speeded up. The Administration spokesmen also said that although there was no emergency plan, other steps could include restoration of federal construction and enactment of family assistance and unemployment insurance measure proposed earlier.

Kennedy and Mayo urged the members to work for extension of the surtax at 5 per cent after Jan. 1 and for repeal of the investment tax credit to keep up anti-inflationary pressure.

Cuban Jet Returns

HOMESTEAD AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — A Russian-built MIG fighter which eluded U.S. defenses and landed near President Richard M. Nixon's Air Force One jetliner has been flown back to Cuba.

A ferry pilot attired in a Cuban military uniform arrived with five Cuban Air Force personnel aboard a Cuban commercial airliner yesterday to fly the MIG home.

Antidraft Bombing

NEW YORK (AP) — An explosion rocked the Armed Forces Induction Center in lower Manhattan late last night, shattering more than 40 windows on the fifth floor and knocking bricks and masonry from the building.

No one was injured in the blast although there were several persons in the lobby of the building at 11:25 p.m. when the explosion occurred.

Deputy Fire Chief Arthur Laufer said, "There was a terrific explosion. It devastated the fifth floor and blew out partition." He said the device had been placed in a rest room.

Railroad Blamed

TRENTON, N.J. — (AP) — A state agency says the failure of the Penn Central Railroad to take adequate safety precautions led to the death of two persons while watching Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's funeral train.

The statement was issued by the New Jersey Public Utilities Commission yesterday after an investigation of more than a year into the accident, which occurred on June 8, 1968 at Elizabeth.

The victims, an elderly woman and a man, were killed when they were struck by a second train as they stood on the tracks watching the Kennedy train.

Students Get Role

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Chancellor Ivan Hinderaker promises students at the University of California's Riverside campus that all future faculty promostudent evaluations of performance.

None will be approved without such data, he said in a talk prepared for today.

Hinderaker said teaching at the 20,000-student campus would improve with an increase of student influence in academic decision-making.

He called on all nine University of California campuses to form student committees on undergraduate and graduate education in each academic department.

Profs Back Protest

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Harvard Faculty of Arts and Sciences has voted 391-16 to allow professors to suspend classes Oct. 15, the day of a national protest against the Vietnam war.

The resolution empowering individual faculty members to cancel classes on that day if they so desire was adopted at a faculty meeting yesterday.

Moon Men In Paris

PARIS (AP) — America's Apollo 11 moon men came to Paris today on their tour of 23 nations and were welcomed, in a burst of sunshine as "heroes of the greatest adventure that mankind has ever known."

Jacques Baumel, secretary of state attached to the premier's office, greeted the three astronauts and their wives at Orly Airport on their arrival from Madrid.

About 200 youngsters from the American School gave Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin and Michael Collins a big cheer as they walked up the red carpet.

Collins told Baumel he was particularly happy to return to France "because my wife Patricia and I met and married here."

East Berlin Turmoil

BERLIN (AP) — Police dispersed several hundred east German youths who flocked to the Berlin Wall last night on rumors that a rock concert would be broadcast from the western zone, the West Berlin newspaper BZ reported.

There were unconfirmed reports of 50 arrests in clashes between the youths and police.

The newspaper, which is located near the wall, said the youths refused to leave at first and "only with reinforcements movements did the People's Police succeed in moving the crowd."

Nixon Antipoverty Bill Lacks Support; Demos Plan Rewrite

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is heading for a bruising fight over antipoverty legislation in which the Nixon administration will have the support of only a handful of Republican members.

Faced with the need to line up at least 60 of the 188 House Republicans behind its bill to continue the antipoverty program unchanged for two more years, the administration was able to come with only 18.

As a result, Democrats on the Education and Labor Committee who were prepared to go along with the administration planned to write their own bill. It could add as much as $1 billion to President Richard M. Nixon's request for antipoverty funds.

The shape of the impending battle was outlined yesterday when the Education and Labor Committee took up the administration bill, delayed for months while the White House sought GOP votes.

Although a majority of the Republican members were prepared to vote for the bill in the committee, lack of support among the general GOP membership would doom it on the floor.

Most Republicans—and a large number of conservative Democrats—favor trimming the program and turning much of it over to the states.

Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., has refused to let the administration bill out of the committee. "We don't have the votes," he told the Democrats. "The Republicans will support it in committee and gut it on the floor."

Perkins said he had held up the legislation all summer in hopes of getting the needed Republican votes. "I have been willing to cooperate in every way with the administration," he said.

Since there is no chance to get the administration bill passed, he said, the committee should try to write a bill on which it can agree. But Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., who leads the fight to enlarge state control over the antipoverty program, refused to offer his amendments in committee.

"The fight is going to be on the floor anyway," he said. "Why waste the time here?"

Senate Sets New Curbs On Pesticides

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has reached agreement on a bill requiring states to regulate the accumulation of pesticides in lakes and streams.

The bill, expected to come before the Senate for final action within a few days, calls for pesticide-water quality standards to be set by the Secretary of the Interior.

States then would be expected to set their own standards equal to or higher than the federal standards, or face policing waters within their borders by the federal government.

That provision was written by the Senate yesterday into an omnibus oil and water pollution bill sponsored by Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine.

The Senate bill would for the first time give the President authority to deal with oil spills.

Also included are provisions requiring federal agencies to comply with water quality standards, controlling discharge of wastes from vessels using U.S. ports and harbors and setting standards for discharge of heated water into lakes and streams.

William E. Forest of 19 San Rafael Avenue, Santa Rosa, told police his red 1957 Plymouth Fury, license AFC 173, was stolen between 8:20 and 9:30 p.m. while parked at 539 San Anselmo Avenue. The car contained tools and personal belongings valued at $1,100 Dawson reported.

With the most recent cut, the center's budget has been reduced from $1.5 million a year ago to $600,000. In addition, the center's staff at a high of 78 permanent and 16 temporary employees a year ago, now stands at less than 35 persons.

Of these employees, only seven are research scientists and four others research technicians. The remaining 23 persons are support personnel to keep the center operating.

All staff cuts have been completed, Nelson said, with the dismissal of eight employees Friday. Previously seven others and resigned because they had found other jobs and six more were transferred to other federal jobs, all but one in the Bureau of Mines. Another man was reassigned to Washington, Nelson said.

Because of the limited number of research scientists, three major research projects in geophysical testing have been abandoned, Nelson said.

Others, including some dealing with drilling techniques, Marine mining subsystems research and environmental protection studies, have been curtailed severely in scope.

Major research work by the center previously was carried out on the two research vessels, the 204 foot Virginia City and the smaller Cripple Creek. The Virginia City has been returned to the Navy and the Cripple Creek is under very limited operations, Nelson said.

Nelson said that the fund restoration move is supported by both California senators and Bay Area representatives. Rep. Jeffery Cohelan, D-Alameda, is a member of the full House Appropriations Committee, Nelson said, but there is no one on the conference committee from California.

well, even though she is not, of course, a party to this hearing."

Hurley also said that when Hanify said the inquest at which more than 100 newsmen were accredited would be an invasion of privacy, there was no claim made on any constitutional right.

"If there were a right of privacy, these petitioners have lost it by their own action," he said.

"They attended a social event with Sen. Kennedy, a person of great prominence, as the petitioners say in their brief. The girls were Kennedy campaign workers and Kennedy on T-V. described Gargin as 'my friend'.

"If they were private persons before July 18, they are not private persons now, in view of all the publicity which has been cited here."

Hurley said that the peak of the publicity in the whole event came after Kennedy's television speech July 25.

"Another peak came when the petitioners brought this matter to this court."

Hanify said that the decision of Judge Boyle to admit only newsmen to the inquest would make it into a massive publicity situation in which the future rights of witnesses, or any person there who might be accused would be in peril. He said the clerk of the Edgartown court had posted a list of 100 different news media covering 132 individuals who were to be allowed to cover the inquest.

He said that Sen. Kennedy did not try to block an inquest but instead had filed a motion asking that he be allowed "to participate fully in it."

The motion asked that he and other witnesses be entitled to be represented by lawyers and that they be allowed to cross-examine witnesses.

Grand Theft Suspect Booked

A 29-year-old San Rafael man was booked into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of grand theft. He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

San Rafael police said Carl Joel Teissler, of 11 Charlotte Drive, was arrested after police found him in a truck containing neon light fixtures, apparently taken from the construction site of the new Pacific Telephone Company building on Los Gallinos Avenue.

Mill Valley Board Denies Teacher Hike

An additional 3 per cent salary increase request by the Mill Valley teachers association was rejected last night by the Mill Valley School District board during closed negotiations.

Trustee Joseph E. Bodovitz, board negotiation representative, said the board rejected the request because it believed the 5 per cent hike granted in June was a "fair increase."

Mill Valley Teachers Association President Pat Assimakis said today that the teachers will continue to press for the salary increase. She declined, however, to outline specific actions contemplated by the teachers.

Bodovitz said the board would be willing to meet with the teachers again, especially to discuss next year's salaries, but that it would hold firm on its refusal this year to grant higher wages.

Teachers contend that since the 5 per cent increase was granted in June the district has received an additional $200,000 in state and tax revenues.

lously, "Did you rule on the legality of the flood control district?"

Judge Smith replied that he had taken that into consideration in his decision.

It was agreed by Anthony, and the defense attorneys, Kent, Charles W. Pierce and Spencer Strellis, that the 37 other cases would await the appeal of Judge Smith's decision.

It had been agreed that most of the defendants would enter no-contest pleas if Mrs. Schardt were found guilty.

The 38 conservationists and College of Marin students were arrested when they attempted to halt work on the flood control project near the college.

The leader of the Group, Marty Kent Jones of Kent Woodlands (a cousin of Mrs. Schardt) and Lawrence Halprin, a landscape architect, clung to an excavating machine and had to be pulled off it during the uproarious protest along the tiny creek.

doubt has been raised" about Haynsworth's sensitivity "to the high ethical standards" required of a justice.

"Public confidence in the Supreme Court is the overriding consideration," the Michigan senator said.

Griffin who was a leading Senate critic of Associate Justice Abe Fortas, is known to have urged Nixon to withdraw the nomination.

He had announced earlier he would reluctantly support the Haynsworth nomination.

He indicated that disclosure of Haynsworth's business interests, while serving as a U.S. circuit judge, had led to his reversal.

Name Kept By County Employees

The Marin County Employees Association will retain that name members decided last night by voice vote.

Other names suggested for the organization included the Marin County Public Employees Association and Public Employees Association of Marin.

Secretary Leona Meysembourg said the name of MCEA was retained with no audible opposition.

Eleven employees were nominated last night to run for six posts on the 11-man board of directors.

Named by the nominating committee, headed by Floyd Hovland, were Newl Gene Weaver of the public works department, Doris Richmond of the assessor's office, Mildred Miniken of public social services, Al Brown of the sheriffs office, Robert Testa of the fire department, and Leona Meysembourg of the health department.

Nominated from the floor were Rita Thomas of the district attorney's office, Arthur Madsen of the health department, Wade Powell of the sheriff's office, Frank Martin of public works and Helen Sussman of the auditor-controlier's office.

Mailed balloting will be conducted the last week of the month. A general membership meeting will be held Nov. 20 to elect new officers from among the new directors and five carryovers.

former Army Provost Marshal General Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner lied when he testified before the committee that city authorities knowingly gave him 397 confiscated guns for his personal use.

In his testimony yesterday, Turner was quized only on charges he obtained the confiscated guns under pretense they were for Army use and then sold some of them for his own profit.

He said, however, Conlisk knew he wanted the guns for his own collection, although he signed statements at the time affirming the weapons were for the Army.

Conlisk said in Chicago yesterday Turner's testimony was "untrue." The superintendent also supported the testimony given by police Lt. Paul T. Duellman, who told the subcommittee yesterday he showed Turner the guns, but never heard him say they were for his own use.

Until this week the main thrust of the subcommittee probe had been into allegations Wooldridge and a band of career sergeants had looted Army recreation clubs, manipulated currency, smuggled liquor and bribed officers.

Wooldridge, who is scheduled to testify Friday, told a reporter he will invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to answer questions.

His attorney said he advised Wooldridge to refuse to testify because he did not believe he would be given a fair hearing by senators.

Thieu—or even in the preservation of a non-Communist government.

Introduction of the two resolutions indicate the antiwar forces have no inclination to tone down their criticism as called for by Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott. He urged last week a two-month moratorium on dissent to allow Nixon to test the intentions of the new Hanoi regime.

A third measure, a bill sponsored by Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., imposes a Dec. 1, 1970, deadline on American withdrawal. It would become law if passed by both the Senate and House and signed by Nixon.

Latin Hijackers Seize Two Jets

Two South American jet liners, one Brazilian and the other Argentine, were hijacked to Cuba today. A total of 113 persons were aboard the two craft.

The first hijack was reported from Rio De Janeiro when a Brazilian Caravelle jetliner with 50 persons aboard was seized while flying down the Amazon River Valley from Belem to Manaus.

The second hijack was reported from Santiago, Chile, when an Argentine Airlines Boeing 707 with 63 persons aboard, en route from Buenos Aires to Miami, was seized while landing at Pudahuel Airport.

Dr. Sam's Wife Obtains Divorce

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard's much-publicized second marriage to a German divorcee has ended in divorce.

Sheppard, who spent 10 years in prison for the murder of his first wife but was acquitted at a second trial, married Ariane Tebenjohanns in 1964, just two days after the U.S. Supreme Court granted him the new trial.

Mrs. Sheppard was granted a divorce yesterday on grounds of gross neglect.

Their marriage climaxed a trans-Atlantic letter exchange that grew into romance during Sheppard's years in the Ohio penitentiary. He had been convicted in 1954 of the bludgeon slaying of his pregnant first wife, Marilyn.

Pope Recalls Own Career

Beginning his remarks by pointing out that he had an intimate knowledge of how the Curia works because he was a member for more than 30 years, the Pope said he had called his audience together to show his paternal benevolence.

He wished to express his "veneration, gratitude and encouragement," he said, and he asked Curia members to give him "the comfort of their consciant solidarity, their filial obedience and their valid collaboration."

"The Roman Curia will not be jealous of temporal prerogatives of time long past, nor of interior forms no longer suitable to express and impress true and lofty religious meanings, nor avaricious of its faculties that, without harming the universal ecclesiastical order, the episcopacy can today exercise better locally and by itself," the Pope said.

Referring to the forthcoming inauguration of the Ecumenical Council, Pope Paul said, "The hour is great and sacred." He spoke in terms of the greatest respect and admiration for Pope John.

"This Second Vatican Council," Paul VI said, "was willed by a Pope to whom the spontaneous acclamation of the public voice attributed the evangelic words that were applied to the precursor of Christ: 'There was a man sent by God whose name was John.'

"We believe that history will repeat these words when it recalls the salutary consequences of the sudden and flashing deliberation of him who called the Catholic world to the Council and opened the door and the heart to the seperated brethren for a loyal reconciliation."

Reforms Need Stressed

Rome, Sept. 21 (AP) — Discussing his proposal for reform of the Curia, Pope Paul VI said today.

"Various reforms are needed. They certainly will be extensive. They will have no other aim than to let fall whatever is archaic or superfluous in the forms and norms that regulate the Roman Curia and to put into being whatever is vital and healthy."

Step Implied by Pope John

Pope Paul's desire to reform the Roman Curia was implicit in his predecessor's calling of the Vatican Council.

Throughout the first session it was apparent that Pope John wished to decentralize the governing arm of the church and to delegate more power to the bishops rather than to confine church policy to the conservative, Italian-dominated Curia.

As the first session progressed it became increasingly evident that the church hierarchy was overwhelmingly in favor of decentralization. In effect, this would mean that papal infallibility would no longer be extended to involve the Pope and his bishops acting in concert.

of the perennial reforms of which the church herself, in so far as she is a human institution working on this earth, has perpetual need.

It is from Rome that the vitation goes today to the ringing up to date—using e expression of our venered predecessor—that is, to ffecting all things, internal l external, of the church. d from Rome went the anncement of the reform of code of canon law, of the law that solemnly rules ecclesiastical city and d. The Roman Curia, yet again, will thus feel even more strongly its vocation to give an example to the whole church and to the secular world.

This is the fatherly exhortation we wish to address to you at the conclusion of our simple words, which to us seem to echo the words of the apostle Saint Paul, addressed precisely to the Roman church: "Your faith shows itself in all the world."

Catholic Rome, the Roman Pontificate, the Roman Curia are being looked at from all sides. The duty of being authentic Christians is here highly committing.

We would recall to you this duty if it were not that we ourselves recall it every day.

Everything at Rome is a school: The letter and the spirit. How one thinks, studies, talks, feels, acts, suffers, prays, serves, loves. Every moment, every aspect of our life has a radiation around us, which can be beneficial if faithful to what Christ wants us, of evil effect, if unfaithful.

That is why we wish that, beyond your specific contribution of qualified service, the Roman Curia, all of you, brothers and children, give to us, or better, to the church, to our Lord Christ, that precious offering of your example of strict selflessness and abnegation, of religious and sincere piety, of loving welcome to those who need your attentive service.

The Roman Curia is not an anonymous body, insensible to the great spiritual problems that automatically dictates laws, but a live body faithful and docile to the head of the church, a body made of grave responsibilities and functions, and imbued with reverence and solicitude to those prelates who "spiritus sanctus posuit episcopos regere ecclesiam dei."

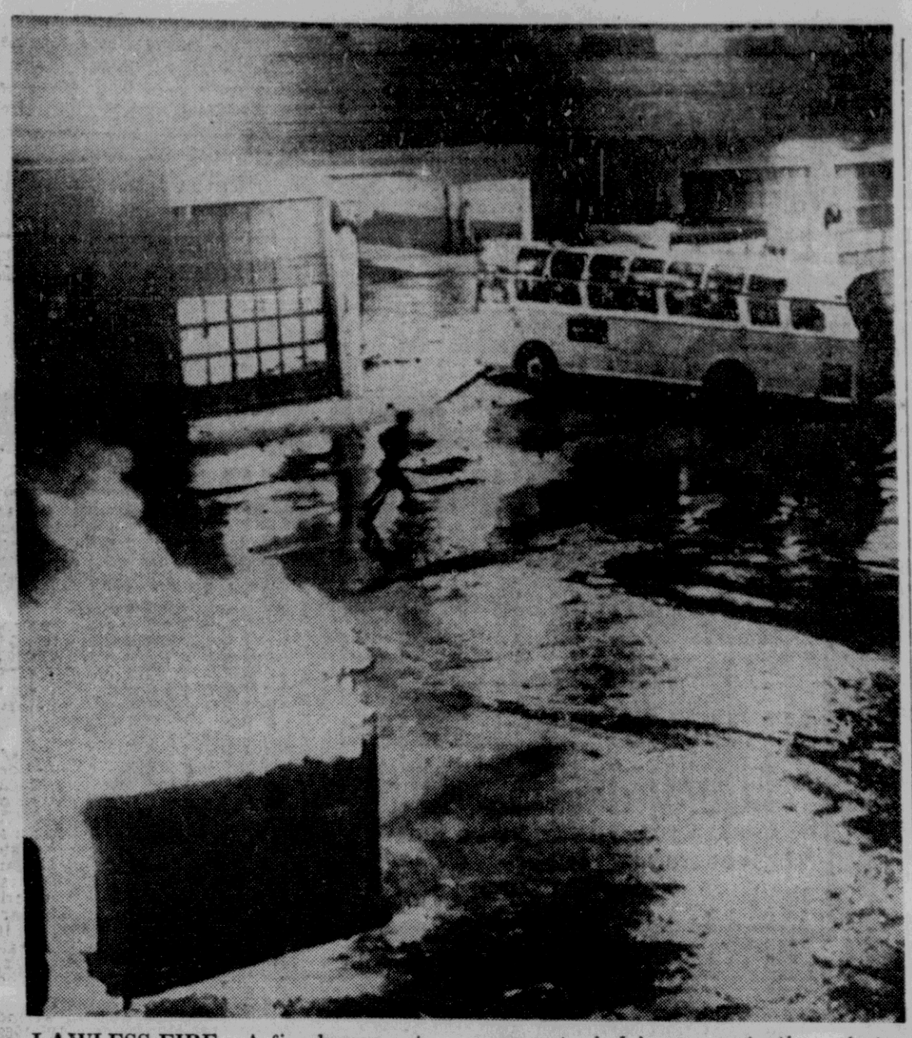
Therefore let the Roman Curia not be a bureaucracy, as some have wrongly judged it, pretentious and apathetic, legalistic and ritualistic, a fighting ground of hidden ambitions and deaf antagonisms, as others accuse it of being.

But let it be a true community of faith and charity, of prayer and action, of brothers and sons of the Pope, who do all to serve him, with a sense of collaboration, in his duty to the brothers and sons of the universal church and all the world.

We know that our wish expresses yours, sincere and good, and that it is this wish that in us and in you makes prayer, so that our Lord Christ, with the intercession of the most Holy Mary and the holy apostles Peter and Paul, will cause this old and ever new Roman Curia to shine like a lantern "ut luceat omnibus qui in domo sunt in domo," that is, in the church of god!

And finally you will not be displeased if we ask you all, ecclesiastics and laity of the Roman Curia, to add to your labors another specific and characteristic task of Ministry and per-sonal apostolate: help the Pope to evangelize not only the world, but also the city, of which you are the first faithful and he is the Bishop!

Trusting in your goodness, and assuring you that you are all present in our prayers,



LAWLESS FIRE—A fire burns outside the Murray Hill Limousine Service garage in Montreal as attempt is made to save a bus. The garage was attacked last night by angry taxi drivers, protesting what they called alleged monopoly on airport service. The incident occurred while the city was without police and fire protection. # One-Day Police Walkout Leaves Montreal In Chaos

MONTREAL (AP) — Police and fire protection returned to normal in Montreal today after a one-day strike by more than 6,000 police and firemen seeking pay raises threatened Canada's largest city with chaos.

A provincial policeman was shot to death during a battle between rival groups of drivers. A mob of youths roamed the streets last night, smashing windows and looting stores.

Ten bank robberies and nearly a score of other thefts were reported.

About 800 provincial police were rushed to the city during the day to aid about 200 senior police officers who stayed at their posts. A skeleton force of firemen also remained on duty.

Several hundred troops were flown into the area. They did not enter the city until early today, after the police began returning to their beats. But in the hours before dawn provincial police cars and vanloads of troops were patrolling downtown streets.

The Quebec provincial legislature met in emergency session late last night and ordered the strikers back to work by 12:01 a.m. today. Union leaders demanded that their men obey the order, and the police and fire departments were reported fully manned and operating normally by 4 a.m.

Members of the 3,700-man police force began quitting their posts at 8 a.m. yesterday. They were joined shortly afterward by most of the city's 2,400 firemen, who are also involved in a wage dispute with the city.

The policemen, who are not permitted by law to strike, seek a $1,900-a-year increase in salaries now averaging $7,300 a year. They rejected an arbitration board's recommendation of a $1,100 hike.

The firemen have rejected an arbitration award of a $1,050 annual raise, which would bring their pay to $8,000. They seek $9,000.

The chief argument of both is that they make less than police and firemen in Toronto, and the police say their job is much riskier in crime-ridden Montreal.

Sympathizers contend that Mayor Jean Drapeau's administration is too involved in glamor enterprises—such as Expo 67 and the city's National League baseball team—and neglecting its employees and poverty-stricken areas.

The slain policeman was identified as Cpl. Robert Dumas. He was shot in the back and killed during a battle between taxi drivers and employees of a limousine service at a West Side garage.

Las Vegas Rioting Area Cooling Down

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Relative calm returned to this desert casino center's dominantly Negro west side early today after three nights of widespread violence.

Police counted one shooting death and said another death may have been related to the unrest. More than 50 injuries and nearly 200 arrests were reported.

"The situation has improved considerably," a spokesman for Police Chief Pete Witcher said.

Nearly 200 officers patrolled the area last night, but as violence tapered off the force was cut to less than 100.

The most serious incident occurred when three Negroes trid to loot a liquor store.

A black security guard stationed inside fired two shots at the intruders with a pistol and one of them fell dead to the sidewalk. The others escaped.

Earlier yesterday, Carl Benson, 71, a door-to-door salesman, was killed by a Negro in a street shooting.

Most of the violence involved rock-throwing and fire-bombings. Several police cars were stoned, and at least two had windshields broken.

The trouble was confined to a Negro area about two miles from the downtown casinos and about three-and-one-half miles frim the famed Las Vegas Strip.

Mayor Oran Gragson maintained a 7 p.m. to 6 a.m., curfew and a state of emergency, saying: "The area is not as quiet as I want to see it."

War's For Birds, Pentagon Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Could crows, ravens, jays, hawks and vultures replace humans in such "dangerous, difficult, expensive or boring" facets of war as aerial photography, gunnery, steering of missiles, detection of mines and search and destroy missions?

The Pentagon has signed a three-year $600,000 contract with the University of Mississippi to find out.

"Much of the research will relate to complex forms of stimulus control," the contract says, "for example," visual search, auditory pattern recognition, pursuit and tracking, controlled locomotion and operation of manipulanda while flying."

The studies will concentrate on the adaptability to war of crows, ravens, jays, hawks, vultures, doves, parrots, mynahs, chickens and pigeons.

The contract was disclosed in a Pentagon circular seeking ornithologists to work on the project. At least one researcher was less than enthusiastic.

"I read it, I re-read it, and I read it again," said one scientist quoted in today's Washington Post, "and I still couldn't believe it. It's insane."

Prior attempts to draft birds and bird-like creatures for war haven't worked out. One, named Project X-Ray, envisioned bats with incendiary devices strapped to their backs flying into Japan during World War II, roosting in eves of wooden buildings and setting off the fire bombs by flipping over to sleep.

"The trouble with that one," a scientist who worked on the project told the newspaper, "was that it almost burned down an Air Force base in New Mexico."

War Policy Sways Vote In Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Philip M. Crane, whose campaign slogan was "the conservative Republican," won the GOP congressional nomination yesterday in the 13th Illinois District, a wealthy suburban area which takes in most of northern Cook County.

Crane, 38, a writer, lecturer and former history professor at Bradley University in Peoria, received 17,805 votes in the primary election to 15,776 for Samuel H. Young, who finished second among eight candidates.

NIXON EFFECT?

The balloting was looked on by some observers as an expression of the district's opinion of President Richard M. Nixon's handling of the war.

Crane, who strongly supported Sen. Barry Goldwater's 1964 presidential campaign, called for withdrawing most U.S. ground forces from Vietnam while U.S. economic sanctions are imposed on all nations trading with North Vietnam.

Young, a former state revenue director, said throughout the campaign he supported President Richard M. Nixon's withdrawal plan.

In the district held by the Republicans for more than 50 years, Crane will face Democratic state Rep. Edward A. Warman in the Nov. 25 general election.

VACANT SEAT

They will contend for the seat vacated by Donald Rumsfeld, who resigned when appointed by Nixon in April to head the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Gerald Marks, an advocate of withdrawing all U.S. troops from Vietnam by December 1970, ran sixth with 6,586 votes. He ran well in the affluent North Shore area but fell in balloting in newer townships to the west.

A former press aide to Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, Joseph D. Mathewson, received 12,800 votes to place third. State Rep. Alan Johnston was fourth with 10,353 votes.

Other candidates and their vote totals were: State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, 9,118; John J. Nimrod, 5,543, and Lar (America First) Daly, a nonresident of the district who racked up his 25th defeat, 68 votes.

Fairfax Hears From 10 Per Cent On How To Shape City's Future

"This town could be a good combination of straight and hip people, each group with its rights proctected."

"The people are changing, but the laws and council aren't changing with them.' '

"Out with the dope peddlers, robbers, dog owners."

Those were some of the comments included in the returned questionnaires for the Fairfax Congress for Community Progress to be held at noon Saturday at Manor School.

Of 2,500 questionnaires distributed, 10 per cent were returned, the congress committee reported. Results were used to formulate topics for panels during the congress.

Residents who returned questionnaires voted 3 to 1 against merging with another city, but opinion was about equally divided on combining certain services such as fire, police and public works.

Respondants indicated they believe they are definitely getting their money's worth in police and fire protection but only 38 per cent thought they were on streets. Twenty-five per cent said they got their money's worth out of council actions and 29 per cent believe they do from the administrator's office.

Only 26 per cent of the persons answering said they believe their point of view is represented in city government; 21 per cent said it is not; 10 per cent said sometimes.

Thirty-four per cent of the respondants said they would be willing to serve on a city committee or commission; 51 per cent favored increased tourism, and most believed ordinances were adequate, except for the dog ordinance which 58 per cent said is too weak.

Residents favored neighborhood parks and playgrounds, suggested using the Fair-Anselm shopping center for recreation and said they live in Fairfax because of the surroundings, its individuality and small town atmosphere.

Forty-one per cent said they don't want another shopping center.

Other comments made included: "Somehow there's a communication problem here — people don't or won't find ways to air their dissatisfactions."

Z'berg Fined $302 On Charge

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Edwin Z'berg, D-Sacramento, was fined $302 in municipal court yesterday after he pleaded no contest to a drunken driving charge.

The plea was entered by Z'berg's attorney, J. Allen Jones. The 43-year-old lawmaker was not in court.

Z'berg was arrested Sept. 21 in his state-leased car after a 60 miles per hour. The court was told a urine test showed a .22 alcohol count.

Conservative, Negro Lose In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A liberal Democrat and a moderate Republican will vie in a runoff election for mayor of Atlanta Oct. 21 as the bid of the first Negro in modern times to seek the office fell short.

Massell, 42, rode a surge of Negro votes to the top of the seven-man ticket ahead of Alderman Rodney Cook, 45, the only Republican in the nonpartisan election.

Massell picked up many Negro votes counted on by Dr. Horace Tate, the lone Negro in the race, who finished third.

Conservative Alderman G. Everett Millican, 72, who ran second before the dominantly Negro precincts began to come in, finished fourth. Millican had run on a law-and-order platform.

Jackson, who ran against U.S. Sen. Herman Talmadge last year, was the first Negro to seek the vice mayor's post. He defeated alderman Milton Farris.

Final returns showed 54,455 votes for Jackson to 36,299 for Farris.

Will Study Sign

Forest Insects Damage Is High

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— The annual forest insect aerial survey of Oregon and Washington timber lands shows that bark beetles have destroyed an estimated one-half billion board feet of timber on about one-million acres, according to a forest service announcement today.

In addition, various defoliating and sap-sucking insects caused decreased growth on a quarter-million acres.

Most of the bark beetle losses occurred east of the Cascade mountains. They included the Fir Engraver in true fir stands and the Mountain Pine beetle in Lodgepole Pine, Western White Pine, and young Ponderosa Pine stands.

Viet Reds 'Just Look' At Wife's POW Plea

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Can I go home and tell my children your daddy is still alive?"

Mrs. Patricia Mearns of Los Angeles, whose husband has been missing in action in the Vietnam war four years, asked that of North Vietnamese delegates to the Paris peace talks last week.

"They said nothing. They just looked," she told newsmen on her return here yesterday.

Mrs. Mearns, two other wives and the father-in-law of a prisoner did return with North Vietnamese assurances they would respond to letters from American wives without requiring another trip to Paris. The group left nearly 1,000 letters from American wives.

Mrs. Mearns is wife of Air Force Maj. S. Mearns of Great Neck, N. Y., missing in action since Nov. 11, 1966. She was accompanied By Mrs. Sybil Stockdale of East Haven, Conn., wife of Navy Capt. James Bond Stockdale who was captured in North Vietnam of Sept. 9, 1965; Mrs. Donald J. Rander of Baltimore, wife of Army S-Sgt. Donald J. Rander, captured by the Viet Cong in February 1968; and Thomas Swain of St. Paul, Minn., father-in-law of Marine Corps Capt. Patrick Murray, missing in action since January of 1968.

Mrs. Stockdale revealed the North Vietnamese suggested they join peace groups in an effort to end the war, something she rejected.

"My feeling is that the prisoner of war problem is humanitarian and must be kept separate from any political consideration. Besides," she said, "we have our hands quite full managing our families."

Nixon's Corporate Plan For Post Office Rebuffed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon's postal corporation plan was rejected by the House Post Office Committee on a tie 13-13 vote today in favor of reforming the Post Office Department within its present framework.

The vote was taken with the understanding that it would decide whether the committee would work on a corporation bill or the alternate reform bill.

Chairman Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y., was asked i the vote kills Nixon's plan as far as he is concerned.

"Yes, it does," he replied.

However, no decision will be final until the committee actually reports out a bill. Advocates of the postal corporation could still reverse today's decision if they can get 14 members of the 26-member committee on their side.

The alternate reform plan by Dulski accepted today would keep the Post Office Department intact under a postmaster general but would give it more businesslike control over its operations.

Dulski's plan was backed by postal unions which contended the independent postal corporation would have given them no protection against management efforts to keep costs down, including wages.

Nixon and Postmaster General Winton M. Blount contend the independent, government-owned corporation is needed to put the mails on a businesslike footing and includes labor management provisions that would give the postal unions effective bargaining power for the first time.

Will Smog Bring Back An Ice Age?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Air pollution is turning the climate cooler, a University of California scientist says.

Smog is making the atmosphere murky and it then reflects more of the sun's heat rays, said Dr. Theodore C. Foin Jr., an ecologist from the U.C. Davis campus who addressed a symposium at American River College Monday.

Average temperatures throughout the world rose from 1880 through 1940, Foin said.

"But from 1958 through the 1960s, temperatures have been falling dramatically," he said.

The cooling could cause formation of new glaciers and icebergs, he said. "It does not take a large scale temperature change ... A drop of five degrees is all that is needed."

Foin also said jet airplane contrails have formed a "storm trail" between Chicago and Detroit, along a path of heavy passenger jet traffic. Precipitation has increased along this route, he said.

Cities with heavy air pollution can expect increased fog in winter, more cloudiness and more rain, he said.

Foin said smog can be so toxic it will corrode metals. He said smog has ruined the spinich growing industry in the Los Angeles area and has citrus growers concerned.

And he added that "we can't sneer at Los Angeles." Even the less populated Sacramento Valley, a rich farming area, is subject to smog because of atmospheric conditions and the physical shape of the valley.

Although scientists haven't studied air pollution in depth for long yet, they already know that certain conditions can create lethal conditions, Foin said.

Boutique Looted

A burglar, who pried open the front door between 5:30 p.m. Monday and 9:30 a.m. yesterday, stole an undetermined number of dresses, swim suits and sweaters from the Paris Boutique, 412 Red Hill Avenue, San Anselmo police reported today.

Trial Told Of Yippie Plans

CHICAGO (AP) — A policeman who posed as a protestor during the Democratic National Convention testified yesterday that he heard one of eight men charged with conspiring to promote violence say: "We'll do anything to disrupt the convention."

Richard L. Thompson, a three-year veteran of the force, was the government's seventh witness in the trial before Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court.

Thompson said he attended a meeting Nov. 20, 1967, at which he heard Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis, a defendant, tell about 50 persons that there would be "demonstrations and civil disobedience" during the convention and that demonstrators "would do anything to disrupt the conention.v"

Thompson also testified that another defendant, Abbie Hoffman, tapped him on the shoulder during a peace march Aug. 29, 1968, and asked: "Are you with me?"

Then, Thompson said, Hoffman pointed to Deputy Police Supt. James Rochford and remarked: "If that cat doesn't talk right when we get to the top of the hill we'll hold him there and then we can do what we want."

But Thompson said under cross-examination that no attempt was made to seize Rochford or to hold him in the park.

Hoffman, Davis, and six other men are charged with conspiring to provoke violence during the convention. The trial is the first court test of an antiriot provision of the 1968 Civil Rights Act.

Party Calls For Sea Power Again

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — Britain's Conservative party today affirmed its determination to restore Britain's military and naval presence in the South Atlantic and East of Suez if it wins the next general election.

Delegates to the annual party convention also voted overwhelmingly to rebuild the home army and civil defense forces, both sharply curtailed by the Labor government for economy reasons.

The party rank-and-file enthusiastically cheered Geoffrey Rippon, Conservative spokesman on defense matters, when he said a Tory government would reverse the Labor government's policy of withdrawal from the Far East, the Indian Ocean and the Persian Gulf.

West Germany To Ax Tax Wall

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany decided today to suspend its 4 per cent exports surtax and imports tax relief to help balance the effects of a freely floating German mark exchange rate.

A government announcement said the move would not take effect until approved by the European Common Market Commission.

Guenter Diehl, chief government spokesman, said the cabinet had agreed the suspension should last until Dec. 1, when the next German government would decide on further action.

Fairfax Teachers Due Extra Raise

Fairfax teachers will get an extra raise this year as a result of a $16,000 windfall from the state, district trustees agreed last night.

The board had granted 4.5 per cent raises and promised more if the state provided more money. The teachers had requested 7 per cent.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said he would prepare a proposal for distribution of $12,000, the amount committed for salaries, for the next meeting.

The rest of the money plus some from the undistributed reserve will go to replace the heating system at Central School, Hammond reported.

The project is expected to cost $7,900, he said.

The board also agreed to discuss with the city plans to provide crossing guards at all dangerous intersections on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Hammond said.

The district eliminated transportation this year and the board is concerned about the younger children crossing Drake, Hammond said. He indicated the board would be willing to help pay for crossing protection.

The Fairfax School District Board Also:

REPORT CARDS — Authorized a change in report cards in two classrooms in each of the elementary school as a pilot program this year. Parents of kindergarten through third graders involved will have conferences and the reports for fourth through sixth graders in the program will include a breakdown of specific skills in each subject.

ENROLLMENT — Learned enrollment stands at 1,111 up from 1,090 on opening day, reversing last year's trend of decreasing enrollment.

OBJECTIVES — Approved spending $1,600 for individual classroom objectives developed at the University of California at Los Angeles if the staff approves the plan. Otherwise, Hammond explained, each teacher would have to spend considerable time developing his own objectives.

MEETING — Heard a report from member Jane S. Durr on a meeting of unemployed women trustees in the Tamalpais High School District attendance area held to discuss cooperation among the districts.

DRAKE — Set a meeting for 8 p.m. Oct. 16 at White Hill School, for trustees of Fairfax, Lagunitas, San Anselmo and Nicasio school boards, all in the Sir Francis Drake High School attendance area, to discuss cooperation and unification plans.

ATTENDANCE — Approved inter-district attendance agreements for Ted Robbins to attend school in San Anselmo and Anne Marie Hansen to attend in Novato.

Agnew Pledges Indian Tribes Continued Aid

Agnew, in a speech prepared for the convention here of the National Congress of American Indians, said the administration proposes a flexible set of programs tailored to fit Indian requirements instead of reviving the much-feared "termination" policy of the 1950s.

That is the policy of phasing out direct government control over Indian affairs and increasing their own responsibility. Most Indians want continued government aid.

"This administration opposes termination," Agnew said. "This administration favors the continuation of the trust relationship and the protection of Indian lands and Indian resources."

He proposed, however, that the services owed by the federal government to Indians might be "funded federally but run locally."

Agnew recognized as an obstacle to such efforts "the fear that proposals for local initiative may become the first step in a federal pullout of funds and responsibilities. Study of Indian history certainly would cause a person to be suspicious.

"However," he continued, "I want to reassure you that this administration recognizes the legal right of the Indian community to be provided basic services and the legal responsibility of the federal government to finance that."

State Weighs Antismog Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The state of California may seek damages from the automobile industry because of smog, according to the attorney general.

Thomas Lynch also said yesterday that the state might have a justifiable criminal action against all automobile manufacturers and the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

He said the civil suit would charge auto makers with "conspiring to retard the introduction of smog control devices in the state of California."

The allegation is similar to one contained in a federal suit against auto makers. But the Justice Department and the auto companies have proposed to settle that suit by consent decree.

Lynch sent letters to county legal authorities asking for authorization to proceed.

PIG Outlawed On License Tags

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—PIG has joined SEX, FAT, BAD, GOD and other three-letter words stricken from California license plates.

The Department of Motor Vehicles announced a new list of forbidden words, including some in seven languages chosen with the help of linguists from the University of California.

"We found something that was real bad in French still in use," said registration chief John L. McLaughlin.

It was the first such list issued since 1963. The new list was issued with the state's new gold-on-blue license plates.

But while PIG has been banned, HOG is still permissible, McLaughlin said.

Housewife Gets Gavel In Santa Venetia Vote

Santa Venetia housewife Mary Evans was elected chairman of the Santa Venetia Flood Control Zone Advisory Board last night at a meeting at MacPhail School.

Mrs. Evans, who lives at 100 Ash Way, will succeed Ronald W. Shafer, who has been chairman for five years. The term of chairman is indefinite.

Mrs. Evans, a board member for three years, will take over the gavel at the next meeting, still to be scheduled.

Board member Ray Kresbach of 113 Ash Way resigned last night because of pressure of his work. Board members voted to ask the Marin County Board of Supervisors to appoint Roy H. Jervis of 103 Vendola Drive to succeed Kresbach.

William L. Hess, assistant director of public works, reported that the $270,000 storm drain installation along Meadow Way is one-third complete and on schedule. The project is scheduled in December to finish.

Hess said that 2,600 feet of levee construction has been completed along Gallinas creek. Board members asked him to investigate whether a stopgap dikes can be built on other portions of the creek this year.

Woman To See Doctor In Car-Truck Crash

Ilene L. Feinberg, 23, of San Francisco, was to see her own doctor yesterday for treatment of minor injuries suffered when her car struck the rear of a truck on the Belle Avenue ramp in San Rafael, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

The patrol said her car hit the rear side of a truck driven by Ralph Albert Silveria, 34, of Sonoma, at 1:35 p.m.

CANVAS WALLS A PRISON MAKE— Prisoners' quarters at the Camp Pendleton brig include this A-frame tin and canvas structure. Newsmen yesterday were allowed to visit the brig as the Marine Corps sought to refute recent magazine articles alleging brutality. (AP Wirephoto)

Leathernecks Show Brig To Press

CAMP PENDLETON (AP) — Newsmen touring the Marine base brig here have been told that reports of widespread brutality are false.

Prisoners and guards could not be interviewed or photographed yesterday when most of the 52-acre compound in San Diego County was opened for about 25 newsmen.

Lt. Col. Ed Schultze, base information officer, said an article in Life Magazine was a "rehash" of an earlier article in Nation magazine which alleged base officials sanctioned brig brutality.

The articles are "fabrications," Schultze said.

Lt. Col. N. G. Rodes, commander of the base's headquarters regiment and responsible for brig management, also denied reports of wholesale mistreatment although he said there have been isolated incidents.

"If true, why weren't they brought to our attention before this?" Rodes asked. "I'd also like to point out that if it did happen, there were a lot of people who closed their eyes to it."

Rodes confirmed that some practices had been stopped and two primitive brig facilities had been eliminated.

He said covering an unruly prisoner's mouth with adhesive tape — to prevent the prisoner from biting guards—is forbidden.

Also gone is the practice of having prisoners wait for hours in a cage called the "bullpen." It has been removed. A structure with 5-by-7-foot cells, once known as the "ice box," is being turned into a recreation hall for inmates, Rodes said.

Newsmen were not allowed to inspect the maximum security area but Rodes said 43 of the concrete block building's 48 solitary confinement cells were occupied.

The brig, built in World War II and designed for 350 prisoners, has an average of 740 inmates, about 80 per cent of them serving less than 60-day sentences for unauthorized absence offenses.

Rodes said some overcrowding has been alleviated recently by classifying about 140 prisoners as "base parollees." They are allowed to move out of the brig and into a barracks formerly occupied by nonprisoners.

He said the 450-man guard force undergoes a 10-day training course which includes basic psychology, studies in human nature and Marine brig regulations.

Many officers and senior noncommissioned officers have had formal college-level training in penology and sociology, Rodes said.

Newsmen also visited the brig last month after the first magazine article was published.

A congressional investigating team examined the facilities but the team's report has not been made public.

Span To Embarcadero Freeway Tube Proposed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — An underwater freeway link between the Golden Gate Bridge and the Embarcadero Freeway was proposed yesterday to the Assembly Transportation Committee.

The proposal, designed to avoid San Francisco's blockade against new freeways through the city, was made by Irvin H. Baltzer of Mill Valley, a freelance architectural designer and former president of a San Francisco advertising agency.

Baltzer envisioned a two-mile underwater tube arcing 1,200 feet offshore around the Marina to Pier 41, just east of Fisherman's Wharf. There, the tube would tie into a one-mile depressed freeway to the Embarcadero Freeway, which now ends at Broadway.

He also called for a huge "commuter terminal" south of Market Street so that tens of thousands of motorists from Marin could park directly off the existing freeway system, without adding traffic to city streets. He noted it would be about a 2,000 foot walk from the nine-block-long terminal to major business and shopping areas, and that stand-up elephant trains could ferry people from the terminal to downtown points.

His proposed terminal, however, lies in the area already earmarked by San Francisco for its Yerba Buena redevelopment project. His terminal would be between Mission and Howard streets, and run from Steuart to Fourth Street.

Noting that such a freeway link would be almost invisible, Baltzer said, "The fewer people in San Francisco we disturb with a freeway, the more likely we are to have it built."

The chairman of the committee, Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, terming the idea "at least a concrete proposal," said he would ask the Division of Highways to test its practicality and financial feasibility.

Baltzer estimated its cost in 1969 dollars, at $181.2 million. If the federal government paid its usual 90 per cent share of a new freeway, he said, then San Francisco's share would be only $18 million.

The long-range cost of a freeway through the city would be more than $18 million, he said, explaining that a land freeway would deprive the city of up to $3 million a year in property tax revenue from land that would be taken by such a freeway.

Baltzer said he has been working on his proposal for five years, but that yesterday was the first time it was presented to a public body.

He noted that a reserved lane for commuter buses "could be provided easily" in the underwater freeway, which would have three lanes and one emergency lane in each direction.

An esplanade would cover most of the tube, except for an opening into the lagoon for shallow-draft vessels, possibly including ferryboats, Blatzer said. The lagoon also would allow expansion of boating and waterfront parks in the Marina district into "one of the finest city parks in the work world," he said.

Burton Against Alcatraz Change

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Don't develop Alcatraz leave it to the birds, says a California legislator.

Assemblyman John Burton, D-San Francisco, said yesterday, "I'd like to see it remain as open space . . . . and birds have just as much right to sanctuary out there as anybody."

City fathers are looking favorably on a proposal of Texas oil heir Lamar Hunt to develop the former federal prison island in San Francisco Bay.

Burton said he thought they were "ill-advised" in the speedy tentative approval of Hunt's plan for a space museum and oldtime ships.

Burton blames it on Mayor Joseph Alioto and the "mad, helter-skelter rush at city hall to make a dollar."

Judge's Action May Mean Groppi Release

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A federal judge ordered the Dane County sheriff today to show cause by 11 a.m. Friday why he should not release Rev. James E. Groppi from jail.

Judge James E. Doyle directed Sheriff Vernon Leslie to show cause why he should not release the militant Roman Catholic priest pending disposition of a habeus corpus petitition Groppi has filed in Doyle's court.

The Milwaukee civil rights leader was jailed last week under an 1848 law that permits the Wisconsin Assembly to hold anyone in contempt without a trial.

The law makes no provision for bail.

Groppi is challenging the law's constitutionality.

Doyle has ordered the sheriff to show cause why he should not release Groppi on his own recognizance or on bail pending action on the petition.

Groppi was arrested after leading welfare protesters and student sympathizers in a march on the Capitol where they staged an 11-hour sit-in in the Assembly chambers.

The Assembly had been called into special session by Gov. Warren P. Knowles to consider legislation to restore welfare funds cut from the state budget.

Integration Ruling Delay Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, opposing an appeal filed by private civil rights lawyers, has asked the Supreme Court to hold up judgment "until the situation clarifies" in 33 Mississippi school districts given extra time to integrate.

Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold said in a memorandum to the court yesterday the U.S. Office of Education is proceeding "with dispatch" to formulate plans to desegregate the districts by Dec. 1.

The districts, originally scheduled to abolish separate classrooms for blacks and whites this fall, were granted a reprieve by the Justice Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Approval by a lower federal court of the delay is being appealed by the Legal Defense Fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Cotton Crop Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today estimated the 1969 cotton crop at 10,528,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight each, compared with 11,088,000 forecast in September and 10,948,000 produced last year.

Lease For Shipyard Parking Area Rejected

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday voted unanimously against leasing Humboldt Street for a parking area for the proposed Arques Shipyard dock at Waldo Point but to back "in principle" a plan to fill a section at the base of the dock for parking.

The planning commission had approved two plans for the proposed dock parking, one leasing the street for six months, after which other Arques property would be used for parking, and the other involving filling.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar called the lease plan "a trap, with the county coming out on the wrong end," because there was no specific site mentioned to replace the Humboldt Street parking after six months.

Supervisor Michael Wornum said continual parking for the houseboats that will be docked at the pier should not be done on a public street. "A little clean fill would improve the area and BCDC (Bay Area Conservation and Development Commission) probably would push for it after one visit," because of the unsightlyness of the waterfront, he said.

Arques attorney Hugh Lawrence said if approved by BCDC they would fill along the shoreline adjacent to the dock about 90 feet on one side and 30 feet on the other.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

FLOOD CONTROL — Voted an outlay of $2,000 to hire a consulting civil engineer to make studies of alternate plans on phase three of the Corte Madera Flood Control Project, from College Avenue through the town of Ross. Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said he would request $500 each from Ross, San Anselmo and Ross Valley Flood Control Zone to bring the total to $3,500, the fee to be paid the consultant.

MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM — Authorized an extra $9,313 to install better seats in the new auditorium, install casters under movable partitions, and make other miscellaneous improvements including revisions in the electrical system on the stage. This added cost will be reduced by $2,300 by another change order, which lets Pacific Gas and Electric Co. install the parking lot lights for $13,790 instead of having the county do it for $16,113.

JAIL TRAY CART — By 4-to-1 vote, with Baar dissenting, authorized the purchase of two hot-unit food tray carts at $718 each and one combination hot and cold unit at $1,100 each for use in the new County Jail. Baar said he sees no need for the cold unit to serve such items as ice cream.

GNOSS FIELD — On a motion by William A. Gnoss, asked the public works director to urge the state to install a freeway interchange at the entrance to Gnoss Field.

SEWER SEEPAGE — Authorized legal action to abate sewer seepage from a home on Pacific Way at Muir Beach, occupied by Harvey Pearlman.

MOUNTAIN CONCERT — On a motion by Peter Arrigoni Jr., asked the state to reimburse any costs the county may incur in handling the huge crowd expected for the Oct. 19 folk music concert at the Mountain Theater on Mount Tamalpais. Supervisors also asked the County Administrator to draw up a policy statement on how major events such as the concert and the Elizabethan Pleasure Faire on San Pedro Road should be handled in the future.

TRANSPORTATION NEEDS — Received with thanks a survey of intra-county transportation needs by health and welfare agencies. The survey, made by the League of Women Voters of Central Marin and the Volunteer Bureau of Marin, will be turned over to the Marin Transit District for study.

Voter Leagues Join Save The Seashore Drive

The Leagues of Women Voters of Central and Southern Marin have joined the "Save Our Seashore" campaign.

Entrance of the leagues into the campaign was announced by Mrs. James Good, president of the Central Marin league, and Mrs. Keith Kaulum, president of the Southern Marin league. They said a study conducted by both groups several years ago "concluded that parks and open space close to the greater metropolitan area are a vital necessity." Further, they declared, "the Point Reyes Peninsula is unique in its variety and beauty and in its accessibility to residents of the Bay Area."

Object of the campaign is to persuade Congress to appropriate $38 million to complete seashore land purchases.

Unruh Asks Tax Break Postwar

WASHINGTON (AP) — California Assembly Minority Leader Jesse M. Unruh urged Congress yesterday to give Californians an income tax break effective only when the Vietnam war ends.

In remarks prepared for the Senate Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations, Unruh said California taxpayers should be allowed to deduct their state tax from the tax owed the federal government.

Thus, a taxpayer who paid $300 in state income taxes and owed $1,500 in federal taxes would pay only $1,200 in federal taxes.

Unruh said the special credit should take effect only when the war ends, to ease the impact on federal revenues.

San Anselman Denies Marijuana Charge

William H. Switzer, 26, of San Anselmo, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing marijuana when arrested at his home Friday for a parole violation.

A preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 16.

Doctor Still Working For His Paycheck

It's now official: Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of mental health services, is suspended as director for 30 days but he is still working for the county on nonpolicy matters.

Marin County Board of Supervisors last night met in a brief closed session to "clarify" the minutes of the Sept. 30 closed session held on Miller.

The supervisors announced that during the 30-day suspension, Miller will not exercise his duties as director and will not deal in any policy matters but will engage in "nonpolicy administrative work including the preparation of the budget and related matters."

The rest of the minutes, including the suggestion that the Marin General Hospital Board of Directors suspend Dr. Donald P. Wilson, director of the Community Mental Health Center for 30 days, still stands.

Chairman John F. McInnis explained that the supervisors' intent a week before was to retain Miller on nonpolicy administrative work, and the change in minutes is merely to record more accurately the decision reached by the supervisors.

When the supervisors announced on Sept. 30 that Miller had been suspended from his $2,110-a-month job for 30 days with pay, they were criticizing for suspending Miller and then rewarding him with 30 days paid vacation.

Mental Health Chief Loses Vacation Cash

Dr. Clyde G. Miller, suspended director of Marin community mental health services, was denied a claim for $803 in allegedly unpaid vacation time yesterday by a 3-2 vote of the board of supervisors. (Another mental health controversy, page 1.)

The board, overruling County Administrator Alan Bruce and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, said Miller overstayed a vacation in England without proper authorization and should not be paid for it.

Voting to deny the payment were Supervisors Louis H. Baar, William A. Gnoss and Peter R. Arrigoni. Chairman John F. McInnis and Michael Wornum supported the payment.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, whom the majority supported, had deducted the $803 from Miller's paycheck after discovering that Miller over-stayed a 30-day vacation by nine days. Miller countered that Bruce had authorized him to attend mental health conferences in England during his stay and should not be docked.

Bruce who at first supported Mitchell but then switched his position — told the board yesterday that since his office had approved Miller's attendance at the conferences, the board should honor it. Present policy, he said, is to leave travel decisions up to him.

Gnoss said he had been turned down by the administrator for claims he submitted for trips to Washington, D.C. Although saying he was not bitter about the money, Gnoss asked, "Why should others get it?"

Baar said he felt the county's policy did not include foreign travel decisions by Bruce and that the matter should have been brought before the board before Dr. Miller left. "I wouldn't have approved a conference in Europe," he stated.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney reminded Baar that the $803 payment would be legal since attendance at the conferences had been authorized by the administrator.

"Then we should change the policy to have the board approve any trips out of the state," Baar said, and moved to deny the payment.

McInnis said board denial would be improper because at the time of Bruce's action it was board policy to allow the administrator to make travel decisions. "It disturbs me if you want to make this retroactive to August," he said.

Wornum agreed, saying the county would have to make retroactive decisions on every employee who had traveled with Bruce's approval since August.

Dr. Miller is under board suspension for 30 days with pay in connection with disputes over his handling of mental health programs in Marin.

The average South Carolinan has a checking account balance of $1,135, a survey showed.

University of Kansas is at Lawrence.

Board Votes For Mental Health Cash

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a $3,223,849 Community Mental Health Services budget, of which the county will pay about $310,000. Included in this were $1,005,892 in new programs recommended by the Marin County Mental Health advisory board and detailed last Thursday in the Independent-Journal.

In approving the budget for submission to the state the supervisors said they wanted the state to allow later adjustment of the $12,000 marked for drug education and the $263,300 marked for the alcoholism program.

The board felt some of the alchohol money, an "old problem" should be spent on drug education, a "new problem."

Youths Arrested, Then Released

No charge was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against three San Francisco youths arrested earlier in the day by Belvedere police on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

They had been stopped by police who said their car had an out-of-state license plate without a 1969 registration sticker.

Southern School Strikes Halted

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Teachers in two Southern California school districts, involving some 28,400 students, ended their walkouts over salary disputes yesterday, and agreed to return to work today.

In the Los Angeles suburb of Lawndale, the teachers agreed to end their three-day walkout late yesterday following a meeting of the school district's board of trustees, at which a list of seven demands by the instructors wau agreed to.

And, in the Simi Valley Unified School District in Ventura County north of here, instructors was agreed to.

Board Relents; TV Crews Welcome

Filming of television commercials along county roads, banned by the Marin County Board of Supervisors two weeks ago, will be allowed again, but with strict controls to prevent traffic stoppage.

On Sept. 23, angry supervisors voted unanimously to ban such commercial filming because of complaints from motorists who were halted for 30 minutes at a time along Lucas Valley Road.

J. Kenneth Lynch and Ernest E. Snazelle, representing the SPI Television Center in San Francisco, appealed the ban yesterday, pointing out that the offending company was from outside the Bay Area, and an outright ban would force legitimate film companies of long standing to leave the Bay Area.

The Screen Actors Guild and the International Photographers of the Motion Picture Industries also sent letters appealing the ban. They said hundreds of cameramen and technicians should not be forced out of work because of the action of the one outside firm that came in for a few shots and held up traffic unnecessarily.

"We might have been a little hasty," admitted Supervisor Louis H. Baar. He said filming brings many people into the county, where they buy goods and stay in motels and patronize local restaurants. Since the county is trying to promote tourism, such enterprises should be encouraged, said Baar.

Lynch suggested that with adequate police control and perhaps a raising of the permit fee from the present $5 to about $100 per day, commercial filming could continue with no unreasonable inconvenience of the public.

"It wasn't the lack of police control," fumed Supervisor Michael Wornum. He said the incident on Lucas Valley road involved highway patrolmen, who held up cars for 30 minutes. "If I were stopped and told to wait 30 minutes for a TV commercial, I'd blow my stack too!"

Lynch and Snazelle assured supervisors that the 30-minute delay resulted from a lack of radio communication between the highway patrol and the film director, and long-established firms would never allow such delays.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said he has issued about 22 permits in the last two or three years, and this was the first time that such a long delay occurred.

On a motion by Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., the supervisors voted to rescind the ban and instructed the public works director to bring in a new fee schedule plus a set of restrictions that will prohibit holding traffic for more than 180 seconds.

Confidence Vote Is Given To Youth Oriented Panels

pervisors asked for the report. If there's any heat to be taken, the supervisors should take it; not Mr. Bruce."

Most of the outburst against the Bruce report came in the form of letters from various commissions, opposed to mergers or cutbacks.

The strongest personal protest yesterday came from Gary Giacomini, member of the juvenile delinquency prevention commission, and from Emelio Augusthe, supervising probation officer representing Probation Officer John W. Brewer. Both men stressed the importance of the youth commission and the juvenile delinquency prevention group and urged that they be kept independent and apart.

Giacomini charged that the Bruce Report came just at a time when the juvenile delinquency prevention commission is looking for a top flight coordinator. "Top line people are not going to apply for a job with a commission whose very existence is threatened," said Giacomini.

McInnis apologized for the "unfortunate timing" and suggested that a vote of confidence for both the commissions. Baar so moved, and the vote of confidence was unanimous.

Wornum said he wants to see the staff explore the possible merger of the two.

The supervosors breezed through most of the Bruce report, taking note of the protests raised both orally and by letter. They announced that before any action is taken to cut or merge, the matter will be placed on a future agenda for public discussion.

Among the other commissions discussed yesterday were these:

AVIATION COMMISSION — William A. Gnoss, who strongly defends the commission, said he would have plenty to say if and when discussion develops on Bruce's suggestion that the commission be phased out.

Benjamin R. Ostlind, former member, defended the commission as serving the best interests of the county.

PERSONNEL COMMISSION — (Bruce said the commission is not well balanced between labor and management.)

"We deny the diplomat's (Bruce's) charge of bias," declared Commissioner Robert B. McCreadie. He said a letter submitted to the supervisors speaks for the commission.

Randall M. Prevo, manager of the Marin County Employees Association, warned that loss of the advisory commission would be detrimental to the county. Since the personnel director is appointed by the administrator, only one point of view would be given to the supervisors if the commission's powers were reduced, said Prevo.

PLANNING COMMISSION — (Bruce suggested the commission be changed with each new board of supervisors to reflect the opinion of the supervisors.)

Commissioner Hugh Dougherty said he disagrees with some professional planners who think planning commissions should be abolished.

Wornum supported the idea of having a change in the planning commission each time a new board of supervisors is elected.

McInnis suggested that the terms of the planning commissioners could coincide with those of the supervisors so that a review of the commission would follow the election of new supervisors.

Other supervisors agreed that the suggestion has merit .

MARIN COUNTY RETIREMENT BOARD — Prevo, manager of the employees association, said a retired county employee should be added to the board to give retirees some voice.

COMPREHENSIVE HEALTH PLANNING COUNCIL — Trudy Baum, a member of the council, declared that the council's job does not duplicate or infringe on the work of other health agencies.

PARKS AND RECREATION — No one appeared in its defense. "You mean no one cares?" joked Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. The Parks and Recreation Commissioners filed a letter, emphasizing its importance and urging its retention.

PLANE LEAVES TRAIL OF WRECKAGE

Large chunks of an F100 Kansas Air National Guard jet lay scattered amid debris from homes struck by the plane in the Oklahoma City suburb of Midwest City. The crash occurred during an attempted emergency landing yesterday at Tinker Air Force Base. The pilot parachuted to safety, but the co-pilot was killed in the crash. The houses which the plane hit were empty at the time. A similar accident occurred in the same area in 1961, killing two children and destroying seven homes. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. Will Turn Over 80 Boats To Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Navy will transfer 80 river patrol boats to the Vietnamese Navy Friday in the largest single turnover of naval materiel in the war, South Vietnamese military headquarters announced today.

A U.S. Navy spokesman said the turnover is part of the U.S. program to "Vietnamize" the war so that more American forces can be withdrawn.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the 80 boats would be divided equally among four river patrol groups which will form a task force to be commissioned at ceremonies Friday.

The turnover will bring to 229 the total number of U.S. Navy craft transferred to the Vietnamese since June 1968, or about 40 per cent of the 550 American boats patrolling South Vietnam's inland waterways. The other 321 are to be turned over during the next nine months.

The U.S. Command says 33,800 American Navy men now are in Vietnam. President Richard M. Nixon has announced a 5,000-man cut for the Navy as part of the 35,000-man withdrawal scheduled to be completed by Dec. 15.

Meanwhile, Premier Tran Thien Kiem predicted today that there will be no "breakthrough" in the war until a new supreme leader emerges in Hanoi.

Asked about Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott's statement Monday that there might be a breakthrough in the war in the next 60 to 90 days, Khiem replied:

"Now there is a collective leadership in North Vietnam, and there must be some time before anyone can make a decision. it depends on who will be emerging as the leader of North Vietnam."

Western observers do not expect the power struggle anticipated in the wake of President Ho Chi Minh's death to crystallize for some months. They believe the contest will be between Le Duan, the pro-Moscow first secretary of the North Vietnamese Communist party, and Truong Chinh, another politburo member who is pro-Peking.

Khiem, speaking to newsmen during a hospital dedication in Saigon, said the government is expecting another sharp increase in enemy attacks.

"We are waiting for another highpoint," he said. "The enemy is weak, but despite this he has the capability to create disturbances, so everyone must be on the defense."

The national police in a weekly summary reported 140 confirmed acts of Viet Cong terrorism during the week ending Oct. 1. The report said 98 civilians were killed, 138 were wounded and 36 kidnaped. The week before, 203 incidents were reported, with 163 civilians killed, 328 wounded and 94 kidnapped.

Again only light and scattered ground fighting was reported as the general lull continued.

Jerusalem Arsonist 'Miserable'

JERUSALEM (AP) — Michael Denis Rohan, admitted arsonist of Jerusalem's Al Aksah Mosque, was described in court today as a former mental patient who lived in misery and torment.

Arthur Jones, 25, of Burbank, Calif., said the 28-year-old Australian had spent time in a mental hospital in Australia, and Jones called him a "very unhappy, miserable body."

The two young men lived in the same kibbutz for four months this year. Jones, a prosecution witness, told the three-judge court under cross-examination by defense attorney Yitzhak Tunik:

"In Hebrew language classes at the kibbutz he could not relate ... When the teacher asked him a question he would sort of freeze and go pale.

"I felt very sorry for him. I could see he was in torment.

"He was very depressed. He once told me how all his life he was rejected and went from job to job and nobody understood him.

"He said his childhood was very sad and bitter and his father was very strict."

Jones added that Rohan was grateful for his father's strictness "because he recognized it was for his own good and taught him the difference between right and wrong."

"He told me that in the mental hospital it was very miserable and unbearable," Jones continued. "He couldn't stand the drugs they gave him every night to sleep."

Rohan's defense attorney admitted yesterday that his client set the fire that enraged the Moslem world but he said he could not be held responsible for his action because he was mentally ill at the time.

Rohan, seated in a bulletproof glass cage, listened impassively to the American's testimony, which lasted almost two hours.

Gold, 10-speed Bicycle Stolen

A gold, 10-speed bicycle owned by Steven M. Loomis, an Independent-Journal carrier boy, was taken from in front of his home at 515 D Street, San Rafael, Saturday night, he reported to police Sunday.

His mother, Wanda V. Loomis, reported Steven had saved for the bike for eight months.

San Anselmo Garbage Quandry Still Unsolved

San Anselmo city councilmen tried to dispose of the garbage problem again last night, but didn't succeed.

It was the council's second attempt to agree on mutually acceptable pick-up rates with the San Anselmo Garbage Disposal Co., which has a franchise in the city.

After two and a half hours of discussion, the councilmen and the garbage company appeared no nearer a solution.

According to Councilman James F. Reed, the city needs more services and would like to see lower prices. Reed and Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson are holding out for an unlimited pick-up service.

The garbage company contends it needs more money for the services it currently performs. At present, San Anselmo residents pay $2.30 a month for one can on flat ground and $2.60 for a can on a hill. Cost for two cans is double.

Further complicating the situation is Bay Area Air Pollution Control District's backyard burning ban which goes into effect Jan. 1. Neither the council nor the disposal company has an idea how much more garbage will result from the ban.

Reed and Anderson would like to see the company pick up everything the citizens have to offer, providing it is in containers. They suggested the company set two rates, one for persons who bring their refuse to the curb and another for those who leave their cans and containers in backyards.

But Wallace S. Myers, attorney for Victor Vallerga who owns the garbage company, objected. Myers said it was impossible to set one or two rates, without considering quantity.

"The price for pick-up has to be determined by the amount we pick up," he said. The attorney also made dire predictions of garbage trucks filled up within a few blocks and more trips to the dump (20 miles away) if unlimited pickup went into effect.

Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro and Councilman Robert M. Scott suggested the garbage men be allowed to set rates for everything other than cans, much as they do now.

Councilmen Reed and Anderson disagreed. "I think it is improper to have an exclusive franchise operator negotiating with our citizens," he said. "The citizens can't bargain, because they can't turn anywhere else."

At that point Vallerga jumped to his feet. "I've been working here over twenty years and I've had no trouble with anybody," he told the council angrily.

Reed admitted this was true, but stood firm on the concept of unlimited pickup. He asked for a six-month trial period for the proposal.

Both Reed and Anderson suggested the city and the garbage company join in a study of the problem by hiring a consulting firm which could survey the situation and make recommendations. "I think we would both benefit greatly from this," Reed said. Myers said a study would be fine, but added he did not feel the disposal company should help pay for it and said "we wouldn't want to be bound by a study by somebody who comes in from Los Angeles."

Anderson pointed out that garbage rates in San Anselmo are higher than in most California cities (which average $1.90 for one can) and higher than rates in Mill Valley, Corte Madera, Sausalito, Tiburon and Novato.

"Professional advice might help us to lower rates and still enable you to make a profit through more efficient operation," he told Myers. The garbage company didn't accept this, however.

At that point Anderson asked the company to decide on a rate for unlimited pickup and present it to council at special meeting Oct. 23.

Reed Trustees Adopt Policy On Transfers

Policy guidelines for interdistrict transfer agreements were modified last night by Reed School District trustees to allow the district to charge for extra educational costs, Asst. Supt. William G. Vanasen reported.

The board thus followed the Mill Valley School District board's action Sept. 23 in outlining conditions under which interdistrict transfer students will be accepted in the future. Both actions were prompted by the Marin County Board of Education's action last month in overruling transfer denials by the Sausalito School District board.

Under the modified policy, the student's home district would have to pay the difference between the average daily attendance allocation of the state and the actial educational cost per child of the Reed district.

Further, the board agreed that it would deny any transfer requsts already denied by the home district unless the denial were overruled by the county board.

The Reed School District Board Also:

GUIDELINES — Continued discussion of curriculum guidelines until 8 p.m. Nov. 11 at Bel Aire School.

MULTI-ETHNIC PROGRAM — Agreed to participate as observers in the Mill Valley pilot program on multi-ethnic education, if such a program is established.

STUDY — Authorized the research and instructional assessment committee to prepare specifications for Stanford Research Institute project evaluating the middle and intermediate school programs at Del Mar School.

INSERVICE TRAINING — Heard a report on the inservice training program for the 1969-70 school year but took no action.

Oakland Board Delays On New School Chief

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland Board of Education, meeting last night in executive session, decided to delay selection of a new school superintendent at least until next Wednesday.

At the board's regular meeting, the Black Caucus renewed its demand that it be involved in the selection of the superintendent.

"We are prepared to do whatever is necessary—because we are going to be involved," said Black Caucus spokesman Elijah Turner.

He said the group was not concerned whether the new superintendent was black or white, but said there would be "trouble" if the Black Caucus was not allowed to participate in the selection.

Yugoslav Envoy Stresses Stand

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Yugoslav ambassador to the U.S. said yesterday that his country has a firm policy of remaining independent in world affairs.

"We fought two world wars against foreign invaders," said Bogdan Crnobrnja, "we didn't fight to be a satellite; we fought to be independent."

Yugoslavia was embarrassed by the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, he said, adding "it did not correspond to our way of thinking."

Reed Official Takes Post In Valley

Reed School District Asst. Supt. William G. Vanasen last night submitted his resignation effective Dec. 31 to take a job as director of finance for the North Sacramento Elementary School District.

Vanasen's resignation was accepted last night by the Reed school board following a closed session at the end of the board's regular meeting. Vanasen said the closed session was called at his request to announce the resignation. His contract called for him to serve the district till June 30, 1970.

The board also authorized Supt. Robert B. Gaw to begin recruitment to fill Vanasen's post, he said.

Vanasen said he will begin his new job Jan. 1. The Sacramento district is more than twice the size of Reed.

Vanasen has worked for the Reed School District for the past three years. Previously, he was employed by the Marin County schools office. He lives in Novato with his wife and two children.

Machines Looted

About $30 in change was stolen from six vending machines in the Terra Linda High School cafeteria sometime last night, according to San Rafael police, who said the building was entered by prying a side window.

White Workers March, Protest Work Halts

SEATTLE (AP — A group of white construction workers and sympathizers estimated at 2,000 persons by police marched on city hall here today in protest over work disruptions caused by black demonstrations.

The predominantly black Central Contractors Association has led more than a month's sporadic action in the streets and the courts aimed toward placing more minority workers on construction jobs. Labor unions have fought the plan by walkouts and refusal to work.

The two-mile march was led by a single workman bearing a large American flag. Behind him came other workers 10 and 12 abreast in a line that extended more than two blocks.

The marchers, all white, carried homemade signs with such messages as "We Build—We Don't Burn" and "Protect Us—Or We'll Do It." The march followed yesterday's walkout by electrical workers assigned to a University of Washington construction project. They objected to presence of black on-the-job trainees hired for the project.

Meanwhile, a federal court was to hear a university suit which asks that workers be required to stay on the job and that all demonstrators be restrained from violence or property damage.

Pentagon Sets ABM Site Hunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird today authorized the Army to begin surveying in North Dakota for the first anti-ballistic missile battery of the administration's $7 billion defensive system.

The action is a preliminary step toward the selection of one Safeguard ABM complex to defend Minuteman missile silos in the Grand Forks, N.D., area.

Formal approval of one of several tentative sites to be examined will be withheld until Congress completes action on the 1970 defense appropriation the Pentagon said.

Loggers Are Given Time To Prepare

Criminal proceedings against loggers on Bolinas Ridge and the owner of the property, Dr. Ethel Righetti, were continued today in West Marin Justice Court.

The complaints, filed Thursday by the County of Marin, allege the logging is being conducted in violation of the county zoning code.

Judge David R. Baty said he granted a continuance to Nov. 5 to George W. Walker, Robert L. Mathews and Jerald R. Humbert, partners in an Oregon lumber firm, at the request of their attorney, Hugh G. Lawrence.

Baty said Lawrence asked the time to prepare an attack on the legality of the complaint. He said the attack would probably be on constitutional grounds — that the state by enacting the Forestry Practices Act has pre-empted the county's zoning code.

The case of Dr. Righetti was continued for two weeks at the request of her attorney, Harry Falk of San Jose. Baty said Falk gave no reason for the request for continuance.

Lack Of Support For Appointee Miffs Dunphy

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

An angry Sausalito Mayor Earl F. Dunphy last night made an appointment to the Community Appearances Advisory Board, had it blocked by three other council members, then refused to make a new appointment.

It wound up that Violeta Autumn — the current representative to CAAB from the planning commission and the person Dunphy testily refused to reappoint — will remain on CAAB.

Dunphy also named architect John Marsh Davis, a Sausalito resident for seven years, to the planning commission to replace Murray Smith, who resigned last month. He also named druggist Fred Mayer to the Sausalito Human Rights miniboard and Virginia Pasquinucci as the city's delegate to the City-County Planning Council.

The flap over Mrs. Autumn's reappointment came when Dunphy said he thought such posts should be rotated and named Mrs. Pasquinucci to succeed her.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk, however, said he would like to see Mrs. Autumn continue in the post she has held for four years and was joined by Councilmen Alexander R. Imlay and Wyman Hicks. All three said their support of Mrs. Autumn was not a reflection on Mrs. Pasquinucci.

Dunphy then said, "If you disapprove Mrs. Pasquinucci, then I won't appoint anybody."

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan told the council the incumbent continued in office if no new appointment was made.

Dunphy then chastised the council for not reacting to his planned appointment of Mrs. Pasquinucci of which he had informed councilmen in an earlier memo. "No one took the trouble to call," he said.

Dyk replied that Dunphy's memo raised the question of rotating such appointments among planning commission members and said that has not been the policy in the past and the council never has set it as policy.

Dunphy, becoming increasingly miffed, then curtly cut off the conversation, saying, "Let it go at that." To Dyk, he added bitterly "That's the second time you've blocked an appointment of mine." The mayor added that he had never blocked any of Dyk's appointments when he was mayor and that he thought the appointments were the mayor's prerogative.

Earlier, the council spent 56 minutes going over an old, familiar topic — the proposed reconstruction of a Mobil Oil service station at Second and Main streets.

At issue was the CAAB's denial of a design plan which Mobil spokesman insisted was "in a total market concept sense" superior to a plan the company first submitted more than a year ago, but later withdrew.

The earlier plan, which did win CAAB approval, was not acceptable to the Mobil management, said district sales manager Thad Sheridan. Asked why the company submitted the plan in the first place, Sheridan said, "There is no real answer. We jumped before we were ready.

This prompted Councilman Robin Sweeny to "ask for a better reason than (Mobil's) internal problem's" for approval of the new design.

Sheridan then brought up the "total marketing concept" reason, saying, "Our customers are used to a particular type of facility." Council members later got Mobil spokesmen to admit the design they were backing was the first of its kind.

Mrs. Autumn, speaking for the CAAB, attacked the Mobil plan as looking more like a "hamburger stand . . . (or) a house in the Midwest" than a service station and said CAAB was opposed to the proposed building's entire design concept.

Lou Jones, proprietor of the existing station and former Corte Madera councilman, said he had petitioned his customers and 372 of them favored the Mobil plan while only three refused to sign the petition. He said he did not seek opinions from customers on the CAAB-favored design.

Finally, the whole issue boiled down to Mobil saying, in effect: "Take it or leave it." The council left it.

The vote came quickly after Mobil spokesman Thomas L. Bardet told the council, "If you stay with the CAAB (design), unfortunately there will be no rebuild."

Dyk, saying he was "sorry the gentleman had to put in the take it or leave it bit," then moved to back CAAB. The motion passed with only Dunphy voting against it.

It's Summer From May Until October

Summer has been legislated to six months in Sausalito.

The Sausalito City Council, in the latest increase of its parking meter rates, decided last night that while summer may be only three months long in other places, it lasts from May 1 to Oct. 31 in Sausalito.

And as a result, tourists are going to pay more for parking and the city is going to make more money.

The council decided to back recommendations by City Mgr. George M. Patterson for increases in parking rates in the city's Lot No. 1 across from Vina Del Mar Plaza.

Among other things, Patterson suggested that higher weekend and holiday parking rates could be applied throughout the summer. This raised the question of exactly how long the "summer" is in Sausalito and Councilman Wyman Hicks jokingly said, "Oh,' about April 1 to Nov. 1."

The council then decided the summer parking rates should be levied from May through October. The rates will not go into effect until after an amendment to the parking ordinance goes through council approval procedures.

The daily parking rates in the lot — from November through April — will be increased from 25 to 35 cents an hour with a maximum of $1.50.

On weekends and holidays — and during the six-month summer-the rate will be a flat 50 cents an hour with a $2 top. Currently, the weekend-holiday rate is 50 cents for the first hour, 25 cents in the following hours with a $1.50 top.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

CLOSED MEETING — Held a short closed meeting following its four-hour regular meeting to discuss litigation matters. Patterson said no action was taken.

SEWER — Declined to grant a request by Bernice Andron for the city to take condemnation action for a sewer easement for her property off Sausalito Boulevard and also granted her request for an extension of time on a conditional use permit for building on the property until the easement issue is settled.

GLEN — Approved the final map for the Glen subdivision.

BIKES —Adopted a resolution backing an amendment to the Marin County Parks and Recreation Plan — 1990, setting up an urban bike path system in the county.

LANDSCAPE — Agreed to use the services of Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Williams landscape consultants for future improvements of the north stretch of Bridgeway.

SIGN — Approved an encroachment application by Walter Silva for a sign on a bar at 739 Bridgeway and expressed concern about the practice of some businessmen of putting up signs before seeking permission to encroa h on the public right-of-way.

PETITION — Received a petition from about 40 Sausalito women compalining of litter, vagrancy and other problems in downtown Sausalito. Patterson gave the council a point-by-point answer on what the city is doing to correct the problems.

Water Board To Meet Saturday

The Stinson Beach County Water District will formally receive the resignation of member Charles Howard Allen at a special meeting at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Stinson Beach Community Center, board president Hugh Dougherty reported today.

Allen, who sent his letter of resignation to the board two weeks ago, has moved out of the district, Dougherty said.

A scheduled meeting of the board last night was postponed until Saturday to accommodate members' schedules, he said.

Welfare Training Results Announced

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Spencer Williams, secretary of the state Human Relations Agency, today noted that of the 27,537 welfare recipients enrolled in the Work Incentive program, 19,600 have been placed in manpower training programs of which 4,500 have become employed during the first year of the plan.

Williams reported the average savings in welfare payments is approximately $2,600 a year per family involved in employment. He pointed out that "breaking the cycle of dependency that often shackles generation after generation to the welfare rolls means added long-term tax and social benefits."

Red Spy Ring Falls In Korea

SEOUL (AP) — A North Korean spy ring operating on South Korea's west coast was smashed after its leader turned informer, national police said today. Two other North Korean agents and seven South Korean collaborators were reported arrested.

Police said Chin Nak-hyon, 50, a top espionage agent, found that what he'd been taught about the South was false and surrendered on Sept. 21 near Chonjur, 110 miles south of Seoul. He led police to the others, including North Korean agents Park Jong-yop and Choi Man-chun.

Cost Of The Vietnam War Sets A New Defense Pace

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The swift soaring price of fighting wars is nothing new in the nation's experience. What is new in the Vietnam era is the height of the plateau from which defense spending zoomed to the current annual rate of $77 billion.

Today's American dollar isn't worth what it was when Vietnam started becoming a big little war, and the coin of the realm buys far less than it did a half century ago, the year the United States entered World War I.

But the hard — and to many the disturbing fact is that the historical pattern of meat-axing military budgets after earlier conflicts just did not happen after the war in Korea.

Military spending totaled nearly $617.58 million in the government's account year through June 1917, two and a half months after the declaration of war against Germany. The cost of fighting this country's first major overseas war peaked two years later at a little over $11 billion.

Then the boys came home from over there and defense outlays plummeted more than 80 per cent in the first full year after the Armistice. By fiscal year 1926, the Army and Navy departments were permitted to spend only $676.9 million, very little more than their bill for the first part-year of War I.

Defense spending did not top the billion mark again until 1936. That was just 71 years after the Federal government's first $1 billion plus military bill — in the last year of the Civil War.

Military costs stayed within the $1 billion plus range until fiscal year 1941, when they jumped to $6.252 billion, then vaulted to over $80 billion in the last full year of fighting.

History began repeating itself even before Japan surrendered in August, 1945. In that year the military bill dropped nearly 50 per cent, and by 1948 it was less than one-seventh of the high mark of World War II.

The Korean War started just as the government wound up an accounting year showing military outlays of $13.4 billion. Military costs eased down less than 10 per cent during the first year of the truce line armistice.

That year broke the historical pattern. Pentagon spending did drop to the $35 billion level in 1955 and 1966, but except for dips in 1960 and 1965 — the fiscal year before large scale involvement started in Vietnam — the military bill has mounted until it reached the $77.8 billion mark for the 12 months ended June 30.

A wade through the Statistical Abstract of the United States — the government's bible of facts and figures — shows radical changes in accounting methods through the years that can distort comparisons. Recent efforts to apply current budget concepts to the bookeeping of past years can put defense spending in a somewhat different light.

Military outlays amounted to about three-fourths of total federal spending in the World War II peak year. They dropped to little more than 32 per cent in the year before Korea, rose to around 70 per cent during the three years of that war, then tapered off to around 50 per cent 10 years ago.

Despite ascending military bills since then, the defense slice of total Federal outlays has actually shrunk, to just under 43 cents of the government spending dollar in the year through last June.

Nixon Assures Laos Of Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assurances of U.S. support to the Southeast Asian kingdom of Laos were given by President Richard M. Nixon to visiting Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma, says presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Nixon and the Laotion leader met for 75 minutes yesterday Ziegler said the Prime Minister asked the President for increased military aid, but no decision was reached during the meeting.

Ziegler said the request did not include sending U.S. ground forces to Laos, where activity by North Vietnamese troops and Pathet Lao guerrillas has stepped up in recent years.

Transportation Woes Plague Low Earners

A significant number of Marin County's poor, aged or ill residents may be unable to get vital medical care because they lack adequate transportation.

This is the finding of a recent transportation survey released this week by the League of Women Voters. The survey consisted of replies to 570 questionnaires sent to 52 county medical and social service agencies for use by their clients.

Nearly 17 per cent of those surveyed, or 97 persons, indicated they had missed medical appointments because they had no way of getting to them.

LICENSE TROUBLES

Twenty-nine persons who responded said they drove their own cars. But the survey noted that many of these drove without licenses or liability insurance and number of their autos were in poor repair and unsafe.

Others who managed to make their appointments had to depend on haphazard means of travel. Approximately 200 individuals were driven by volunteers. Seventeen took the bus and nine went by cab.

Twelve persons borrowed friends' autos. Thirty-eight with friends or relatives. Thirty-nine hitchhiked.

Without giving figures, the survey stated that some persons who should have physical therapy several times a week were not able to do so.

YOUTH PROBLEMS

Young persons are especially affected, according to the League. "Employment people have found it frustrating ... to give summer work to youth, as there was no way to get the young people to their jobs," the survey noted.

The survey also indicated many poor and uninformed persons may be unable to make use of services available to them.

WIDE TRAVELS

The study told of a young man on welfare who, in one day, had to get from Marin City to the San Rafael Civic Center, to the Employment Office on E Street in San Rafael, back to the Civic Center, to Novato to his union headquarters and then home. He had no car and no dependable means of travel.

As more and more services are provided for disadvantaged and low-income persons, the situation becomes "more frustrating and more acute," according to the league.

The league presented the survey results to Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday. The group plans to forward the survey to persons and agencies which deal with transportation and may be able to help solve the problem.

Picket Bus Use Due Hard Looks

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — State Sen. Hugh M. Bruns, D-Fresno, said this week he will demand an investigation of the "apparent illegal use" of a Los Angeles school bus, and a state-owned vehicle, to transport pickets to a labor dispute.

Attorney Gen. Thomas C. Lynch will be asked to probe reports a bus owned by the University of California at Santa Barbara was used to take pickets to the Delano area in August a few days after a Los Angeles school bus had also transported pickets to the scene.

Burns said also he will introduce a resolution in the next legislative session for a study to determine what, if any, state funds or federal monies were used to finance the picketing project.

College Entrance Test Date Dec. 13

The American College Test, a common entrance examination for colleges and universities, will be administered at Sonoma State College on Dec. 13.

Registration must be made at the college test office in Stevenson Hall before Nov. 10. Information concerning the test, its location and time will be mailed to persons at the time of registration, according to Edie Moon, college test officer.

Church Centennial Cookbook

Food Page

By JOAN LISETOR

In commemoration of the centennial celebration underway at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael the women of the congregation have compiled a cookbook. Each woman in the church was invited to submit a recipe.

"We are referring to it as a return of the cookbook," explains Mrs. John Southmayd, co-chairman of the cookbook committee. "In 1906 the women of the church compiled a cookbook which was such a financial success it went into two reprintings and raised $5,000."

In addition to sales profits, the church women of 1906 earned money by selling advertisements to old time Marin firms such as Kelly Bros. Sanitary Plumbers, Hotel San Rafael, San Rafael Gas and Electric Light Co. and the Mt. Tamalpais Military Academy, which offer a quaint reminder of Marin County 63 years ago.

Rather than advertising, the committee selected sketches by Mrs. Edward Noble to illustrate the book while acting as an index for each of the six categories contained in the cookbook: appetizers, salads, entrees, vegetables, desserts and etceteras.

CHEESE STICKS

Mix as for pastry:
2 cups flour
Pinch salt
1½ cubes margarine
2 cups grated medium cheddar cheese

Add:
4 tablespoons cold water

Gradually blend with pastry blender. Divide into two balls; roll very thin. Cut ½ inch wide. Place on cookie sheet and bake at 450 degrees for 5 minutes. Store in tin.

Mrs. Oliver Hartzell, co-chairman of the cookbook committee, has one of her favorite salads in the book.

THREE BEAN SALAD

Combine:
15 oz. can green beans
15 oz. can wax beans
15 oz. can kidney beans
1 Onion finely chopped
1 Green pepper finely chopped
⅔ cup vinegar
⅓ cup corn oil
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper

QUICK AND EASY MEAT LOAF

Preheat oven to 350 degrees
1 lb. ground, lean beef
⅔ cup evaporated milk
1 envelope dried onion soup mix

ZUCCHINI SOUFFLE

9 eggs
¼ cup milk
1 cup stale French bread crumbs
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 grated onion
Salt, pepper, oregano, marjoram, celery salt, parsley flakes and cheddar cheese.

Grate zucchini. Mix all together; stir in beaten eggs. Put in 13x9 inch greased pan; sprinkle grated cheese on top. Set in a pan of hot water and bake at 300 degrees for one hour and 10 minutes.

EGGNOG CAKE

Cake:
1 package yellow cake mix
2 eggs
1¼ cups water
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon rum extract

Pudding:
2 3½ oz. packages vanilla pudding mix (not instant)
2 cups eggnog
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon rum extract
1 cup diced glaced fruits
Nutmeg (optional)

Make cake per directions, adding nutmeg and rum extract. Pour into greased and floured nine inch cake tin and bake. When cool, cut each layer in half to make four layers.

For pudding combine mix with eggnog and milk. Cook over low heat, stirring until boiling. Stir in fruits and rum extract. Cool completely. Spread between layers and on top. Top with whipped cream if desired.

Etceteras, the miscellaneous section of the book, contains a recipe submitted by J. W. L. Park, associate warden at San Quentin, for Chili Con Carne San Quentin Style. It calls for 600 pounds of red beans and 400 pounds of chopped beef. Tongue-in-cheek, the recipe suggests mixing with a scoop shovel in a 150 gallon kettle and serving with a surly attitude. It serves approximately 4000.

MEMBERS OF the San Rafael First Presbyterian Church submitted their favorite recipes to be considered for the cookbook. Mrs. Art Abrahams, right, tests her egg nog cake recipe, which was selected to appear in the book. Her kitchen helpers are, from left, Mrs. Helen Ohman and Mrs. Rex Silvernale. (Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)

Enchilada Casserole Comes From South-Of-The-Border

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press

Here's a marvelous Enchilada Casserole. It's the inspired brainchild of Toni Hancock, a young California home economist. Toni's husband is a high-school Spanish teacher who lived in Argentina for a couple of years and both of them are mad about authentic south-of-the-border cooking.

Toni serves her Enchilada Casserole for supper along with other Mexican foods — guacamole, refried beans and rice. She adds a salad, too, made with tossed greens or fresh fruit. For bread she warms tortillas in the oven and urges guests to slather them with butter. Dessert is likely to be the caramel custard called flan.

A friend of Toni's uses the Enchilada Casserole for brunch accompanied by sangria (a red wine and fresh fruit concoction) and skewered fresh fruit buried in ice. Tortillas and butter go along and so does lots of hot coffee.

At our house we made the tomato sauce for the casserole a day before we were going to use it. When we were ready to put together the casserole, we removed the sauce from the refrigerator and heated it. This way there was little last-minute work.

ENCHILADA CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
1 large clove garlic, minced
1 can (1 pound 12 ounces) whole peeled tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon basil
½ teaspoon ground cumin
1 can (4 ounces) whole green chiles
1 dozen corn tortillas, (fresh frozen or canned)
3 cups coarsely grated Monterey Jack or mild cheddar cheese
1 container (8 ounces) commercial sour cream)

In a medium saucepan heat the oil; add onion and garlic; cook gently until tender; add undrained tomatoes, salt, oregano, basil and cumin; simmer 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, remove and discard seeds and veins from chiles; cut each chile lengthwise in thirds.

Have the sauce extremely hot but off heat. One at a time, dip tortillas in sauce to soften; place on wax paper and top each tortilla with a chile strip and ¼ cup cheese; roll up. Place stuffed tortillas as they are rolled, seam-side-down, in a single layer in a 3-quart oblong glass baking dish (13½ by 8¾ by 1¾ inches) or similar utensil.

Stir sour cream into remaining sauce; pour over tortillas. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until bubbly — 20 to 30 minutes. Serve at once.

Makes 6 servings — 2 stuffed tortillas per portion.

Serve An Informal Supper With Flair

The seasonal crisp-edged days usually bring on a flurry of social invitations to small dinners and informal suppers. Everyone looks for a new twist to party foods.

A stuffed meatball served with a flair is a delicious and novel menu innovator for an informal supper. The outer covering of the ball is seasoned ground beef. The center is a rice stuffing accented with the ebony hue of the ripe olive. The novel approach of this idea is the way it is cooked and served. A basket is lined with parsley and the meatball is turned into it and steamed. When serving, present the whole ball to the guests and then cut it into wedges.

A buffet dish that has wide appeal is the ripe olive cannelloni. The base is crepes filled with a ripe olive-veal mixture. Just before baking, the crepes are covered with a gently seasoned cheese sauce. Since this dish can be made ahead and held in the refrigerator, it is an ideal casserole for a party.

Another party favorite is veal scallopini. Here it takes on gourmet appeal.

RIPE OLIVE STUFFED MEATBALLS

1 cup canned pitted ripe olives
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
1½ cups cooked rice
½ teaspoon basil
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
2 eggs
½ cup milk
1½ cups fine soft bread crumbs
1¾ teaspoons sale
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1½ pounds ground lean beef
1 bunch parsley
2 bay leaves

Cut ripe olives into wedges. Melt butter. Add celery and onion and cook until tender. Mix vegetables with ripe olives, rice, basil, and pimiento. Set aside. Beat eggs and combine lightly with milk, bread crumbs, salt, pepper, and cheese, mixing well. Add beef, beating with fork until fluffy. Press mixture lightly against sides of 2-quart bowl in ¾-inch layer leaving a large hollow in center. Fill with ripe olive-rice mixture. Shape edges of meat over stuffing enclosing it completely. Line salad basket with parsley sprigs and bay leaves. Invert stuffed meatball into basket, removing bowl; set in large kettle with about ½ inch boiling water. Cover; simmer 45 minutes for medium and 1 hour for well done meat. Cut into wedges to serve. Makes 6 servings.

CANNELLONI

1 cup canned pitted ripe olives
½ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon cooking oil
1 pound boneless veal stew meat
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon rosemary
⅛ teaspoon thyme
⅔ cup broth or water
1 egg
¾ cup fine soft bread crumbs
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
8 crepes*
Swiss Cheese Sauce*

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Coarsely chop ripe olives. Cook onion in oil until soft. Add veal, salt, herbs and broth. Cover; simmer about 1 hour until tender, adding a little more liquid if needed. Reserve ⅓ cup stock. Chop meat. Beat egg lightly; add crumbs, ripe olives, chopped veal, reserved stock and parsley. Mix well. Divide among crepes and roll up. Place seam side down in baking dish. Cover closely. Bake for 15 to 20 minutes. Serve with Swiss Cheese Sauce. Makes 4 servings.

CREPES

2 eggs
⅔ cup milk
2 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt

Beat eggs until bubbly. Mix all ingredients together and beat smooth with rotary beater. Heat an 8-inch skillet and grease lightly. Add 2 tablespoons batter. Tilt pan to spread. Brown lightly on both sides. Repeat until all batter is baked. Makes 8 crepes.

SWISS CHEESE SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1¼ cups milk
1 cup coarsely grated process Swiss cheese
3 drops liquid red pepper seasoning

Melt butter. Add flour. Gradually add milk, and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Add cheese and continue to stir until cheese has melted. Add pepper seasoning.

VEAL SCALLOPINI WITH RIPE OLIVES

½ cup canned pitted California ripe olives
1½ pounds thin veal cutlets
¼ cup grated Romano or Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon olive oil
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
¼ teaspoon crumbled marjoram
⅓ cup chicken bouillon or sherry
1 (3-ounce) can sliced broiled mushrooms

Cut ripe olives into slices. Pound cutlets lightly and coat with cheese. Heat olive oil and butter. Add veal and brown. Add salt, pepper, garlic, and marjoram. Stir in bouillon, and mushrooms with liquid. Add ripe olive slices. Bring mixture to a boil. Reduce heat and cook gently for 5 minutes. Remove meat; continue cooking until liquid thickens slightly. Spoon ripe olive sauce over meat. Makes 4 servings.

Easy Does It

To make easy cold horseradish sauce, prepare 1 envelope of whipped topping mix as directed, omitting vanilla. Stir in ¼ cup of prepared horseradish, 1½ teaspoons of salt, ⅛ teaspoon of paprika, a dash of cayenne, ½ teaspoon of lemon juice and 2 tablespoons of milk. Makes about 2 cups.

Griping Food Buyers Still Pay

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI)—Consumers complain about rising food prices but they go on buying some higher-priced items just the same.

The annual food industry census by Store Age magazine indicates that lack of display space, not price, keeps sales of high-ticket frozen foods at a steady four per cent of total store income.

The magazine said many merchandisers consider frozen foods the hottest potential in supermarkets, which make up only 16 per cent of United States grocery stores, but account for 79 per cent of all grocery store sales. Chain supermarkets rang up more than 98 per cent of the record $53.9-billion volume done by supermarkets last year.

MANY CHAINS are installing multi-deck cases of glass-door upright freezers, which hold more packages in less floor space than conventional well-type freezers. But with 250-300 new items introduced annually, the storage space can't keep up. One result: even products that continue to sell have to be dropped for new ones.

Sales of boil-in-bag vegetables were cited as the fastest growing frozen vegetables, although they sell for about 10 per cent more per 10-ounce package than regular frozen vegetables.

A Chicago chain buyer reported about a 40 per cent sales increase in frozen desserts tagged at $1 and up. He added that sales records also are being set by frozen puddings that retail for as much as 49 cents for a four-serving container.

Canned and dry milk sales also are losing out to fresh milk because, the magazine said, affluent Americans generally have more money to spend for the higher-priced fresh product, and more refrigerators to store it in.

CANNED AND dried milk were created originally to prevent fast spoilage, milk shortages and high prices. They continue to sell best in neighborhoods with large, low-income households. Fresh milk and newer convenience products—including whole slim milk, coffee creamers and simulated baby formulas are replacing them elsewhere.

The food census indicated that consumers do check prices on many foods and buy accordingly.

Among them are macaroni products, canned vegetables, herbs and spices in large size containers, and tuna, which the magazine said "has become synonymous with low-cost weight control." One canner said tuna accounts for more than 60 per cent of canned fish sales in many areas of the United States.

A Minneapolis chain merchandiser said prepared pasta dinners priced at 89 and 99 cents each don't sell well because heavy users of this type of product generally have lower incomes than families who buy mostly meat and vegetables.

A SOUTHERN chain buyer said price is the main thing that keeps canned vegetable sales running ahead of frozen ones.

Products whose sales are growing rapidly include multiuse and multi-seasoning spices —such as barbecue and salad blends, Italian and hamburger seasonings, savory, celery and seasoned salts. These have 50 to 60 per cent of the blend business in some areas, the magazine reported. The biggest growth item in leaf herbs is oregano, thanks to the pizza boom.

Some industry experts said the weight-loss diet boom is tapering off, but sales of low-calorie dairy foods continue to grow. Yogurt sales have increased 500 per cent in the past five years. Once considered solely a health food, yogurt now outsells that dieters' old favorite, cottage cheese, in some areas.

Among high-calorie foods, snack sales are soaring. Estimates of increases range from 30 per cent nationally to 75 per cent in some stores. Pizza flavored snacks remain the favorites, but other popular flavors include ketchup, butter, Mexican, cheese and barbecue.

Among baked goods, a paradox — one manufacturer said English muffins, which are fat-free and have a low-calorie image, account for 18 per cent of bread sales, but demand also is up for pies that are richer and creamier.

Slow Learners Are Symposium Subject

Children who fall behind their class in school are called educationally handicapped, and their disabilities may be caused by anything from emotional problems to brain damage. Many of these problems are so minimal they go undetected. The children are often held back in school, and many drop out before even reaching high school.

A three part symposium to discuss the problems and possible solutions will begin tomorrow night in Guzman Hall at Dominican College. "Children with Learning Disabilities" is the title of the symposium, sponsored by the Marin Association for Mental Health, Dominican College In-Service Division and the Department of Special Services of Marin County schools.

THE NECESSITY for a symposium became apparent to members of the education committee of the Marin Association for Mental Health after several meetings on the subject with both lay people and professionals.

Mrs. Dan Beittel, a member of the committee, calls herself the leg work chairman of the symposium.

"I got the job because I've been involved in other meetings and have become an expert on counting chairs and registering people quickly," she says jokingly.

But, educationally handicapped children are no joke to Sue Beittel, who has a great concern for these children, despite the fact her own children: Mark, 14, June, 12, and Lynn, 10, have had no learning problems.

SHE BEGAN volunteering as a teacher's aide in the Dixie School District about five years ago and often worked with the students who could not keep up with the class or took over the class so the teacher could work on a one-to-one basis with a problem child.

"These children need individual instruction and individual goals," explains Mrs. Beittel, who has had no formal training in the teaching field.

The State of California has recognized the need and granted a limited amount of funds to school districts who will set up programs for educationally handicapped children.

"EACH DISTRICT has gone about it in a different way, Dixie works on a one-to-one basis using volunteers to work with the children, Mill Valley has special classroom teachers and Novato has learning disability groups," Mrs. Beittel explains, "so we thought it was time to get everyone together, including the parents to see what success other techniques have had."

This is the first general meeting in central Marin County to deal with the subject, and Mrs. Beittel believes the first in California to make a special effort to talk to parents. Teachers enrolled in the symposium will receive one unit of credit, but the program is designed "without a lot of jargon" so parents will understand and the talks will be "meaty" enough for teachers.

Charles Lavaroni, director of Dominican College In-Service Division, will moderate the first evening of the symposium. A panel will discuss guiding principles for working with educationally handicapped children, each member taking a slightly different view: Peg Simpson, occupational therapist at Marindale School, patterning; Robert Bradfield, psychologist at San Francisco State College, the reward system; and Dr. Barry Grunland, child psychiatrist at Napa State Hospital, an analytical approach, which includes a piece of every method.

Highlight of the Friday evening session will be a presentation of the resources available in Marin. Representatives of both public and private agencies dealing with children who have education problems will discuss their agencies and also speak to individuals in the audience. Chairman for the session is Alvin S. Haag, president of the Marin Association for Mental Health.

SATURDAY'S ALL day session will end with a panel discussion of thoughts on why children have learning difficulties. Dr. Margaret Scheffelin, who will serve on the panel, is the newly appointed consultant for educationally handicapped for the State Department of Education. She will meet with teachers prior to the panel to introduce herself as a resource in Sacramento.

Following the panel discussion Dr. Patrick O'Donnell, assistant professor in the department of Special Education at San Francisco State College, will sum up the symposium discussing "Where Do We Go From Here?"

Mrs. Beittel urges anyone who is interested in the symposium to call her at her San Rafael home. She and members of the committee are hoping particularly to reach parents who suspect their child may have a problem but do not know what to do about it.

Karen Seppa Receives 'Really Big Honor'

Karen Seppa, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Seppa of Petaluma, was one of 11 4-H Club reporters for the nation introduced Sunday evening on the Ed Sullivan television show.

Karen is in New York on a trip financed by the National 4-H Foundation in conjunction with National 4-H Club Week. Acquainting young people throughout the country with the many facets of 4-H is the purpose of the trip.

Karen will visit Washington, D. C., before returning home Saturday, and it is hoped that the two boys and three girls in her group will be presented to President Richard M. Nixon while there.

A student at Santa Rosa Junior College, Karen has been a member of the Rolling Hills 4-H Club of Petaluma for nine years. Although over age to remain a regular member, she will complete this year as a reporter as well as a food preservation leader in the club.

The Seppa family, all active in 4-H Club work, has racked up many honors in the organization. Her brothers, Dean, 21, and Donald, 20, became California Diamond Stars while active members. This is the highest achievement possible in the organization. Her sister Janet, 16, and a member of the Rolling Hills Club, was an all-star this year.

With a national membership of over three million, the 4-H Club comprise the largest coeducational organization in America.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Fifteen Months Ago Her Husband Said He'd Be Back At 2 O'clock

DEAR HELEN:

My husband kissed me "good bye" and said "See you at 2:00 o'clock." The trouble is, he didn't say what day or year.

It's been 15 months now, and I'm still waiting for that 2:00 o'clock date. Meanwhile, another woman carrying my married name, "Mrs. Roland A. Brown" (lets call it) added a lot of purchases to my department store account. I tried to track my husband down through her — after the mistake was straightened out — but she said he pulled the same thing. She's waiting for "4:00 o'clock." She thought she was married to him, as he told her his first wife and children were all killed in an automobile accident five years ago.

The first and second Mrs. Roland A. Brown would like to stop our husband from marrying any other unsuspecting woman. For all I know, I may not be his legal wife. We were married by a friend of his who said he was a justice of the peace, and Roland took the license with him when he left.

What do I do next? — TWO FOR THE ROAD.

DEAR TWO:

Check the vital statistics records at your county court house. If your marriage isn't recorded, consider yourself lucky. You'll be saved the time and expense of divorce proceedings. — H.

P.S. If you two Mrs. Browns would stop Marryin' Roland, file bigamy charges. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I don't know how to write this without making it look like I'm a tramp. Lord knows I'm not!

I've been married three years, have a wonderful boy aged two, and I love my husband deeply. We have no financial burdens.

I'm not beautiful, just passable, though I try to look my best. I keep a good home. I have no marital troubles to speak of.

My problem? I attract men like flies. I don't conscientiously go after them, but since we moved to this town two years ago, I've had seven affairs. They meant nothing to me. Three were with married men, all in good professions. Two wanted to get divorces so they could marry me, but I don't want to leave my husband.

I know I need psychiatric help. Twice I've been in the hospital with acute depression. I've made appointments, but have broken them. How can I admit these terrible things which I hate myself for?

Right now I'm headed for another affair. I don't want it to happen, but I want, and suppose I need, affection and attention. Though my husband loves me, he can't show his emotions. I'm not making excuses for myself. I know I'm totally wrong. What worries me even further is that the men involved ask me to forgive them for their advances. They tell me they want me to respect them as much as they respect me. This makes me feel all the cruddier.

I'm sure your readers will check me off as a slut. If only I were! Then I wouldn't be — WEIRD, LONESOME AND SEARCHING

DEAR W, L. AND S.:

A psychiatrist won't check you off as a slut. Rather, he may make you understand why you hate yourself so much that you use sex as an alcoholic uses liquor. Make an appointment and don't break it. Professional help can save your marriage. — H.

Senior Citizens Chief Blasts Hub Planners

The executive director of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council last night assailed the San Anselmo Planning Commission as "totally unreasonable" for its rejection Monday night of a proposal to construct 40 units of low-cost senior citizen housing.

Edward Ryken, speaking to the Marin County Housing and Redevelopment Agency, said he had "... never in my life seen a more unreasonable group of planners, and I've seen a lot of them."

San Anselmo's planners Monday turned down a bid by developer Edwin N. Wicander of San Rafael to build the 40-unit project on Magnolia Avenue about one-half block from San Anselmo Avenue.

Wicander told the agency last night that he had hoped to build the units and then lease them to the Marin County Housing Authority.

"It is a perfect location," Wicander said, "It's about one-and-a-half blocks from downtown San Anselmo. Both the senior citizens and the businessmen would benefit from the units."

Wicander appeared before the agency last night hoping to get an indication of support. He has 10 days to appear the planning commission's decision to the city council and said last night that he "probably would do so."

Wicander said he also has land in San Rafael and Novato on which to construct such low-cost units if he cannot do so in San Anselmo.

The San Anselmo planners rejected Wicander's proposal because that city's zoning laws call for a density of no more than 23 units on the property. Wicander told the agency last night that it was financially unfeasible to build that few units.

Although he attacked the planning commission on its attitude, Ryken told the agency that one of the commission's main objections was quite valid and was going to have to be answered.

"Under terms of a lease-back agreement, the Housing Authority and the developer of senior citizens units renegotiate every five years,"

Ryken said. "What happens if they cannot reach an agreement. Then the developer has the right to throw out the senior citizens and rent the units to anyone he wants to. That's one thing the San Anselmo planners were concerned about. They were thinking ahead to five, 10 or 15 years from now."

The housing authority took no action on the proposal last night, noting that the senior coordinating council has already endorsed the project.

The Marin County Housing Authority also:

FUNDING — Took under study a request from the Marin Senior Coordinating Council for $6,500 to finance projects and recreation services for residents of the Homestead Terrace and Venetia Oaks senior citizen housing areas.

CLOSED SESSION — Met jointly with Marin County Redevelopment Agency in closed session to confer with legal counsel on the pending litigation with the purchaser of the Ridgeland area in Marin City. No action was taken.

NOVATO HOUSING — Heard a report from Richard N. Bale of Tiburon concerning a proposed senior citizen housing area in Novato. Bale told the agency members that he would seek official approval from the agency at the Nov. 5 meeting. He left completed plans for the one-building, two story unit, with the agency for their study.

CONDITION REPORT — Took under study a report compiled by the Marin Senior Coordinating Council on possible improvements which could be made to the two existing senior citizen housing areas.

Faculty Show Has More Assured Look

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The cast of characters is nearly the same but this year's version of the College of Marin faculty art show is being played differently.

The exhibit, through Oct. 23 in the college gallery, looks more self-assured, has fewer weak spots and several pieces in it are as entertaining as you'll find.

Miss Moyer's other entry is just as much fun. It presents everything a bonafide Viking ship made from an old jaw bone ought to encounter on an "Old Time Voyage," from sun over blue metal plates of sea to serpents and other assorted monsters dwelling below its surface.

Working with the unexpected is also true of Allan Widenhofer. His huge ceramic platters hold literal illustrations of faces, motorcycles and such laid out amid designs of checks, spots and carvings.

Strange, etherial forms emerging from gossamer overlays or big bold skies in blocks above a zebra are both ways in which Martin Stoelzel handles his provocative painting style. And in this show he offers a sculptural version of one as well, a carved wood box with protrusions striped in black and white and boiling with clouds.

Of the new faculty members, photographer Edward Douglas has a bent for putting common things in uncommon places or poses. In his unusual series, people appear as if crucified amid the foliage of tall trees or as if living in broken structures and strange shadowy tunnels.

In less disturbing ways several others seem equally unwilling to be pinned down. In media, Thano Johnson includes a folding, painted rockscape, a metal wind harp and a ceramic flask. Farhad Moezzi offers an erupting polished metal tower touched with fur and then a bronze body cast stretched out on a bed of velvet. While Glen Miller movers from the delicate scale of silver necklaces into life-size sculpture.

Shutterbug, Not Bassist, Ires Maestro

NEW YORK (AP) — Leopold Stokowski stopped his first Carnegie Hall concert of the season Monday night, "but it was not the fault of the poor bass player who was scared out of his mind," a spokesman for the American Symphony Orchestra said yesterday.

The bass player, the audience and most of those backstage thought the trouble that angered the 82-year-old maestro was on stage.

Not so, said the spoksman, it just looked that way.

The evening was dedicated to the United Nations and a U.N. photographer who had accompanied officials of the world organization backstage got behind the bass player to try for a photograph including both officials back in their boxes and Stokowski.

Stokowski then stopped Franz Liszt's 2nd Hungarian Rhapsody, gestured and called "out, out" in the direction of the bass section and then began the piece again.

Panel Won't Back Smith Ranch Field

Marin County Aviation Commission members disagreed with former commissioner Benjamin R. Ostlind last night over the request for commercial use of Smith Ranch Airport north of Santa Venetia.

Robert E. De Young, operator of Smith Ranch airport, wants to expand the field for commercial use. This was denied by County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill. De Young appealed to the Marin County Planning Commission, which will hold a hearing on Monday.

Ostlind, who has his airplane based at the Smith Ranch field, insisted that the commission support commerfialization of the private airfield.

Commissioners Ray W. Foreaker Jr. and William W. Schwarzer said that some public agency should take over the air field if commercialization and expansion are to be allowed. The commissioners declined to take action on De Young's appeal.

Marin Aviation Inc., one of the fixed base operators at the county's Gnoss Field, asked for private development of four acres just north of the current aircraft parking apron for additional covered parking such as T hangars.

Airport Mgr. Francis E. Torr reported that the county is now negotiating for 5.3 acres of private land south of the parking apron to provide additional parking. Commissioners said they favor the 5.3 acre parcel because it fits the master plan for the airport. They asked Foreaker, Alfred Hansen and Torr to meet with Richard Duste, owner of Marin Aviation Inc., to see if Duste and Spectrum Air can use the 5.3 acres instead of the four acres to the north.

Marin County Aviation Commission also:

CROSS RUNWAY — Appointed Melville Dickson to investigate the possibility of installing a cross runway at nominal cost, either by using the old east-west runway or by building a temporary strip as part of an ultimate 5,000-foot runway.

WIND STUDY— Got a report from Torr that a $3,200 wind study at Gnoss Field will be completed in December, and a report issued in February.

PUBLICITY — Heard from Schwarzer that an article on Gnoss Field will appear soon in one of the flying magazines.

101 Crash Hurts Car Passenger

Suzanne M. Nelson, 22, of 124 Humboldt, San Rafael, received a bump on the head and scrape on the left ankle Monday when the car in which she was riding was struck by another on Highway 101 near the Shoreline Highway turnoff, the California Highway Patrol said today.

She was to see her own physician.

The patrol said she was a passenger in a car driven by Howard Irwin Torly, 35, of Sonoma, which was struck at 12:45 p.m. by one driven by Evelyn Margaret Goddard, 61, of Bolinas. Mrs. Goddard's car was forced to veer when another car started turning into her lane, the patrol said.

Nixon, Security Council Huddle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon met with the National Security Council today. The effort to launch strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union was reported to be among topics discussed.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said there still has not been a response from the Soviet Union to U.S. efforts to get the talks under way.

The NSC met with the President for an hour and a half, Ziegler said.

New 'Ism' On The Czech Scene

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — A new "ism" appeared today in the Czechosolovak Communist lexicon—Dubcekism. It was characterized as "right-wing opportunism of the time."

The terminology was the focus of an article in the Slovak Party newspaper, Pravda, devoted to ousted Czechoslovak party first secretary Alexander Dubcek who led last year's unsuccessful reform movement.

Dubcekism, the party paper, said, stands for inability to make a profound Marxist-Leninist analysis ... weakness, uncertainty, toleration and defeatism."

Fire Panel Approves List Of Items Needed

A series of recommendations to the San Rafael City Council was unanimously approved last night by the San Rafael Fire Commission.

The commission urged the council to begin acquiring an additional engine for the Terra Linda area to provide the fire protection which will be needed in the 1,000-acre area proposed for annexation, Fire Chief Vance Trivett reported. Trivett said it takes 18 months to two years to get an engine.

The commission also agreed to recommend that the council establish a fund to replace fire fighting equipment.

A third recommendation was to transfer responsibility for maintenance of the fire alarm system to electricians in the public works department. Trivett said the system "is getting a little too big for us."

The commisston also recommended that the council establish a policy in physical examinations for firemen. Exams would be required when a man is promoted; every two years for employees under 40, and annually for those over 40, Trivett said.

Foundation Lacks Funds To Pay Bill

Novato Civic Foundation directors last night approved the payment of a $3,000 bill for the irrigation system at Pioneer Memorial Park, but it does not have enough money to pay it, according to its president David Price Jones.

The foundation board asked for donations to help pay the bill to Ewing Irrigation Products of San Leandro, since, the foundation has only $1,000 available, Jones said.

The board appointed a committee of its members, Joan Richards, Diane Lackey and Helen Scott, to investigate methods of raising the money, Jones said.

Mrs. Richards, newly appointed member from the Novato Junior Women's Club, said that that club would donate $500 toward buying children's play equipment for Pioneer Memorial Park.

Student Official To Fight Ouster

BERKELEY (UPI)—Dan Siegel, ousted president-elect of U.C. Berkeley students, said yesterday he will continue to fight to regain full student status at the campus.

"This matter has not yet reached conclusion," he said in a statement on official ASUC stationery he released through the U.C. public information office.

Siegel said he will appeal a federal court ruling upholding university regulations uneer which he was put on disciplinary probation for allegedly helping incite last spring's "People's Park" riots.

He said in the meantime he will "continue to abide by the terms of the probation imposed on me."

Storer Is Sued For Divorce By Wife Of 15 Years

Former Marin Supervisor Thomas T. Storer of Inverness was sued for divorce yesterday in Marin Superior Court by his artist wife, Inez, after 15 years of marriage.

The suit said that they married in Santa Monica in 1954 and separated on Jan. 2, 1969.

Mrs. Storer asked custody of their four children, Elena, 14; Lisa, 12; Christopher, 10, and Jonathan, 9, and reasonable support for herself and the youngsters.

She cited cruelty as grounds for divorce.

Storer, 40, served as supervisor from 1964 through 1968, when he was defeated in a bid for re-election by Louis H. (Bud) Baar of San Rafael. In 1966 he ran unsuccessfully for Congress as a Democratic candidate from the First District.

He is now a practicing attorney and operator of the Marshall Hotel in Marshall.

Circulation Of Books Are Up

Figures for July through September show a 26 per cent increase over last year in circulation of books and other items at the Larkspur Library, the library board was told last night.

Circulation for the quarter was 16,765 this year compared to 3,319 last year, Librarian Richard A. Kilbourne reported.

The board accepted a donation of $300 from Friends of the Larkspur Library to buy books and magazines.

The Hungry Collegian Fails To Cite Certain Specifics

By ALAN JONES

There is some evidence. But the students, who raised a barrage of protest about student hunger at last week's meeting of the junior college district board, appear unable to prove their case.

"I'm one, if you're looking for hungry students," said Dennis Marnell, one of last week's speakers. He said he was "drawing all the financial aid I can get" and still found it tough going.

But Marnell, although he said there were many hungry students, cited no other specific cases.

"I could easily pick up 20 names," he said, of students who are sleeping in cars or campers or with friends, with no money for housing or food.

He cited one student in that fix who applied for aid after available aid money was already spent. He can't even be put on a job, Clark said, until his more basic problems of food and a place to stay are settled. "He's not presentable enough for a job" as things stand now, he said.

Brian V. Beard, who was one of the protesters last week, was indignant yesterday when asked for specifics about the charges of students going hungry.

"What difference does it make?" How many are hungry, he asked. "There's as many as there are. Ask them (the administration) for the numbers."

Beard apparently is not enrolled at the college, the registrar's office said today.

The administration and the students agree on one thing — the financial aid well has run dry this year, and there are needy students who have applied for aid and won't get it.

There are 12 aid programs, not counting federal checks for military veterans. Students are pressed at this time of year because GI Bill checks will not start arriving until late this month, or until late November for new students.

Students in the college's work-study program are also up against it because their first checks are not received unil 45 days after school starts.

The college meals program is feeding 108 students, each of whom gets a meal ticket good for $1.50 a day at the school cafeteria. The $30,000 in the fund has all been committed.

A student who identified himself only as Phil described his position. Carrying 15 units, he said he has applied for two or three jobs via the financial aids office, but was unable arrange working hours because his class schedule is awry, with one night class and gaps between daytime classes too short to get to and from a job.

Since students must carry 12 units to get financial aid, little time is available for jobs, he said.

As for others, Phil said, he knows "a couple of brothers" who are "staying wherever they can stay." He said "quite a few" students still don't have textbooks and can't get financial aid to buy them.

Marnell and Phil agreed that jobs are nearly impossible for students to get, and "triply difficult" for black students.

What solutions do they see?

Phil said the college board should "get on the job and make financial aid available to people who need it." Board members could seek private funds — "they know people who have money," he said. "It doesn't have to be government money."

Financial Aids Officer Charles Herndon said College of Marin had the largest financial aids program last year among 16 schools in the Bay Area, and the program has increased this year.

While the students are demanding that the board make more aid money available, the board legally cannot spend any local tax money on the program. That would be an illegal gift of public funds, Herndon said.

Change-Making Unit Looted Of $50 Cash

A thief escaped with $50 this weekend from a dollar bill changing machine at the U-Kleen Car Wash, corner of Bellam Boulevard and Castro Lane.

Owner M. W. Pollock, who reported the theft to San Rafael police, said the change machine, valued at $800, was ripped apart in the break-in and was probably beyond repair.

West Marin Annexation To Water Board Due Review

A petition to annex the proposed Oceana Marina subdivision and the northern portion of Dillon Beach to the North Marin County Water District will go before the Local Agency Formation Commission tomorrow, Eugene Churchill, manager of the North Marin district, reported last night to the board.

The original annexation proposal was to include only the 640-acre development, but the district wanted to increase the area so it could construct a sewage treatment facility to serve the area, Churchill said. The petition being considered by the LAFC will take in the proposed development and Dillon Beach, except for the southern portion along Lawson's Beach and the University of the Pacific marine station, he said.

Another annexation petition is being circulated among residents of the area, and has not been turned in to the district, Churchill said.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

IMPROVEMENTS — Approved purchasing various pieces of equipment at a total cost of $2,120.

EASEMENT — Tabled a request from Western California Telephone Co. for an easement to run an underground cable under the spillway at Stafford Dam. The company did not offer to pay for the easement, Churchill said.

EXTENSIONS — Approved a system extension on Ignacio Lane — which will cost developer Freida Wurche $2,015 — and an extension off Center Road west of McClay Road to cost developer Milton E. Peterman $3,141.

RUSSIAN RIVER — Was informed by Churchill that it would receive the formal report on the Russian River water project at its meeting at 8 p.m. Oct. 21.

An entirely new freeze-dried process. Now you get a freeze-dried coffee that looks like fresh-ground. Smells like it. Tastes like it, too.

They said it couldn't be done. You couldn't combine the look, the flavor, and the aroma of real fresh-perked coffee with the convenience of an instant. But that was before exclusive Taster's Choice freeze-dried process was discovered.

Taster's Choice starts with perfect-perked coffee. We begin with freshly roasted, freshly-ground, premium coffee beans. Then, our coffee is perked by experts using an exclusive new method. The result? Perfect-perked coffee. Hearty, robust coffee with the kind of flavor you'd like to get every time. And—as you'll discover—you'll be able to.

Another big difference. Here again is where Taster's Choice leaves all others. We freeze it . . . quick as a wink . . . to forty degrees below zero. This sudden cold traps all the freshly-brewed coffee flavor and aroma. Next, all the ice is vacuumed away. Dry vacuumed, so not one bit of the flavor and aroma is lost.

Just like that, you're a champion coffee maker every time. Taster's Choice has all the deep, rich flavor and hearty coffee aroma you used to have to perk up a pot for, whenever you wanted real coffee. Try it. It's Freeze-Dried. Taster's Choice looks like, smells like, tastes like your own fresh-perked. Maybe even better.

Promotional Quiz Under Police Fire

A promotional scheme offering vacations at Reno, Tahoe or Las Vegas hotels — simply for answering a question and paying $12.99 — is under investigation by Marin and San Francisco authorities for possible fraud.

The problem is that at least three of the five luxury hotels listed for the vacations will not honor the winner's certificate, according to the San Francisco Better Business Bureau.

San Rafael police said there have been reports of persons being put up in "second rate" hotels.

PROMOTER CITED

Lance D. Detrude, 20, the local promoter using a firm name of Detrude Promotions and operating at 1108 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael, has been cited to appear at the district attorney's office at 9 a.m. tomorrow to determine if there is enough information for a fraud complaint.

The local group, operating on the same basis as M and R Promotions in San Francisco, are under a parent company, Miami Beach Vacations Inc. of Miami Beach, Fla., a Better Business Bureau spokesman said.

The spokesman said the promoter asks a question and gives three possible answers, two of which are correct and the third obviously wrong. "It's not a bonafide contest," he said.

Then the promoter sends a certificate out by messenger to collect the $12.99. The certificate, the bureau spokesman said, does state if accomodations aren't available in the hotels listed, equivalent accomodations will be provided.

'IT'S DECEPTIVE'

However, since three of the hotels are known not to have accomodations for the promotion, "it's certainly deceptive," the spokesman said.

The spokesman said the San Francisco Police Department's fraud detail is working on the case and predicted the promotion would be "brought to a grinding halt."

Regents Tell Reasons For Firing Red

LOS ANGELES (AP) — University of California regent John E. Canaday said the regents voted to dismiss admitted Communist Angela Davis as a UCLA instructor because of their belief a Communist is not free to teach the truth.

"We still believe that the same fundamental reasoning that caused the regents to ban Communists from teaching in 1940 — because they were not free from party discipline — is valid today," Canaday told a newsman yesterday.

"I'm not a Communist," said regent Ed Pauley, "and I don't propose to be a member of a board of regents or trustees that employees Communists or lets them propound their propoganda for a party that advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States.

"I would not have become a regent if we were going to employ Communists," he said. "I would not advocate the state giving the university money if we did such a thing."

Both men's opinions were included in a Los Angeles Times survey of the regents who voted for Miss Davis' dismissal. The regents voted 14-6 last Sept. 19 to institute dismissal proceedings against Miss Davis, an attractive black assistant professor of philosphy who wears her hair in Afro style.

Said DeWitt A. Higgs, regents chairman, "I personally feel that membership in the Communist party is not membership in a political party as I understand it. It is not in the best interests of the United States. It is a subersive organization."

DDT Now Under Fire As Cause Of Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Contending that DDT helps cause cancer, California Rural Legal Assistance has petitioned the Food and Drug Administration to ban the insecticide.

Attorneys for CRLA, supported by biologists' testimony, filed the petition yesterday on behalf of five California mothers and a farm worker.

Environmental Defense Fund, Inc., an organization of attorneys and scientists based in Stony Brook, N.Y., joined in the plea that DDT not be used in connection with agricultural products.

One of the plaintiffs, Mrs. Marilyn Vittor, wife of a University of California student and mother of an 18-month-old girl, said tests on her breast milk showed it contained four times the DDT the FDA tolerates for cow's milk which is sold.

"I'm in a real quandary now," Mrs. Vittor said, "because I want to nurse my next baby and yet I don't dare to. No one can tell me just how dangerous DDT is, or what it may do to my children."

The CRLA attorneys, citing a 1951 law that requires a ban on the use of food ingredients that induce cancer, said they also plan to file a similar action with the California Department of Agriculture.

Although there is little scientific evidence linking DDT to cancer in humans, its effect on animals is "now beyond question," said Dr. Charles F. Wurster, a biologist with the Environmental Defense Fund.

Panther Hunger Strike Is Fading

San Quentin's Black Panther hunger strike was phasing itself out today with only three of the approximately 60 black inmates in San Quentin's disiplinary unit refusing to eat last night, according to Associate Warden James W. Park.

The strike was called last Wednesday with the submission of demands that included the hiring of more black staff and immediate release of black inmates from the unit.

Park said today that the prison continues to release prisoners from the special displinary section individually as their behavior warrents.

Seventh-Grader Suspended Over Allegiance Protest

NEW YORK (AP) — A seventh-grade girl who doesn't believe in what the Pledge of Allegiance says about "liberty and justice for all" and one of her classmates have been suspended from a Queens junior high school for refusing to stand or leave the room during morning patriotic ceremonies.

Susan Keller, 12, "does not believe in God nor does she believe in what the pledge says about 'liberty and justice for all,'" her mother, Mrs. Caroline Keller, said yesterday.

"It's an act of conscience for her to remain seated as a protest, but the school has handled it as an act of insubordination," Mrs. Keller said.

Susan and Mary Frain were suspended yesterday from J.H.S. 217 in the Briarwood section of Queens. They will have a hearing next week with the district superintendent.

Two other students at the school refused to follow regulations, but were not suspended after assuring principal Harold Baron that they would stand in class or leave the room.

School rules were modified last year to allow students to be excused from saying the pledge if they stand quietly in the room or in the hall outside.

Suspect Held To Superior Court

Kenneth Foss Allen, 20, of Mill Valley, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of possessing heroin and a switchblade knife.

He was told to appear in court Tuesday for arraignment.

Allen was arrested by Corte Madera police after he was reported prowling through a residential neighborhood.

Nearly 1,500 Seek 970 Sonoma Openings

Sonoma State College has announced it received nearly 1,500 applications for admission to the school in February, but that it can consider only 970 for entrance.

Harold J. Soeters, dean of admissions and records, said that 1,018 applications were received on Oct. 1, the first day for filing. Realizing that many prospective students had spent the night on campus in hopes of submitting early applications, Soeters said the admissions staff was enlarged to the point that 555 applications were processed in the first one hour and 20 minutes.

Since the crunch of applications on opening day, Soeters said his office has received up to 400 more. "I guess the word got around that if your application wasn't in on the first day, there was no chance," Soeters said, adding that he was glad that the anticipated 4,000 applications did not come through. "We don't like to disappoint more people than we have to," he said.

Out of the 970 applications being screened, Soeters said he hoped only 500 students would be enrolled because of space limitations.

"Although it's been running a little higher, we hope nearly one-half either won't be eligible or will lose interest and not enroll," he said.

Medic Officer Due The Medal Of Honor

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Maj. Patrick Brady, one of the Army Medical Department's most decorated officers, flew to Washington early today to receive the Medal of Honor from President Richard M. Nixon.

The President will present the nation's highest medal to Brady and three other soldiers tomorrow, the White House said today.

Nuclear Test In Mid-Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—An intermediate range nuclear device was exploded under the Central Nevada desert today by the Atomic Energy Commission at its test site north of here.

"Everything appears to be normal," the AEC said. The weapon's force was estimated at less than the equivalent of one million tons of TNT.

The AEC had announced the blast might be felt here, but there were no reports that it had been.

The AEC described the test as part of the U.S. "defense-related" program, presumably a weapons test.

Weinberger Is An All-hours Man

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Casby President Nixon as chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, is a lawyer who has spent much of his adult life trying to par W. Weinberger, nominated make government run better and more economically.

Weinberger, 52, has been California state finance director under Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, the highest—and toughest—appointive office under the governor for a year and a half.

"He's an all-hours, day-and-night type of guy who likes to push improvements and doesn't let things lie," says one of Weinberger's chief aides. "He is so sharp he can go about his work twice as fast as others."

Weinberger often will reply to a question with a quip, accompanied by a sparkle in his eye and a chuckle in his voice.

When friends congratulated him on his appointment by Reagan in 1968, Weinberger joked, "I'm not sure congratulations are in order."

Weinberger's job has been to battle for Reagan's fiscal programs in the legislature, keep California's budgets within income and to save money wherever possible.

In those 18 months, "Cap" Weinberger has plunged into the political controversy that always goes with the $30,319-a-year job and seemingly relished it. He showed a knack for emerging with compromise solutions to disputes between Reagan and opposition Democrats in the legislature and those between Reagan and Republicans who disagreed with their own governor's money and tax programs.

A major coup was engineering a one-time only, election-year income tax cut of $84 million through the legislature this past year.

As a former assemblyman, Weinberger knew how to argue with lawmakers, when necessary, and to sit down and compromise.

Weinberger usually wears dark blue suits that look a size too large for him. But he is usually too absorbed in his work to notice such details.

He talks about finance in pragmatic dollars and cents terms rather than in philosophical phrasing.

CLASSED AS MODERATE

He is considered a moderate Republican whose chief goal as Reagan's finance chief was to "take care of the legitimate needs and requests" of state government within the income available.

That meant no new taxes this past year under a pledge made by Reagan, in addition to that $84-million one-time income tax cut bill.

Weinberger entered public life as a young GOP assemblyman from San Francisco in 1952. He became chairman of the Assembly Government Organization Committee which developed a program for consolidating all state water agencies into one department.

LOST A RACE

He spearheaded reform of the state's liquor laws and ran unsuccessfully for attorney general after two two-year terms in the Assembly.

Weinberger returned to his law firm, but remained active in politics as state Republican chairman for one year and writing a newspaper column. When Reagan sought the Republican nomination for governor in 1966, he also was one of the earliest to join the Reagan team after the election. First he was an adviser and then Reagan named him chairman of the state's "Little Hoover Commission" on government efficiency and economy.

Born and reared in San Francisco, Weinberger is a graduate of Harvard Law School. He served on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's intelligence staff in the Pacific during World War II.

After the war, he became a law clerk, went into private practice and taught law.

Car Theft, Dope Suspect Nabbed

Petaluma police arrested a man at 6:20 a.m. today and booked him into city jail on suspicion of auto theft and possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Police Capt. Henry Eslick said that William Jacob Ault, 26, of no fixed address, was arrested at the corner of D and Payran streets when he was observed driving a car reported stolen. Police said a few pieces of narcotics equipment were found in the car.

Marinwood Fire Slate Elected

Engineer Irving L. Schwartz last night was reelected president of the Marinwood Firemen's Association. His one-year term will run until October 1970.

Schwartz said the association directors authorizes the purchase of lumber to build eight more picnic tables for the barbecue area at Marinwood Community Park.

Tomales Tidelands Fill Case Due Rehearing

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A ruling permitting development of a parcel on Tomales Bay, which could deprive Californians of their right to hundreds of thousands of acres of tidelands, will be reheard by the District Court of Appeal.

The ruling, by Marin Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner was on a suit filed by Larry H. Marks Jr., who wanted to fill and develop a tidelands parcel he owns on Tomales Bay.

Peter D. Whitney objected that public navigation and fishing rights over Marks' parcel barred Marks from filling it.

Judge Gardiner ruled he could find no state or public right to exist over Marks' parcel and ruled in his favor. Whitney appealed to the District Court of Appeal, but lost.

The court said that the 1868 legislative act that authorized the sale of tidelands in Tomales Bay had the effect of terminating the public rights over the tidelands.

The result of the ruling was to set a precedent that tideland property owners had an unrestricted right to fill and develop their holdings.

The precedent came to the attention of the state attorney general's office which decided to join with Whitney in a petition asking the appellate court to rehear the case on the ground the court had made a legal error by ignoring precedents in similar cases.

New Commander For Two Rock

Lt. Col. Joseph Jewett, a 24-year veteran of the Army, has replaced Lt. Col. William Vernau as base commander at the Two Rock Ranch Army Station, West of Petaluma.

Jewett served as executive officer under Col. Vernau who has been reassigned to Vietnam.

A specialist in the Russian language, he is attending evening classes at San Francisco State College to obtain a masters' degree.

A native of Pasadena, he served as an infantry officer until 1956 when he was transferred to the Army security agency because of a partial disability from injuries sustained in the Korean war.

Jewett served in World War II from 1942 to 1945 as an enlisted man and returned to the service in 1950 with a commission.

Jewett plans to retire in May, 1971 and to begin a teaching career.

Four Incumbents Win In Marin City

Four recently appointed members were reelected and one incumbent defeated yesterday in light voting for five seats on the Marin City Council, officials of the Economic Opportunity Council reported today.

Elected were Terrie Harris, Ruth Hodges, Royce McLemore, C. J. Williams and Peggy Ann Bullock. The defeated councilman was Ronald Foster, who had served on the council for a year.

Miss Harris, Mrs. Hodges, and Miss Bullock and Williams were appointed to the council Aug. 29 when four members were removed for missing three consecutive meetings. Mrs. McLemore had not served on the council.

Miss Harris was the top vote-getter in the small turnout, garnering 48 votes. Mrs. McLemore and Williams each got 45; Mrs. Bullock, 42, Mrs. Hodges, 40, and Foster, 31.

Incumbents on the council not required to stand for reelection to the nine-member board are Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr., Mrs. Collie B. Gaines, Frank Phillips Sr. and Joseph B. Knighten.

The primary concern of the council now is the use of a $50,000 development grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The council has hired a community coordinator to assist it in raising funds for development.

Kentucky has more than 2,000 active coal mines operating in nearly half its 120 counties.

San Anselmo Schools Patching Up Discussed

The San Anselmo School District board focused attention last night on possible correction of inadequate facilities at three of the district's seven schools.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi told the board and an audience of more than 50 persons that the heating, ventilating and electrical systems needed repair at Iasbel Cook School, that bad toilet facilities should be fixed at Brookside School and that soil erosion and poor drainage were evident at Sleepy Hollow School.

Most of the discussion dealt with Isabel Cook School, Parodi said, with many parents in the audience feeling that "we should do something right now and not talk about it."

Parodi said the board recognized the need for corrective measures, but wondered about financing. Suggestions of a bond issue, even a small one, were greeted cautiously, Parodi said, and it is not clear at this time whether budget funds would be available.

Parodi said cost estimates of the work would be presented to the board at a later date.

Poor ventilation is a major woe at Isabel Cook, the superintendent explained, because two sets of windows are needed fronting on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to lessen traffic noise.

Despite recurring reports outside the district of possible widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard past the school — a move which could eliminate the school building — Parodi said such a project does not appear likely in the distant future, basing his remarks on a letter from City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell.

"It appears most likely that the school will remain and the problems will stay with us," he said.

San Anselmo School District Board Also:

BUSSING — Upheld the district policy of bussing only kindergarten through third grade pupils who live three-quarters of a mile from school. Several parents had asked district for extension of the policy to older pupils.

REPORTS — Heard reports on the gifted children and kindergarten programs. The board asked the district's gifted child committee to recommend board policy establishing comprehensive methods to identify gifted children, instituting complete coverage of the program in all schools, setting standards for districtwide use of program funds and creating increased communication with the community.

TEACHERS — Decided to hire four kindergarten teachers and a kindergarten teacher aide, instead of five teachers, for Sleepy Hollow and Yolansdale schools. The kindergarten program at Yolansdale will be on staggered session, with one group of students arriving an hour later than the others.

UNIFICATION — Said it would attend a meeting at 8 p.m. Oct. 16 at White Hill School in Fairfax with the Fairfax, Lagunitas and Nicasio boards to discuss a unification plan within the Sir Francis Drake High School attendance area.

EASEMENTS — Formally approved payment of $16,000 to dissolve an easement through school district property at Sunny Hills and extinguished a 40-foot easement at the Red Hill School site to enable takeover by the city for use as a street.

MINIMUM DAY — Learned that grades 1 to 6 will be on a minimum day Monday in order that teachers may take inservice training on a new series of reading texts.

PERSONNEL — Received the resignations of Mrs. Gay Rear, a secretary in the district office, and Mrs. Rose Real, a secretary at Isabel Cook School, and appointed Mrs. Tamara Sarempa, who will serve part time, and Mrs. Miriam Maxwell, respectively, to replace them. Also named Mrs. Lorraine DeDevore, educationally handicapped teacher aide at Yolansdale School, $180 per month; Mrs. Sharon Segale, kindergarten teacher aide at Yolansdale School, $180 per month; Ronald K. Mueller, educationally handicapped teacher aide at Brookside School, $180 per month, and appointed Mrs. Carol Falk as a first grade teacher at Wade Thomas School at an annual salary of $6,129, reassigning Mrs. Beverly Ludwig from the first grade to kindergarten at that school.

MEETING — Said it would next meet at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 21 at Red Hill School.

Fiscal Panel Finds No Fat In District

The Kentfield School District citizens committee has completed its three-month study of district finance and come up with three major conclusions, chairman Stanley T. Smith said today.

The committee will also have detailed recommendations for the board when it reports at Monday night's school board meeting, Smith said.

The three major conclusions:

A tax rate increase election would not be appropriate now, because last year's closing balance was better than expected and because "major changes" are expected in the district property tax base in the next year or two.

The district should use currently authorized tax rate overrides to supplement the regular tax rate, to put school programs on a pay-as-you-go basis instead of tapping reserves.

The committee could not find any significant expenditures which could be cut without effecting existing programs. The existing program is a good one and should be maintained.

The last conclusion was a surprise to the committee, Smith said. He said the group had expected to find some fat in the budget.

He said the school board in the past has been reluctant to levy state-authorized tax overrides, feeling that taxes imposed should be voted locally. If authorized overrides were levied, Smith said, it would add 10 cents to the tax rate.If the overrides become inadequate to balance the budget, the board should then go to the voters for a tax rate increase, the committee recommended.

$750 Fine Set For Pot Sale

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court yesterday fined a marijuana peddler $750 for selling about two pounds of the weed to a narcotics agent.

He also placed Andrew Lee Segal, 22, of San Anselmo, on two years probation.

Segal was convicted by a jury of the sale on Jan. 22, 1968 after a trial in July in Judge Keating's courtroom.

Collision Hurts Mother, Child

A Kentfield woman and her 3-year-old daughter were injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding struck another on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Stetson Avenue, the California Highway Patrol said today.

Linda Ewing was to see her own doctor for a pain in her right arm and her daughter, Jacqueline, for bruises to the forehead suffered in the 2:40 p.m. accident.

The patrol said a car driven by Jon Lewis Ewing, 29, of 6 Wolfe Grade, Kentfield, hit one driven by Roy Weldon Caples, 38, of 6 Diablo Court, Novato, when Caples's car turned into the path of Ewing's.

Dope Ring Cited In San Geronimo

Five teen-agers have been cited to Marin juvenile authorities after officers said they broke up a ring of youngsters which was using LSD and marijuana in San Geronimo.

Four boys, aged 15 and 16, and a 12-year-old girl were cited, according to deputies after it was discovered they had been cutting school and gathering in a "fort" belonging to two brothers where they used the drugs.

Mobil Oil Is Given Station Remodel Nod

Plans for rebuilding of the Mobil Oil service station at 1600 Tiburon Boulevard have been approved by the Tiburon Planning Commission, Wayne Moody, Planning Director, reported.

The approval, which came Monday night, was contingent on several modifications of the plan recommended by Moody and the board of design review, including simplifying and lowering the roof of the main building and canopies and simplifying materials by eliminating brick veneer.

The changes also called for a smaller sign and increased parkings spaces, Moody said.

In another hearing, the commission upheld Moody in his denial of an appeal by Ted W. Steiger for a minor subdivision because it did not meet the requirements of the city's lot slope policy.

A hearing on revisions of the city's parking and loading ordinance was put over to the special meeting at 8 p.m. today at city hall at which time a final draft of a resolution implementing the downtown plan also will be discussed.

In other action, the commission set a public hearing for its next regular meeting on Nov. 3 to rezone a parcel of land owned by Fred G. Zelinsky at Mar West and Tiburon Boulevard to be annexed by Tiburon.

deGaulle's Population Boom Dream Faltering

PARIS (UPI) — Charles de Gaulle dreamed of a powerful nation of 100 million Frenchmen by the year 2000. With less than a third of a century to go, the population is only halfway there with little prospects of a baby boom.

De Gaulle's vision was for young people to get married early, and then have three children or more. Neither is in fashion.

But it's not just the image that the men who succeeded Charles de Gaulle are worried about. It's the serious threat to the survival of France as a big power if the population fails to keep pace with the rest of the world.

They follow De Gaulle's example in taking to heart Franklin D. Roosevelt's dictum that "a nation that doesn't grow is a nation that commits suicide."

In the biggest country in Europe outside of the Soviet Union, there are now only 50 million people after years of official campaigns to get the birthrate up. Last year only 833,000 children were born. In 1964, the high point of a baby boom after World War II, it was 874,000.

The number of marriages was higher last year compared to 1964. But the experts reported the figures show that a smaller percentage of the available young people are getting married.

Starting this fall, the government is launching yet another campaign to halt the trend. The "make more babies" drive will aim at the young marrieds.

On television, radio and in the press they will read and hear the slogan: "Children must be born to young parents." There will be short films showing the joys of more—and earlier—children.

There will be appeals to patriotism. As long-time Gaullist Michel Debre, currently defense minister of France, but it in 1963: "A satisfactory rhythm of births to aim for is at least three children in every family. It is the national interest."

Today the national average is 2.2 children per family, compared to 2.4 in 1964, another sign of falling birthrate.

France's population problems go back into history. First the military campaigns of Napoleon decimated the young men early in the 19th century.

After a slow build-up over 100 years, World War I slaughtered millions more, to the point that in 1920 the alarmed National Assembly restricted contraception.

But still the population refused to grow. De Gaulle tried to encourage new blood by awarding generous money payments and other privileges to young families.

Although De Gaulle's final months in office marked the official arrival of the 50 millionth Frenchman—halfway mark to his 100 million dream—the outlook is not cheerful.

Generally the high cost of living, the housing shortage and French couples' realization that the arrival of each new child means a drop in their living standards, are blamed.

With increased austerity facing the French nation in the wake of the devaluation of the franc, there are few hopes the new campaign will be more successful than any in the past.

Prince Charles To Be Richer On 21st Birthday

LONDON (UPI) — Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, is about to become a man of 21—and a very rich one.

On his 21st birthday Nov. 14, he starts to collect an annual income of 110,000 pounds ($264,000) a year free of tax. He also inherits stocks, jewels and valuable objects of art left to him by his grandfather, King George VI. How much this amounts to is a royal family secret but the total is guessed to be a handsome one. His mother, Queen Elizabeth, may be the world's richest woman.

However wealthy he actually is, Prince Charles was in line to be even wealthier. But two weeks ago it was announced that the prince had decided to accept only half the annual income of $528,000 from the Duchy of Cornwall, a 140,000-acre estate that was created by King Edward III in 1337 and since then has always become the property of the eldest son of the reigning monarch. Prince Charles began receiving some of this income, about $72,000 a year, on his 18th birthday.

There was no formal announcement why the prince will take only half the duchy's profits and turn the other half over to the government. But a Buckingham Palace spokesman said that with the government in financial straits, Charles "felt he wanted to make a gesture of this sort."

Should the prince marry, as seems probable, the financial arrangement will be subject to review.

Although the princely birthday is still two months away, plans are already in the making for Queen Elizabeth to give a big party, probably at Windsor Castle with all the British and many European royals invited for a rare get-together of the remaining European bluebloods.

Likely names on the invitation list are exiled King Constantine of Greece with Queen Anne-Marie, Prince Juan Carlos of Spain and his wife, members of the German ex-royal house who are Prince Charles' cousins, and royal representatives from Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The prince's 21st birthday is a time for special gifts and celebrations as with any other person, but it is not his official "coming of age." Under special royal law, he officially became an adult on his 18th birthday, able to rule on his own as king instead of having to reign through an older person acting as regent.

Stecher Will Serve Again

Alto Sanitary District director Paul R. Stecher has agreed to serve another term, director Carl O. Heynen Jr. reported.

Heynen said the directors, meeting Monday night, agreed to ask the board of supervisors to appoint Stecher to one of two vacancies. The board still is seeking candidates for the other vacancy, he said.

Directors also approved a resolution asking the federal government to appropriate funds for the purchase of remaining lands to be included in the Point Reyes National Seashore, Heynen said.

War's Bomb Relics Still Pose Threat

LONDON (UPI)—Britons not yet born at the end of World War II are being endangered by the war's perilous "leftovers."

Years after the air raid sirens sounded their last warnings, unexploded bombs keep coming to light.

Many are dug up during excavations on building sites. The sands along the coastline conceal a crop of mines planted to repel the Nazi invasion that never came, and beaches have to be swept before each holiday season for the deadly canisters and other still-explosive relics of the war.

The army also has littered acres of land with unexploded shells on its firing ranges because the soldiers need somewhere to practice gunnery.

The bomb disposal units operated by the services have their work cut out for years to come.

Miraculously, casualties are few. A disposal expert was killed in 1962. A tractor driver was injured in 1968 when he plowed up a mortar shell.

"Most of the wartime bombs are harmless now but it depends on the type of fuse," an army spokesman said. "Some of them can be as dangerous as the day when they were dropped. The explosive can also deteriorate into a crystalline form and that can be dangerous."

A Royal Navy team of divers this summer had to tackle the most dangerous bomb disposal operation since the war.

When the German freighter Arnold Mask ran aground on the English Channel island of Jersey in 1943 and sank while trying to evade a Royal Air Force attack, she carried a cargo of 1,000-pound bombs.

They lay undiscovered in the sea for 26 years a mile from Jersey's capital and port of St. Helier, until a local skin diver found himself surrounded by them. About 70 were visible. More could have been buried in the sea bed. They were dangerous and had to be removed. The fuse contained picric acid, which can become unstable if seawater seeps in. Rough weather could have set them off.

Another dangerous find this summer was a crate of phosphorus bombs uncovered on a resort beach at Bournemouth on the south coast. These bombs were made by the war-time Home Guard, out of bottles filled with phosphorus, benzine and rubber solution, to throw at tanks if they made a landing on the beaches.

London's building sites regularly produce bombs dropped in the blitz. A trickier proposition was a 550-pound bomb discovered in 1966 in the River Thames during a diver's inspection of one of London's busiest rail bridges, Blackfriars. The bomb would have blown up the bridge if it had gone off. The disposal squad had to feel for the bomb with their fingers because they could not see in the cloud of mud they raised.

The army's Royal Engineers, who deal with most of the bombs found said: "The figures are fairly steady at six a year but you get the odd year when they go up to 10, maybe 20. Last year was a high year with 22."

Their bomb disposal unit spokesman said, "We know where quite a lot are which are too difficult to recover, in marshes and that sort of thing. To get rid of them would be a major engineering feat and there's no point in recovering them anyway. Then there's quite a lot that we don't know about that will be uncovered on building sites."

12 To Receive Guide Dogs In Saturday Rites

Trixy, a golden retriever raised by a San Rafael 4-H member, will be among guide dogs given to 12 students graduating from Guide Dogs for the Blind in San Rafael Saturday.

Stacy Hildreth of 250 Emerystone Terrace will be present at the 2:30 p.m. outdoor exercises at the school to present Trixy to Perle Olson, a 72-year-old housewife from Castro Valley.

Others graduating are Terry Shinn of Tigard, Ore.; Nick Analla and Thelma Morris, both of Oakland; Phyllis Bradford of Sacramento; Trine Klesel of Port Lavaca, Tex.; Walter Odom of Escondido; James Pew of San Francisco; Bert Pool of Santa Ana; Ramon Salinas of Premont, Tex.; Lorin Smiley of Hammond, La., and Elsie Van de Wall of Olympia, Wash.

Tot Of Grog For Sailors On Way Out?

LONDON (UPI) — Yo-ho-ho and a cup of tea?

That's what British sailors may be drinking on a cold night at sea instead of their tot of grog, and curses may be heard from London to Hong Kong.

It's because defense ministry chiefs at their desks in London are considering abolition of the daily rum ration served to sailors on her majesty's warships since 1731.

The U.S. Navy may run its ship dry, but the British sailor expects as an inalienable right his half gill—one eighth of a pint—of grog, or "Nelson's blood," as rum is called.

The Navy spokesman at the defense ministry sounded distinctly embarrassed when asked if the rumors about the possibility of dropping the tradition were true.

"Well, officially yes," he said. "All we can say is the matter is being considered but no decision has yet been taken on it or what might replace it."

Perhaps they are worried about the $204,000 cost to the taxpayer, but no one has ever complained. Nor has anyone been seen drunk on the stuff. Could it be jealousy because the privilege is due only to seamen? Officers must buy their own.

Recently, however, they just looked on and chuckled when Queen Elizabeth's 19-year-old daughter, Princess Anne, was invited to sample a diluted glass at a recent review of ships of the fleet.

The Royal Navy originally introduced the rum ration to replace the prodigious quantities of beer drunk by sailors of the day. They used to get half a pint of rum, but that generous handout was cut to an eighth of a pint in 1850, which caused plenty of dissatisfaction at the time.

In 1937, the admiralty decided that senior ratings could continue drinking their rum neat, but junior ratings must get theirs mixed with two parts water. It is a strong potion at 95.5 proof when the British public can only buy rum at 70 proof.

A seaman must be 20 years old to qualify for the ration at all. If he does not want to drink it, he gets paid threepence (3 cents) a day in lieu, but 85 per cent accept the rum rather than the money.

The ration is handed out at noon aboard Navy ships wherever they may be, just as happened on the sail-driven frigates in Nelson's day. Today the ships are guided missile destroyers and atomic-powered Polar submarines are concerned, I think there are special times when the rum is served, when they are not likely to be required for watch duties or anything like that," the Navy spokesman said.

If the naval lords decide the rum ration must go, it won't be their first disputed decision. Lord Mountbatten of Burma, admiral of the fleet and former first sea lord, is fond of telling the story of an officer searching the street for the admiralty building.

"On which side is the admiralty?" he asked.

He was told: "Ours, I suppose, but you doubt it sometimes."

Next Moon Men Plan 'Rock Dance'

By AL ROSSITER JR.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Apollo 12 astronauts plan to perform a series of "rock dances" during their traverses across the moon's Ocean of Storms next month.

They will be in the interest of science, aimed at expanding man's knowledge of the lunar surface and clearing the way for expeditions to different types of terrain next year.

Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr., and Alan L. Bean plan to land on the moon Nov. 19 while Richard F. Gordon remains in lunar orbit. They will begin their expedition with a Nov. 4 launching and return to a Pacific Ocean splashdown 10 days later.

Conrad and Bean will conduct two three and one half-hour surface excursions. During the first they will set up a nuclear-powered geophysical station to report for at least a year on moonquakes, magnetic forces, solar wind activity and the moon's extremely thin atmosphere.

During the second moonwalk, which may range up to a half mile from their landing craft, Conrad and Bean plan to act as geologists and carefully survey the surface and collect a wide variety of rock and soil samples.

"We'll take a look at all the interesting geologic features within our radius and document them well, with photographs, with samples and with any verbal description that we think might enhance the total data-gathering procedure," Bean said at a recent briefing.

"To do this, Pete and I have got what I call a rock dance that we use every time we come up to a rock, or to a crater, or to a sink hole or whatever else we've got. The technique is roughly this:

"Pete leads the way. He's got tongs in one hand so he can select a rock. He's got a small shovel in the other so he can dig a trench or actually pick up soil.

"I follow along and I've got the lunar tools...and I walk along with him with the tools on the tool carrier (a three-legged stand) and the sample bags on the tool carrier.

"Both of us have cameras. We walk up to a rock. I take a picture down sun and Pete steps across sun and takes two pictures, a stereo pair. Pete walks over with his tongs, picks up a rock, or with his shovel trenches, or picks up dirt, depending on what the interest of the particular site is.

"He hands it to me, I put it in the bag, give it a small description if one's necessary. I fold the bag up so that this sample will be a discrete sample and not mixed with the others.

"I take a picture of the area after we sample it so we can see what we removed, if it disturbed the suface and to what extent. Then we pick up our equipment and go to the next site."

Bean said he and Conrad have had seceral years of geologic training with increased emphasis on basic field surveys and rock identification and collection during the past six or eight months.

He and Conrad also have studied the samples brought back in July from the Sea of Tranquility by Apollo 11's Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr.

"The rocks they brought back fall into three or four definite classes," Bean said. "By knowing these, I think we're going to be in better shape to look out for any rocks that don't fall into these categories.

"We're going to try and collect as many as possible and emphasize any differences we can see from the Apollo 11 samples."

The two astronauts plan to bring back two boxes of lunar material plus a bag or two carrying any extra samples they might have collected.

"Hopefully, when we get back the geologists are going to say that we've looked over that site enough so they can get a good history of it," Bean said.

Reagan Asked For Fair Play

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey has informed Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California that one good campaign solicitation deserves another.

Hughes wrote to Reagan today asking his financial help in electing former Gov. Robert B. Meyner, the Democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey this year.

The letter was a response to a letter over Reagan's signature as chairman of the National Republican Governor's Conference asking Hughes' help in electing Republican Linwood Holton governor of Virginia. New Jersey and Virginia are the only states electing governors this year.

Israel Reports Jet Raid, Fight With Guerrillas

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets attacked an Arab guerrilla base 22 miles inside northern Jordan east of Irbid early today and returned safely, the Israeli military command said.

A Jordanian military spokesman said the Israeli jets made two strikes two hours apart near Irbid, killing two civilians and wounding six with rockets and machine-gun fire.

The raid was one of the deepest penetrations by Israeli warplanes in Jordan since the 1967 war.

The Israeli command also said one of its army patrols killed five Arab guerrillas during the night when it intercepted a saboteur band north of the Abdullah Bridge across the Jordan River. No Israeli casualties were reported.

Ex-Chaplain Loses Out On Annulment

STOCKTON (AP) — A former Franciscan priest who was deputy chief of U.S. Navy chaplains, has lost a San Joaquin Superior County Court action by which he sought to end a five-year marriage.

"It would be a waste of time for this court to proceed to trial," said Judge John B. Cechini yesterday in an 11-page ruling denying an annulment to Capt. Michael J. MacInnes, 53, of Alameda County.

Cechini said the complaint of MacInnes, who retired from his Navy chaplain post last July 1, was "based on false and untenable allegations."

The judge directed MacInnes to seek relief in divorce court.

MacInnes sought the annulment on grounds that when he married Mrs. Beryl Van Praagh Hauser, 45, of Washington, D.C. in 1964, he believed her to be a widow. He said when he learned last January that she was not a widow, but divorced, he was concerned with the "danger of losing my immortal soul." His marriage wasn't known until after he retired.

Judge Cechini said Mrs. MacInnes "did in fact" misrepresent that she was a widow, but said MacInnes "realized full well (his marriage) was not sanctioned by his church."

"He could not have been too concerned since he made no effort to get the marriage approved by the Holy See," the court added.

The annulment petition was in court here for the second time. MacInnes was granted an annulment July 3, but that was set aside by agreement of both sides after Mrs. MacInnes protested she was not given advance notice.

She said the first she knew that the annulment was granted was when her support payments were stopped by the Navy.

She opposes the annulment, she said, because she does not want to lose the "privileges of the wife of a retired Naval officer."

California Jobs Level At Peak

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Civilian employment set a new record in August when it reached 8,096,000, surpassing the June record by 44,000, according to Gilbert L. Sheffield, director of the state department of employment.

Sherffield noted that the August level was 58,000 above the July peak, and 231,000 higher than the figures for the same month in 1968.

Unemployment decreased by 5,000 to a total of 380,000 for the month, but still remained 20,000 above the level of August 1968.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Treatment To Cure Or Control Lifelong Hypertension Needs

VAN DELLEN

By definition, hypertension means a persistent elevation of the blood pressure. The term does not apply to persons who have a single high reading and normal levels thereafter.

Persistent also means a lifelong disease that may not be curable but is controllable. Many physicians try to find the cause but all too often it cannot be found.

The curable forms usually stem from circulatory disorders of the kidney and tumors of the adrenal gland.

HIGH READINGS are not so important as what the blood pressure is doing to the heart, brain, kidneys, and retina of the eyes. This is determined via blood tests, urinalysis, X-rays, and electrocardiograms.

Circulatory disorders of the kidney and tumors of the adrenal gland are curable. The remainder manage on medicines and good health habits. Many drugs are available, but each is prescribed on an individual basis. Through trial-and-error, a medicine is found that fits the bill.

A DIURETIC such as a thiazide or spironolactone usually is tried first. Another reading is taken from 10 days to two weeks later. If the pressure is still elevated, it may be necessary to adjust the dosage or add another drug, such as reserpine.

If these measures do not sufficiently lower the pressure, a stronger remedy is available. Among these are methyldopa, quanethidine, pargyline, or the newcomer, debrisoquin.

MANY HYPERTENSIVES report adverse side effects requiring additional adjustments in dosages or substitutions. The physician is aware of all possible reactions and advises his patient to call him if certain symptoms develop.

These agents have prolonged the lives of many, mainly by lessening the effects of hypertension of the arteries of the heart, brain, and kidneys. The sooner the blood pressure is brought down, the better the outcome.

INDISPOSED BY 'CHANGE'

A reader writes: When a woman is going through the menopause and suffers with hot flashes, is it bad for her to get upset? I have headaches and don't know if it's from the menopause or too much confusion.

REPLY

The emotional aspects of the menopause are well known. Hormones usually take care of the hot flashes, but a tranquilizer may be necessary to calm you down.

ICE CREAM AND CLOGGED ARTERIES

F. D. A. writes: Does eating lots of ice cream clog the arteries?

REPLY

No. I assume you refer to the fat content of ice cream. This dairy product contains about 12.5 per cent fat, compared with 81 for butter. High-fat diets have been linked to arteriosclerosis, but this is not going to stop me from enjoying an occasional dish of ice cream.

KNOT ON FINGER

C. C. writes: I have a painless, hard knot, the size of a bird egg on the inside of my right index finger. Should anything be done about it?

REPLY

See your physician because disorders varying from a bone tumor to arthritis may be responsible.

State Gonorrhea Tally Up Sharply

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state Department of Public Health has reported gonorrhea cases have increased to 63,190 during the first nine months of the year, some 10,000 case more than in 1968 and 20,000 mire than were reported in 1967.

For the week ending Sept. 27, the number of cases reported during the same week of 1968.

Respiratory infections rated second on the list of selected notifiable diseases with 372 for the week, down from the 1968 total for the same week of 1967. During 1969, some 19,500 cases have been reported, also less than the 25,613 reported in 1968, and down more than 10,000 from the 30,815 reported in 1967.

A second venereal disease, syphilis, rated third spot on the list with 203 cases for the week, down from the 259 cases in 1968 and 228 cases in 1967. Total syphilis cases for the year to date was 7,966 compared with 7,984 in 1968 and 8,821 in 1967.

Cardinals Get Richie Allen In Trade With Phils

JIM GILMARTIN

Mackin Wins No. 1 Quarterback Spot

Great news from UCLA where Don Mackin of Mill Valley has won the number one quarterback job with the Bruin frosh over three other highly-regarded recruits.

Ray Bennigson of San Rafael, who bird dogs this area for UCLA, says the former Tamalpais High all-leaguer started out as number three man behind two Southern California hot shots but in two weeks has leap-frogged over them.

DON MACKIN

"Donny was a little tense at first," said Bennigson, former Bruin end, "but he has regained his usual calm and is throwing beautifully."

He said Mackin is a bit awed by the size of the UCLA's seven-man freshman coaching staff. "He can name six of the seven already," laughed the recruiter.

The Brubabes will host Cal Oct. 17 then invade Stanford for an Oct. 25 game that should attract Mackin's many Marin fans.

In Memory Of Ron Maloney

It's to be named in memory of Ron Maloney, an all-star second baseman at Marin Catholic in 1966-67, who was killed last August in a motorcycle accident.

"Ron was a tough and real good little guy," said Hughes. "As a ball player he reminded me a lot of the Giants' Ron Hunt in that he played his heart out and gave everything he had at all times. We just wanted to make this award annually to our most inspirational player because that's what Ron was when he was here."

THE INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL editor, whose forehead extends to the back of his neck, thence down the spine to the bottom of his heels, faced a dilemma Monday: Who should he assign to cover the latest meeting of the embattled Strategic Hair Command, a long hair or short hair reporter?

With an explosive meeting expected at the Tamalpais School District board over the hair issue, a reporter's appearance in an emotional throng could be risky. So our editor compromised by assigning Alan Jones who is short clipped on top but sports a cookie duster up front.

Survived The Hair Raid

Jones survived the hair raid nicely and is in line for a raise. Fringe benefits, you know, for impartial reporting.

EX-TERRA LINDA High all-leaguer Bruce Kilby has been red-shirted by Arizona State. A junior college transfer, Kilby was rated a possible starting defensive end but his transcript didn't arrive at ASU by the deadline, making him ineligible. Kilby's red shirt status still gives him three years of varsity eligibility.

BILL INGRAM, ex-Drake and College of Marin, is starting quarterback at U.C. Davis where in the first two games he accounted for 377 years total offense and averaged 40 yards on his punting.

Royals Name New Manager

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Royals announced today Joe Gordon will not return as manager of the American League baseball club in 1970, and will be replaced by Charlie Metro, director of scouting and instruction.

Gordon, 54, said he was stepping down at his own request. He will remain with the Royals as special scout and liaison man with the club's farm department.

DOUBLED

Metro, 50, doubled for the Royals in their first year as director of scouting and minor league instruction and a field coach for Gordon the last five weeks of the 1969 season.

"I am not returning as field manager of the Royals," Gordon told a news conference at Municipal Stadium. "However, I'm moving upstairs. I'm going to work under Cedric Tallis as a liaison man and general trouble shooter."

Tallis, executive vice president of the Royals, said, "it is with a great deal of sadness that I see one of the class guys in baseball depart the managerial end of the game."

NOT PUBLIC

Metro signed a one-year contract. Terms were not made public.

The Royals finished fourth under Gordon in the American League's West Division. They won 69 games, missing by one of tying the record for victories by an expansion team.

Ralston Out Of Tourney: Numb Hand

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "It's my hand," muttered Dennis Ralston. "Foot fault!" shouted the umpire. The two unrelated statements led to two unusual moments in the opening round of the Howard Hughes Open Tennis Championships.

In more conventional play on the Frontier Hotel courts yesterday, seven of the eight seeded men advanced to today's second round.

DARKNESS

Eighth-seeded Fred Stolle of Australia will play his first match today against England's Roger Taylor. It was delayed a day due to darkness. The women's singles begin tomorrow with the tourney ending Saturday.

Ralston, the pro from Bakersfield, was obviously off his form as Pierre Barthes of Franced dropped him 6-3 in the first set of their match in the $50,000 tournament.

Ralston's play deteriorated even further as he dropped the first game of the second set. Then he walked off the court, defaulting to Barthes.

'MY HAND'

"It's my hand," he said. "There's no feeling in the bottom two fingers of my right hand. I can't feel the racquet," he said.

Ralston refused to comment on the possible cause or seriousness of the difficulty.

Earlier in the day, Rumanian Davis Cupper Ille Nastase appeared to be on the verge of defeating No. 3 seed John Newcombe of Australia.

Nastase was leading 3-2 in the third set after splitting the first two. But the umpire called a foot fault on a Nastase sixth-game serve, the baseline judge said the serve was a clean one and a five-minute discussion began.

TO VICTORY

They eventually told Nastase to replay the point – but the Rumanian's game disintegrated and Newcombe, without losing another game, swept to a 1-6, 6-3, 6-3 victory.

Zelmo Beaty Latest To Jump To The ABA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Strategy of the young American Basketball Association in its war against the Establishment closely resembles that of its football brethren with the latest skirmish landing Zelmo Beaty on a four-year contract.

The 6-foot-9 veteran center of the Atlanta Hawks signed with the Los Angeles Stars of the ABA and announced yesterday he would sit out the coming season.

His ABA pact starts with the 1970-71 campaign since the National Basketball Association club holds an option on his services this year.

General Manager Jim Hardy and owner Jim Kirst of the Stars both admitted they expect a future merger with the NBA, but with two clubs in Los Angeles—the Stars and the NBA Lakers owned by Jack Kent Cooke.

In Beaty, the Stars landed the No. 2 scorer and top rebounder of the Hawks, who only last year moved from St. Louis to Atlanta and reached the Western Division finals before being defeated by the Lakers.

Asked about a possible merger during a news conference hailing the signing of Beaty, Hardy answered:

"I feel a merger eventually will come about with two teams in Los Angeles — unless Mr. Cooke wants to move the Lakers. I definitely think two teams can operate successfully in Los Angeles."

Kirst said: "At this time there are no talks going on about merger (although they have been held previously.) We probably are th biggest roadblocks. It's easy to sit down and talk of shuttling the Los Angeles Stars, but we want no part of it."

Beaty's contract terms weren't revealed. But he said the Stars will pay him more per year than did the Hawks under a three-year pact which expired Sept. 30.

He has brought his family to Southern California where, he says, opportunities are better.

"I'll look for a job for the coming year but you have to make some sacrifices," he said in explaining his decison not to play with Atlanta this season.

In Georgia, a spokesman for the Hawks commented: "We have filed suit against Beaty to keep him from playing with anyone else, and a hearing on the suit comes up Thursday."

Young Guatemalan Olympic Swim Star Heads The Field

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Swimming is just one of the seven events on the schedule for the 36th annual Playday Saturday at San Domenico School for Girls, but put your money on the Sleepy Hollow water maids.

On the San Domenico swim team will be a young girl who was in the Olympics last year and another who has her sights set on the 1972 Games.

The Olympic "veteran" is 15-year-old Silvana del Carmen des Asturias who was the Guatemalan women's swim team at the Mexico City Olympics last year. That's right — she was THE women's team.

"Our swim team wasn't too big," said Sylvana, "just two boys and me."

The brown-eyed, brown-haired Silvana is a boarding student at San Domenico, and of course is already a close friend of Cookie Arrighi, 15, also a student of San Domenico and one of San Rafael's best age-group swimmers, holder of national age-group AAU records.

END AND BEGINNING

For Silvana, the hard, rugged work of Olympic training is over and for Cookie it's really just beginning.

A freestyle swimmer, Miss Asturias competed in the 100, 200, 400 and 800-meter events at Mexico City. She didn't reach the finals in any of the events, and isn't planning to try the Olympics in '72.

"I'm tired of swimming," she said with help from interpreter and close friend Cynthia Ortiz of Costa Rica. "(I can understand English all right, I just cannot express myself," says Silvana.)

For six months prior to the Olympics, the Guademalan girl practiced five and six hours a day. She said her family had a pool at home, but her practice was done in a nearby Olympic-sized swim pool.

DAILY PRACTICE

The 5-foot-4 Miss Asturias came to Marin County for schooling in September with her

San Marin's Bright Star

There are 29 of them or so, and they call themselves Mustangs and they come out of spanking new San Marin High School in Novato and so far, they've literally exploded on the MCAL grid scene, doing much better than anyone predicted they would, and better than anybody else, period.

Lambert was the big man Saturday when the Mustangs whipped Tamalpais 28-13 in their MCAL varsity debut. Lambert brought them from behind with three second-half touchdowns on runs of three, two and 45 yards. The Mustangs had trailed 13-7 at the half.

I-J HONORS

That performance earned Lambert the Independent-Journal's first Prep of the Week honors for the 1969 season.

STEVE LAMBERT
A whiz kid

Saturday's win gave the amazin' Mustangs a 3-0 record for this year, best in the county, and a string of 12 straight wins, dating back to last year's unbeaten junior varsity season.

Lambert, who alternates at a halfback spot with Urbano Bousciguez, figures his and the Mustangs success is a team story. It didn't surprise him one bit.

"We play as a unit," he says. "There's a real closeness there. We have a lot of momentum going."

SERIOUS PROBLEM

Lambert doesn't think a title in their fledlging season is out of the question for the Mustangs, although he admits that Terra Linda will pose a serious problem.

"I think we have a good chance," he said. "Terra Linda ought to be favored. I just hope there's just as much pressure on them when we play as there is on us."

The Mustangs and Trojans collide Nov. 1. at San Rafael High School at 1:30 p.m.

Immunization Drug Sent To Holy Cross Gridders

BOSTON (AP) — Doses of gamma gobulin, a drug which affords temporary immunization against liver diseases, were sent to Holy Cross College in Worcester yesterday where more than 20 members of the football team are hospitalized with hepatitis.

The remaining seven Crusader football games were canceled when about 60 persons connected with the team contracted the liver ailment.

Injections of the drug are to be given to all football players and anyone associated with the team or who had contact with players recently.

Officials in Worcester said yesterday that a water fountain on the football practice field may be the source of the infection.

Flood Involved In 7-Player Deal

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals announced a seven-player trade today in which they obtained controversial outfielder Richie Allen from Philadelphia and sent outfielder Curt Flood to the Phillies.

The Cardinals also obtained pitcher Jerry Johnson and infielder Cookie Rojas from the Phillies. They sent catcher Tim McCarver, outfielder Byron Browne and relief pitcher Joe Hoerner to Philadelphia.

IN DOGHOUSE

Allen, whose salary with the Phils reportedly was $80,000 a year, had been in the club's doghouse for missing games and other antics. He was suspended for almost a month this summer for missing a doubleheader with the New York Mets.

Allen, who will be 28 in March, hit .288, drove in 89 runs and had 32 home runs in 118 games with the Phillies this season. He was a member of the National League All-Star team in 1965, 1966 and 1967.

Flood, who will be 32 in January, led the Cardinals in hitting with a .335 average in 1967 and .301 in 1968, but slipped to .285 during the past season.

SIX TIMES

The Cardinals finished a disappointing fourth in the Eastern Division after winning the National League pennant in 1968.

McCarver hit .260 and had 51 runs batted in and seven home runs this season. The 33-year-old Hoerner won two and lost three and was credited with 15 saves in 45 relief appearances for the Cards. He had 2.89 earned run average.

WITH TULSA

Browne started the season with the Tulsa farm club in the American Association and was called up July 12 after hitting .340 for the Oilers. He drove in seven runs and batted .226 in 22 games with the Cards.

The 26-year-old Johnson won six and lost 13 for the Phillies this year and had a 4.29 earned run average.

Allen, a constant target by booing Philadelphia fans, had declared he would never play for the club again after the suspension.

$10,000 FINE

He missed 26 days and 29 games and was fined more than $10,000.

The suspension eventually resulted in the resignation of manager Bob Skinner in August who blasted owner Bob Carpenter and General Manager John Quinn for interfering in his handling of Allen.

Allen also was blamed for Carpenter's firing of manager Gene Mauch late in the 1968 season.

Allen wasn't immediately available. His wife said he was taking in the day at the Atlantic City (N.J.) Race Track.

It was horses, incidentally, that got Allen into his big mess in June. He went to a track near New York City, where one of the horses he owns was running, and couldn't make it back through traffic to the ball park.

BOOS START

Allen's troubles with the fans —and they never let up on him even when he blasted homers— appeared to have started on July 3, 1965 when he had a fight with utility infielder Frank Thomas during batting practice. Thomas was traded a few days later—and the boos started mushrooming.

Near the end of the 1967 season Allen cut his right hand severely when he shoved it through a headlight while trying to push his stalled car—and it was feared for a time that his career was finished.

Player's 'Big Three' Challenge

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Gary Player, 33-year-old South African golf star, today came up with a novel idea for yet another tournament—teaming Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and himself against any other three golfers in the world.

Player, practicing to defend his Piccadilly World Match Play title over Wentworth's inland course tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, said:

"Many people keep saying that Arnold and Jack are over the hill. Well, if they are, I'd still take them as my partners against any other three."

Player, Palmer and Nicklaus, for so many years regarded as the Big Three of world professional golf, now have lost that claim against rising challenge of other stars.

Bill Casper, Lee Trevino and Orville Moody are three who immediately come to mind.

Then there are Ray Floyd, George Archer and Tom Weiskopf, all from the United States.

Tony Jacklin, 25-year-old English winner of the British Open and second favorite behind Player in this tournament, could be teamed with Bernard Gallacher of Scotland and Peter Townsend of England.

Player, who has won $125,000 on the American circuit this year despite playing in only selected tournaments, still is rated among the world's greatest golfers.

The World Match Play tournament is played over Wentworth's 6,997 yards lay-out, par 36-38—74.

Weak Link In 49er Lineup

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — San Francisco 49ers head coach Dick Nolan still was undecided about activating another player against the Los Angeles Rams Sunday to shore up a linebacking corps depleted by injuries.

Starting middle linebacker Ed Beard may be out for the season after knee ligament damage suffered in the Niners' tie with the Washington Redskins last weekend.

BOTH READY

Backup man Harold Hays was held out of practice yesterday to rest a painful bone spur, and reserve Jim Sniadecki also is having his week's practice cut short by military duty. Both should be ready for the Rams at Kezar Stadium Sunday.

Probable starters at linebacker Sunday are all-pro Dave Wilcox on the left side, third-year man Frank Nunley in the middle and rookie Skip Vanderbundt at the right side.

Nolan also said he would shuffle his offensive linemen against the Rams.

GUARDS

"Randy Beisler will share more time with Cas Banaszek at tackle and we will shuffle Howard Mudd, Elmer Collett and Woody Peoples at the guard spots," Nolan said.

San Francisco has lost two games and tied one after a winless pre-season. The Rams are undefeated and lead the National Football League's Coastal Division.

mother, who has since returned to the family home in Guatemala City. Silvana has an older brother, 17, a younger brother, 10, and an 8-year-old sister, all living at home. Their father is a bank official in Guatemala City.

Two years ago she made her first visit to the United States, attending school a short while in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. She plans to continue her schooling at San Domenico through graduation three years from now.

Does she miss her family? "A log," she smiles. She said she plans to fly back to Guatemala City for Christmas vacation and will also spend summer months there.

BOY BACK HOME

Does she have a boy friend? "Not here," she shyly smiles, "but I have a boy friend back home. His name is Ramiro Benavides."

"The girls have a lot of liberty here," she explains. "Their parents let them do anything. We're more respectful of our parents in Guatemala. There's more control over us by our parents."

And what about boys with long hair?

"Oh, no," she said. "Our government won't let boys go around with hair over their shoulders. The police tell them to get it cut, and if they don't, the policemen cut it for them."

Miss Asturias and Guatemalans don't have problems with marijuana. "They get in too much trouble if they get caught, so they stay away from it," she said. "Here', it's like drinking water."

Silvana and Cookie will be competing against girls from 10 other private girls' schools in the Play Day swimming, the two girls each entered in three vents.

The competition shouldn't give Silvana too much trouble. It will be somewhat different than last year at Mexico City when Miss Asturias looked accross the starting platform in her 200-meter freestyle heat and saw Debbie Meyers, the star from Sacramento, poised for take off.

Debbie went on to set world records and win gold medals for the U.S.

Marin Catholic, San Rafael Win

Marin Catholic High School's Class C basketball team pushed its Marin County Athletic League win-loss record to 3-1 with a 40-32 conquest of Redwood at Marin Catholic yesterday.

Bruce Nuttman scored 21 points to lead the way while Jim DeMartini had 10 points for Redwood, now 2-2.

In another "C" game, San Rafael took a 31-29 double-overtime victory over Terra Linda to score its first win of the season. Jeff Koblick scored the winning basket with 10 seconds left while Bruce Howard was high scorer with 15 points.

STATE GRIZZLY?

Wardens Check On Bear Story

SACRAMENTO (AP) — There was a flurry of excitement as word filtered out of the Sierra that a hunter had shot a California grizzly bear.

Experts scoffed because a real wild girizzly — symbol of the state — hasn't been seen outside a zoo in 45 years. Game wardens said they would check the story.

Mrs. Steve Valenzuela of Sacramento said yesterday the story started when a taxidermist told her husband the animal he shot was part grizzly, part brown bear.

BLACK BEAR?

"We're sure it was a black bear," said Jerry D. Harrell, information officer for the State Fish and Game Department, "but we'll try to get the skull and see."

Most bears found in the state now are black bears although some are brownish in color and are referred to inaccurately as brown bears.

Valenzuela shot the 300-pound bear near Slick Dock in El Dorado County about 75 miles east of Sacramento.

Dr. Tracy Storer, retired zoology professor at the University of California in Davis, told a reporter, "The last living (grizzly) bear was seen in 1924 in Sequoia National Park. Since then, rumors are about 15 cents a dozen."

The last recorded kill of a California grizzly was in 1922 in Tulare County in east-central California.

COMMON

The smaller, less fericious black bear is still common in much of the state, however.

Hunters have killed an average 850 of them over the past six years. Most are shot by deer hunters in the Northern California mountains.

Fish and Game Department records indicate the largest black bear found in California was trapped alive in Yosemite National Park in 1938. It weighed 680 pounds. Adult black bears normally weigh 200 to 300 pounds.

Mrs. Graham Hill Denies Rumors Of Retirement

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Graham Hill's wife and doctors deny reports in London that the British race driver injured seriously in last Sunday's U.S. Grand Prix, would be forced to retire.

He hasn't said a word about it, and I haven't mentioned it to him," Mrs. Hill said yesterday when asked whether her husband was calling it quits.

Hill, 40, suffered a fractured right leg and a dislocated left knee when his Lotus-Ford Formula One car crashed off the Grand Prix track at nearby Watkins Glen.

Doctors at Arnot-Ogden Hospital in Elmira said Hill was in good condition and that he should be able to race again once he has recovered fully.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Former Georgia quarterback Larry Rakestraw signed with the Atlanta Falcons yesterday to serve as a backup signal-caller for Randy Johnson.

Coach Norm Van Brocklin acted swiftly to beef up his quarterback corps, depleted by an injury to regular Bob Berry and the assignment of No. 3 Bruce Lemmerman to the Move List.

Rakestraw was recently released by the Chicago Bears, also of the National Football League.

BOATING

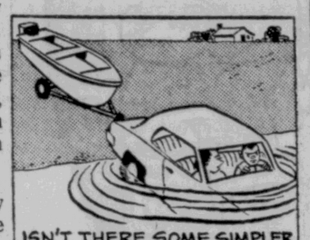
By STAN DAVIES

Philosophical People, Those Trailer Boaters

Trailer boaters who get around a lot become very philosophical people. They discover quickly that no two launching ramps are alike, and none is perfect.

Most launching ramps are created by municipal engineers who haven't had much, if any experience with trailer boats. At many ramps the water is lapping in the back door of the car before the boat will float off, or the boat comes off with such a rush that it gets away from you.



CHECK THE RAMP BEFORE YOU LAUNCH!

BUT BE philosophical and try to make the best of what we've got. When studying a strange launching ramp — and please don't ever back in and look later — note the angle of descent. In trying to judge this, don't let reflection or refraction fool you. It usually makes a very steep ramp look shallower.

If the ramp is on the steep side, take great care. A boat that slides off a trailer very quickly under the influence of gravity often gets up enough momentum so that the stern will go right under water.

NATURALLY IT depends on the weight of the motor and the design of the transom, but it is best to unwind the winch by hand on a steep ramp, allowing the boat to slide into the water slowly. If your winch has a friction device, make sure it's working well because it is the safest way to keep control.

The shallow, gently-sloping ramp also poses its problems, the worst of which is how to get the boat off without driving a car's length out into the water. A trailer with an all-roller bed is great under these circumstances because the boat can be shoved off and retrieved much more easily.

THERE'S NOTHING like experience to help a boater meet all the launching ramp problems he'll run into, but here are a few ideas that may help.

First, consider getting a power operated winch. It makes retrieving a boat at a steep ramp simple. Even the most awkward ramp is no problem with power.

THERE IS a commercial trailer winch called "Powerwinch," which can be provided by most marine dealers, but I have seen many do-it-yourself boaters who have rigged up automobile starting motors to their winches very successfully. Statring motors develop tremendous torque.

IF YOU don't want to pay the price for a powered winch, be sure that your hand operated device is big enough for the job. It should have a handle with good leverage, and it should be geared down so that the effort of cranking up the boat won't put blisters on your wife's hands . . . because there is going to come a time when she will have to crank while you are in the water guiding the boat on to the trailer against a nasty wind.

IF THE winch doesn't have these qualities, replace it. Make sure that the winch rope or cable will stand the maximum strain. Check it frequently for frays and damaged strands. Imagine the disaster that could result from a broken cable. Your boat might slide off the trailer and smash into another boat in the water.

Keep all parts will lubricated, including the bearings or shafts of all the rollers the boat rides on.

IF YOU know of anyone building a launching ramp here are some average, or even "ideal" dimensions: The surface should slope back from the water's edge for a distance of about 12 feet at an angle of 25 degrees. Then it should steepen to an angle of 35 degrees. This shape of ramp should fit almost every make and size of car and boat trailer.

Warriors Experiment Without Lee, LaRusso

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors have been experimenting with different forward-guard combinations now that they have lost forward Rudy LaRusso for good and forward Clyde Lee only temporarily.

The Warriors, now 3-3 in preseason games, dropped a 120-113 decision to the Seattle Sonics last night in Eureka. Jeff Mullins paced the losers with 8 points and Bob Rule and John Tresvant led the Sonics with 19 points apiece. Seattle now is 6-2 in exhibition play.

The Warriors, who have been playing Mullins, Ellis and other relatively small men at the forward spots, are readying for the Cable Car Classic this weekend.

San Francisco plays the Los Angeles Lakers and the Phoenix Suns play the San Diego Rockets Friday night at the San Francisco Cow Palace. The two winning teams square off and the losing teams also play one another Saturday night at the Oakland Coliseum-Arena.

MARIN, SONOMA GOLF NOTES

Lucky No. 13 At Novato

Hachmyer, a Greyhound bus driver, scored the fourth hole-in-one of his golfing career last week during a practice round for the Indian Valley Club Championship tourney. It was on the 153-yard 13th hole, the same hole where he shot his previous three aces.

CLUB CHAMPIONS will be decided at two area courses this weekend. At San Geronimo National, John Roth has a four-stroke lead over defending champ Ken Harnquist at the halfway point, 73 to 77. Final 18 holes will be played Saturday. In second flight play, Roger Kile and John Morse are tied with net 69s, while Stu Simons' 70 leads low net in the third flight.

Mat Palacio, defending champ at Sonoma National and former state amateur champion, has a commanding six-stroke lead going into the final 18 of that club's 72-hole tournament. His 69-78-72 — 219 is going to be hard for Bob Van Druff (225) to beat.

Mill Valley's club championship is at the finals stage, too, but the finals in the championship flight won't be held until Oct. 26, as one of the finalists reportedly must be out of town because of business. That's Earl Brown, son of Mill Valley pro Malcolm Brown who defeated Rick Patterson on the 19th hole of Sunday's semifinals. He'll be going against Jim Brown (no relation), who defeated Wayne Duerson 1 up in their semifinal match.

A NORTHERN CALIFORNIA Amateur Golf League tournament is scheduled next Monday at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael. The tourney is drawing 190 golfers in four flights. Peacock Gap is one of 23 clubs in Northern Cal that hosts the twice-monthly tourneys.

MARIN COUNTRY CLUB will hold a "Meet the Pro" tournament Saturday, 8:30 a.m., in honor of new pro Wally Murray. A continental breakfast and dominoes tournament will supplement the golf action.

Last Saturday at Marin C.C. two teams tied in a one low ball foursome tournament, including Ralph Lewis-Clement Ladrech-Dan Giles-John Murphy and Al McConnell-Al King-Bill Miller-Mel Sorson.

IN SORENSEN Cup finals at Petaluma Golf and Country Club, Clarke Mattheissen and Bill Mathews defeated defending champions Gene Ley and Dr. Wayne Musser, 4 and 3, Sunday. The tourney is best ball partners, match play.

YOUNG JERRY Sharman, son of Bill Sharman of basketball fame, has been named head pro at the Ontario National Golf Club, one of the National Golf Courses Inc. chain headed by Bill Saunders of Hawaii (as in Sonoma National and San Geronimo National).

Sharman, 24, is one of the youngest head pros in the country. His father, former San Francisco Warriors' coach, now coaches for Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association.

RADIAL OR POLYGLAS?

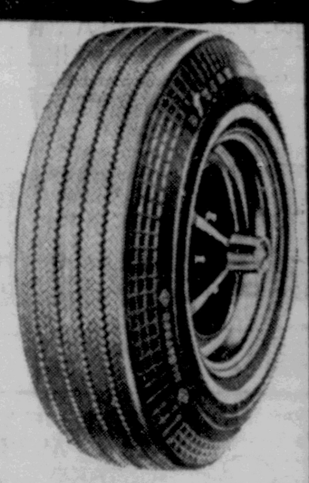
The dilemma goes on! But after a year of Polyglas belted tires, we know a bit more than we did. Ford Motor Co. announced a last minute switch to rayon belted tires on some of its 1970 cars instead of Polyester fiberglas belted tires. All 1970 Lincoln Mark III will be equipped with MICHELIN X Steel Radial Tires in place of the POLYGLAS. The reason: not only do they wear longer and improve the performance of the Mark III, but they make the car ride better.

Also, Federal Auto Safety Officials are deeply concerned about reports of Blowouts and bad handling characteristics of Polyglas cord and fiberglas belted tires to be sold as original equipment on millions of U.S. cars.

Here is a fact: the Polyglas Tire by Goodyear is not their ultimate product, but instead an interim product to protect their sales against Radial Tires until they can learn how to make a radial that will work. At this minute Goodyear is experimenting with a STEEL BELTED RADIAL TIRE as their ultimate answer: the same type Radial Tire MICHELIN HAS BEEN BUILDING FOR 22 YEARS.



Cain's knows RADIALS ARE BEST? But at Cain's you can shop in a super market of tires.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 8, the 281st day of 1969 with 84 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and the new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1923 Germany's shakey postwar economy produced such disastrous inflation that one American penny was worth more than six million marks.

In 1942 the first contingent of World War II waves began navl training for women at Smith College in Massachusetts.

A thought for the day — George Santayana said — "There is no cure for birth and death save to enjoy the interval."

Try To Break Sad News To Foes Late In Game

If you are a normal, sympathetic, warmhearted human being, like all readers of this column, you hate to break sad news to your fellow bridge player. If you wait a few seconds before letting an opponent know that his finesse has failed, he may like you better. And then again, he may not.

OPENING LEAD — H. Q.

West opened the queen of hearts, and South won with the king. He very naturally led a trump to try a finesse with dummy's ten. This gave East the chance to show his warm heart. Instead of winning with the queen of spades, East won with the ace.

East returned a heart to the ace, and South naturally assumed that his spade finesse had succeeded. Expecting to lose only one heart, one spade and one diamond, South led another spade to repeat the finesse.

West discarded a diamond, and South was very ungrateful about the short spell of happiness East had given him. In fact, if you'd been listening very carefully you might have heard a rather rude word or two.

NO FURTHER PLAY

South had no further play for his contract. He had to lose a second spade, a heart and the ace of diamonds. Down one.

East's warmhearted play of the ace of spades cost nothing: he was sure to get a later trick with the queen of spades. The point of taking the ace first was to dissuade declarer from looking for another way to make his contract.

CAN'T LOSE

If East took the queen of spades at the second trick, South would know that he could not afford to lose a heart. As his only chance to make the contract he would lead his singleton club and try a finesse with dummy's queen. This would succeed, and South would discard a heart on the ace of clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♥ Q J 10 4
♦ 7 6 3 2
♣ K 8 7 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You are worried about no-trump because of your singleton, but you have nothing better to suggest. You would bid if you had a suit of five or more cards, but you should not move with only four-card suits.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Never Buy Stock Just To Put Away

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I'd like you to list about five medium-sized good-quality relatively safe growth stocks for long-term holding. I feel that this is what the average investor is looking for. — H. T.

A. Your request is, as you assumed, representative of many others. Before presenting such a list let me emphasize that no stock should be bought, put away and forgotten. The selected issues have relatively thin markets and will require a reasonable amount of following.

In each case, sales run well below $100 million, earnings show a well-established pattern of growth and dividends, though modest, have been increased or supplemented with stock from time to time. All have been recommended in past columns. My first selection, Concord Fabrics, appears to have fully participated in the booming home sewing market estimated at $2.5 billion. About 30 per cent of Concord's sales go to this market, the remainder to apparel manufacturers. First-half 1969 sales were up 32 per cent with net income gaining 39 per cent to 95 cents a share. Sales this year are projected by management at $65 million and we look for earnings of $1.60 a share for a current multiple of 11x.

H. B. Fuller, selling under 20x estimated fiscal 1969 results, is my second choice. This industrial adhesives manufacturer has recently announced it would introduce a line of adhesives for the retail consumer. Another growing company, Ozite Corp., is a pioneer in the development of nonwoven carpeting. Six months 1969 sales showed a 20 per cent gain with earnings at 91 cents up 15 per cent year-to-year.

Ozite's new process to produce polypropylene at its own plants should help widen margins. Reece Corp. manufactures industrial buttonhole and pocket-making machines. Sales were up 35 per cent in the first six months of 1969. Full-year net could reach $1.80 for a multiple of 18x.

My final selection, Taylor Wine Co., has a particularly strong financial position with current assets more than four times current liabilities as of December, 1968. Net was up 14 per cent to $3.09 a share, in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1969.

Sony Establishes West Coast Base

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — The Sony Corporation, one of Japan's largest electric appliance manufacturers, has reportedly established a distribution center in Compton, Calif., to boost its sales in the United States.

Masaru Ibuka, president of Sony, was reported to have said all Sony products to be exported to the United States would first be shipped to Compton to be sorted out according to their destinations.

Wall Street Retreats For Second Day

The UPI marketwide indicator was off 0.58 per cent on 1,573 issues crossing the tape. There were 860 declines and 447 advances.

Among the most active issues were Texaco, Gillette, American Telephone, Seaboard World Airlines, Monsanto and Occidental.

Conglomerate issues traded in narrow ranges, while pointsized swingers in the electronics were in both directions.

A number of oils also moved a point or better and in mixed fashion.

Aluminum stocks attracted some selling despite spreading industry price hikes. The group generally edged forward in the previous session.

Airlines and aircrafts traded on both sides of previous closings. So did rails.

Steels and motors moved in fractions.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Trans Global Metals Makes Switch From San Francisco

A recent opening in San Rafael is Trans Global Metals, Inc., at 124 Belvedere Street, a manufacturer's representative for imported plumbing fixtures — many of these from Japan.

This is a removal from 214 Front Street, San Francisco. The company, about 10 years in business, is headed by Michael Geiger of San Anselmo and Michael Lanzit of Novato as vice president. Lanzit's son John is also with the organization.

Trans Global in moving its headquarters to Marin, has its own warehouse facilities for the first time. Heretofore the company has used public warehousing in other cities. It sells to wholesale suppliers and has representatives throughout the United States.

ONE MAN who is already looking ahead to the time when the Bon Air Shopping Center in Greenbrae becomes a regional shopping center with Macy's and other large stores is A. A. (Army) York of Santa Rosa.

York has recently opened the Doctor Pet Center at 410 Coddingtown Shopping Center in Santa Rosa. He also plans another store in Bon Air — but not until its big expansion, which may be a year or more away.

Doctor Pet Centers is a national organization headquarterd in Philadelphia and franchising its stores throughout the United States. York, who has both Sonoma and Marin County franchises, describes them as "complete department stores for pets" and also sells small animals. He expects to have his Santa Rosa grand opening in about two weeks.

ROBERT E. FULLER, who was a principal in the Town and Country Health Spa that opened at 135 Third Street, San Rafael last December, has withdrawn from this organization and opened Bob Fuller's Conditioning Therapy at 1125 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield.

This is right in front of the Center Medical and Rehabilitation Hospital of Northern California, where Fuller is now administrator — making it more convenient for him to divide his time between two projects.

His new venture is fully equipped with gymnasium, sauna, showers, dressing rooms and staffed with physical therapists and registered nurses. Primarily he works with physicians in conditioning therapy but also takes some clients seeking to reduce in weight and build up physically.

Fuller's is open six days a week from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Men are taken on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and women on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

New Poultry Processing Plant Set

The construction of a new poultry processing plant in Petaluma was announced yesterday.

The Petaluma Poultry Processing Co. announced that it would locate on Lakeville Highway in a modern concrete, steel and stone manufacturing office, sales and display center.

The business owned by Charles Baum, Walter Lai and Allen Shainsky will employ 35 persons when it opens in March and will later expand to employ 75 or 80 persons.

Baum said the company will deal solely in fresh chickens and poultry and will supply the Oriental market in San Francisco and Oakland as a specialty. A retail outlet for the purchase of fresh poultry of all types will be included in the facility.

William H. McDevitt of San Rafael, developer and builder for the project, said the completely self-contained unit will use feather arrestors, grease traps and an elaborate waste disposal system that will eliminate objections to the old-fashioned type of poultry processing plant.

Ike Cartwheel Plan Goes Flat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans to unveil a new Eisenhower dollar coin on the late president's birthday next week appear on the shelf, the victim of a House fight over silver content and procedures.

The bill to create the new coin fell about 30 votes shy of the two-thirds majority it needed Monday for hurry-up passage.

Court Hearing Set

Watt, who is free in $5,000 bond, was arrested after narcotics agents found $10,000 worth of LSD under a sleeping bag in a vacant lot in Tam Valley.

TEPUSQUET WHAT?

New Grape Capital Looms On Horizon

TEPUSQUET (AP) — Tepusquet?

It doesn't even show on some maps of Santa Barbara County.

But folks in his hilly area just east of Santa Maria say it someday may be celebrated in song and verse as headquarters for the finest California wine.

"We've proved this is one of the rare places in the world where high quality dry wine grapes can be grown," says Bill Collins, after four years of experimenting with such classic grape varieties as Cabernet Sauvignon, Pinot Chardonnay, Johannesburg Riesling, Sauvignon Blanc and Sylvaner.

The first crop, harvested last year but still four years away from market, is being held in separate storage at Christian Brothers winery in the famed Napa Valley wine country. Says Collins: "They tell us our grapes make better quality wine than even those grown in Napa Valley."

Collins, who came here after 30 years of growing wine grapes in the Delano area, works at a 100-acre vineyard owned by DeMattei-Nielson of Delano, which spent three years studying Tepusquet land and climate before putting in the vines four years ago.

"They studied weather records back as far as they could go and discovered the mean temperatures is 64 degrees — perfect for dry wine grapes," Collins says.

The area, he says, has been designated as "Region 1" in grape growing parlance—meaning quality grapes grown here will bring up to $400 a ton. By contrast Delano grapes, typed Region 6, bring as little as $30 a ton.

He predicts that within five years there will be 3,000 acres in grapes. The rolling hills overlooking the Sisquoc River are in a narrow belt that gets a sea breeze but not much fog. "The afternoon breeze keeps it from getting too hot, and the foothills are too high to be endangered by frost," Collins says.

The firm experimented with 15 varieties of grapes but plans to stick with just 5. One nearby ranch has purchased cuttings to put in 25 acres and another is putting in 200 acres. The firm also has sold 60,000 cuttings for use in Northern California.

"We paid our operating costs for the year by selling cuttings," Collins says. "We got into production at a cost of $2,300 an acre, and expect to pay off our investment in nine years."

This year the vineyard expects an average of four tons an acre at an average of $200 a ton.

There are advantages to pioneering — fewer diseases and pests. Also disadvantages—lots of birds, gophers and raccoons.

Japan May Be Winner In Sea Route

TOKYO (UPI) Japan, already the world's third greatest industrial power, could be one of the big winners in the gamble to open the Northwest Passage.

A commercial sea lane across the top of Alaska and Canada would cut the distance between Tokyo and New York by 3,320 miles and save shippers both time and money.

Japanese officials followed with interest the voyage of the tanker S.S. Manhattan on its mission to test the feasibility of using supertankers to carry Alaskan oil to the U.S. East Coast.

They believe Japanese exports could follow the same route into the important American market.

Those same officials also are interested in the development of oilfields on Alaska's north slope for the very good reason that Japan imports more oil than any other nation in the world. Japan is now heavily dependent on the Middle East for oil.

The opening of the Northwest Passage also intrigues Japanese shipbuilders, who build more and larger ships than any other nation in the world. They believe they could build the special ships needed to negotiate some of the most hazardous waters in the world.

"The benefits to Japan of opening the Northwest Passage are unfathomable," said an official of Japan's Ministry of Industry and Trade (MITI).

To reach the U.S. East Coast by ship, Japanese exports now must pass through the Panama Canal. The lower costs of using the Northwest Passage would make Japanese goods even more competitive with West European products than they are now in the huge American market.

MITI officials pointed out that the Northwest Passage could also eliminate the high cost of shipping Japanese goods overland from the U.S. West Coast to the American markets in the East.

The passage also would shorten the route of Japanese exports to Europe now that the Suez Canal is closed. A MITI official said Japanese automobiles have sold well in the United States but not in Europe because of the high cost of shipping them there.

Japanese steelmakers, however, have some reservations. They doubt that, using present shipping techniques, finished products could be carried through the rough and ice-laden waters of the Northwest Passage without damage.

Officials for both Yawata and Fuji, Japan's two largest steel manufacturers, said they would not use the Northwest Passage until it is proved their products could be shipped safely.

Yawata and Fuji buy coal from the United States and use it to make finished steel products for sale in America. Both the coal and the steel now go through the Panama Canal.

A spokesman for Ishikawajima-Harima heavy industries, the firm that has built the world's largest supertankers, said his firm does not expect an immediate opening of the Northwest Passage.

"But if someone wanted us to build a ship which would negotiate this route, we could build it," he said.

The British began collecting income taxes in 1853.

Young Charges Are Not Punished For Outbursts

BERKELEY (UPI) — "Dammit, I cut myself!"

The 4-year-old boy shouted out the comment while imitating his father's shaving habits at an experimental Oakland school operated by educators from the University of California here.

The boy's profanity, something shared in large doses by his pre-school classmates, had no shock effect on the volunteer Cal student working with him.

She and her fellow student teachers had spent the better part of the year at Cottage School in an atmosphere of hope that their charges from ghetto areas not only would retain language from their environment but would then acquire new oral skills important to their future in public schools.

Preliminary tests completed for the 15 children at the school indicate language ability for 3- to 5-year-olds, had increased. But it will take more tests in the years ahead to determine if the gains were meaningful.

In its first year of operation, officials of Cottage report boisterous encounters between the children and their tutors, who work with them on a one-to-one basis.

Although educational toys and classroom facilities are available, the emphasis is mostly on play. Dr. T. Bentley Edwards, founder and professor of education at Berkeley, believes that unstructured surroundings may produce more spontaneity and growth in language skills, especially where children do most of their talking and adults most of the listening.

Student teachers also clash frequently with the children's mothers, who visit the center and participate in some activities. They often complain about the lack of direct discipline.

In addition to playing with, talking to, and instructing the children, the U.C. students take them on field trips to museums, zoos, parks and other buildings.

The California Department of Education is supporting the program, an outgrowth of collaboration among the university, the Oakland School Board and the Oakland Redevelopment Agency.

Demands For Handouts Discredit Students, College

The vast majority of College of Marin students are there because they genuinely want to get an education. The citizens of Marin support the college through taxes so that these young people can continue beyond high school at minimal cost. There is no tuition. There are very few fees. Many students carry their lunches. Books and transportation constitute the principal expenses.

Undoubtedly, even these expenses are excessive for a few of the students. Recognizing this, the College of Marin Foundation has solicited funds to provide grants to those students genuinely in need.

NO HELP WAS GIVEN such students, however, by delegates — at least one of them not even enrolled at the college — who last week insulted and berated college trustees with demands for handouts accompanied by obscenities and veiled threats.

Appearing as self-appointed spokesmen for needy students were Dennis Marnell, Students for a Democratic Society leader and self-styled Vietnam war hero who conducted a course in revolution at the college this summer; Brian V. Beard, who has made a practice of disrupting public meetings in Marin and who identifies himself as a Black Panther, although the Marin chapter of the Black Panther Party insists he does not speak for it, and Del Mar Jackson of the Black Students Union.

The performance they staged served to dry up the sources of funds for the College of Marin Foundation, rather than to help any needy student. Already, donors to the foundation are growing scarcer because some feel the money may be going to agitators rather than deserving needy students.

THE PERFORMANCE of the board itself at that meeting did little to help the situation. As they have done before, the trustees sat quietly and took the insults.

At the same meeting, they were told by James Kimo Campbell, the fourth-year student who is student body president of the two-year college, that there will be a "moratorium on classes" for "Vietnam Protest Day" on Oct. 15.

Board president Robert E. Rogers pointed out that the district cannot legally cancel classes for the day, but said he found no objection to Campbell's proposal that faculty members be permitted to dismiss them at their own discretion.

ON THE SAME DAY, Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke of the California state colleges took quite a different line.

He prohibited dismissing classes on the 19 state college campuses for "Vietnam Protest Day." Any faculty member who does so, he warned, will be considered "in violation of professional ethics" and failing "to perform the normal and reasonable duties of the position" — which are grounds for dismissal.

APPARENTLY IT DID NOT occur to the Marin Junior College District trustees, or to the college president, Louis H. Herkenhoff, that they and not the students should make the rules for College of Marin — any more than it occurred to the "handout" demanders that their tactics were merely making it more difficult for genuinely needy students to get financial aid.

Apparently it did not occur to anybody that no public body is required to sit and listen quietly to insults, and that no college is required to admit "students" who register merely to have an excuse for presence on campus — let alone to recognize them as campus leaders.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Questions About Ferry Service

In the Journal of Sept. 26, one Robert N. Harris stated that fast ferries would serve the commuter problem, as it would "take the commuter off the road." Just how would the commuter get to the ferry? Would the boats stop at every commuter's house and pick him up? And what about the other side of the trip? What would keep the commuter "off the road" in San Francisco?

How about those real nasty foggy mornings and evenings when the man at the wheel of the boat couldn't see three feet beyond the bow of the ferry boat? And how about the congestion caused by the cars at the ferry slips, assuming those ferries didn't stop at everyone's door?

Further, how about days when the sea was running high and navigation for a ferry boat too hazardous? Would John Commuter have to walk back home, say from Sausalito to San Rafael, and get his car? That would be using his commuter's time, sure enough!

We can possibly understand a combination of ferries, optional, and the same old highways and bridges, but ferries alone? Hogwash!

'Free Election' Is Not Enough

Averell Harriman, former chief U.S. negotiator in Paris, was asked last month whether "in offering a mixed election commission and an election open to all, we have gone as far as we can go, to use Nixon's words." (The question was put by Hedrick Smith in a N.Y. Times interview.)

Ambassador Harriman replied: "I don't think it's a reasonable proposition to just pick one thing in the election, particularly as the (Saigon) government continues to put people in jail. They give no indication that anybody's going to have any freedom in South Vietnam to have a free discussion or free campaigning."

A free election means more than equal access to the polls and an honest count. It means the right to campaign against the ruling party's candidates. That's why an election in South Vietnam must be preceded by a temporary coalition government, as Prof. Richard Falk of Princeton said in July at a meeting sponsored by the Mill Valley Democratic Club. If we want an honorable peace in Vietnam, all of us must continue to make this point to our elected officials in Washington.

Mental Health Director Praised

I was amazed and puzzled by the article in the Independent-Journal on Sept. 23 concerning Dr. Clyde Miller. The various criticisms seemed to me to be quite unwarranted.

In my capacity as assistant health officer I have on numerous occasions contacted Dr. Miller personally e.g. patients in acute pyschiatric crisis, attempted suicides and children with emotional problems. He recently offered counseling services to parents who "batter" their children. also in the past year I have served on a committee where he has been mediator and counselor. The committee was concerned about placement facilities for mentally retarded children. . . .

I can truly say that at no time did I feel that I could not communicate with Dr. Miller fully. He listens, simplifies, and condenses and comes up with a spare, concise solution which focuses directly on the heart of the problem.

Perhaps Dr. Miller in trying to meet contracts with frugality and in his attempt to budget monies may be subjected to some immature hostility.

Unfortunately, we live in an age where the trend is towards instant gratification, and the one who does not provide this "fails to communicate." Curtailment in any form arouses a great deal of anger and frustration. As adults we cannot very well have "temper tantrums" so we call the Independent-Journal instead. . . .

I feel that if this honest, conscientious, dedicated man should leave, the mental hygiene in Marin County will slp back into the Dark Ages where it was before he came.

Hub City Creates Own Bottlenecks

Many towns when improving their roads to make traffic flow smoother sometimes round off corners but here in San Anselmo we extend ours into the middle of the street. Our city engineer says this is to discourage people from using these streets. Imagine that.

We, also, now have a high-tension wire pole smack dab in the middle of the street in front of a Stop and Go Market. I wonder if the utility companies aren't just a little bit worried about someone running into it and killing themselves. In case of a fire how will the fire trucks maneuver around the pole or can they?

At a special meeting called by the city council we were told federal funds would be available from TOPICS. These funds are only available to communities which have bottlenecks and thanks to this latest project it looks like we can now qualify. Could this have been done intentionally? . . .

Well one of our local businessmen suggests the best way to get a downtown San Anselmo is to drive to Fairfax and then take a helicopter back and land in one of our silly little parks in the middle of the street.

Bills To Provide More TV Time To Candidates Timely And Fair

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Most of the 535 most powerful lobbyists in Washington will be working to get a law to make television a more vital means of communication between presidential and congressional candidates and the voters.

These lobbyists would be the senators and congressmen, and they would be lobbying in a good cause.

Using the public ari waves more fully, more innovatively and at a tolerable cost is the best way presidential and congressional candidates can expound to the whole nation what they feel is at stake and reveal their fitness.

And it is also the best way to enable the voters to measure their qualifications and qualities.

THERE IS STRONG momentum behind legislation to make this possible.

There are two parallel proposals now before Congress.

One comes from a distinguished bipartisan panel which has studied the matter for more than a year at the initiative of the 20th Century Fund.

It proposes that the federal government pay the cost for six 30-minute broadcasts for the nominees of the two major parties, plus two such broadcasts for any minor party which won one-eighth of the votes in the preceding election and is on the current ballot in three-quarters of the states.

The National Committee for an Effective Congress is advocating that Senate and House candidates be permitted to buy broadcast time at 20 to 30 per cent of normal commercial rates. The bill is already before both houses with wide support.

ON THE BASIS of considerable experience covering national political campaigns, it seems to us that these steps are desirable, are urgently needed and are fair.

They are desirable because the Kennedy-Nixon debates proved that wider use of prime-time TV stimulates interest in political discussion and increases public participation in politics, including voting.

Lower-cost, partly subsidized political broadcast time is urgently needed to cut back the sharp inflation of television costs in presidential campaigns and to make this essential medium somewhat more equally available to both sides. Total broadcasting charges for presidential and vice presidential nominees rose from $4.6 million in 1956 to $11 million in 1964 and to $20.4 milion last year, with television being the main factor in this escalation. Richard Nixon was able to spend $12.5 million for TV and radio last fall, and Hubert Humphrey spent $6 million.

As the 20th Century Fund panel says, the "access of voters to a candidate should not depend exclusively on his ability to raise campaign funds."

THE BROADCAST industry may object to selling prime time at considerably reduced rates to the government. But newspapers print full texts of speeches by presidential nominees without charge. It doesn't seem unfair that TV should forgo some of the profit for a few hours out of four years as a contribution to the democratic process.

Since it is inteneded that the 12 or more half-hour broadcasts should be used on all stations simultaneously, some people may conceivably object to being deprived of some of their usual TV entertainment. But it wouldn't really hurt anybody if he didn't get his TV entertainment for a few moments in the interest of providing a whole body of voters an additional compulsion to look and listen and get ready to take part in the process of governing the country. Isn't that what "participation politics" is all about?

At the time when the amendment for direct election of the President seems about to be approved by Congress, a better means for direct communication between the nominees and the voters would be both timely and valuable.

Special Laws Make Education Separate World Unto Itself

By JAMES K. WOODWORTH

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Education in California has become a world unto itself!

That simple statement of fact can be verified by looking at the different areas where the people, and the legislators who represent the people, cannot enter into the kingdom of education.

The education lobby has whipped the state legislators into line, and kept the people in the dark, long enough to bring about victories for the educational bloc.

TAKE FOR INSTANCE the special provision in the California Constitution which prevents the legislature from passing any law governing the conduct or operation of the University of California or any of its branches.

Teacher tenure is another area where the public has been led down the "primrose path." Where else, in business, industry or government, is the worker guaranteed his job, for life, unless he breaks a very few major rules? And even then, if he can work the right educators, and promote a controversy, he still may retain his post while the argument swirls around him.

Too many teachers take their posts with the idea of gaining tenure, and then sitting back and enjoying the fruits of their education, without regard to the needs of students to be exposed to the best teaching possible.

This is not to say that all teachers fall into this category, but the number is higher than most people are willing to admit.

Ernest V. Joiner, north state publisher, puts his finger on one of the problems in education. He says: "Good teachers will never be paid what they're worth as long as the worst teacher in the same school system is paid the same. The American taxpayer would pay a good teacher $15,000 a year, except for the fact that, to do so, he would have to pay a dozen poor teachers the same amount. The salaries of good teachers should be raised; poor teachers should be fired."

A THIRD AREA illustrating the "other" world of education is in the secrecy provided in the law for certain committees and their actions.

Recently the credentials committee of the State Board of Education took action to refuse teaching credentials to William H. Bradley, controversial black militant in the Bay Area.

Even though the action of that committee affected children being taught by Bradley, and the parents of those children, newsmen could not get official notification of the action until a week later, after a registered letter was sent to Bradley and the return receipt received back by the credentials committee.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

When old man Jenkins breathed his last in a Massachusetts college town, not a soul could be found to say a kind word about him at his funeral. Finally, one man in the sparse gathering at the church rose to his feet. "As you all know," he began, "there's nothing good can be said about this expired skinflint Jenkins, so I'll spend a few minutes giving you this year's schedule of our excellent college football team."

A high-powered realty man gave up his Sunday afternoon golf game to show a couple through a succession of model homes, saving for the last his very best bet. "This beauty," he enthused, "has one added feature that none of the other houses I showed you had. It's a beautifully proportioned hobby room. I presume you folks have a hobby?"

"Indeed we have a hobby?" chirped the couple.

"Looking through model homes on Sunday afternoons."

Split In Administration Over Narcotics Control

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — In the wake of other intramural disputes, a mutiny is brewing in the Nixon administration's war against narcotics.

At odds in this controversy are enofrcement-minded officials of the Department of Justice and treatment-oriented physicians in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Theirs is an old argument.

The disagreement appeared to have been papered over for a while, and the two departments were supporting an administration narcotics bill. Then congressional committees began hearings, and the crakcs began to show again.

Now the controversy appears to have the potential for another embarrassing intra-administration tug-of-war like those over school desegregation, anti-trust policies, oil depletion concessions, and the like.

ONE TROUBLE in that Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, has introduced his own narcotics bill. It would give HEW a larger role in the drive against narcotics.

Certain of the research and education functions assigned to the Justice Department in the administration bill would go to HEW under Yarborough's, and so would the classification of narcotics.

The classification provision is important. It embraces, for example, the controversy over whether marijuana is properly classed with the so-called hard narcotics in the sense of the anti-drug laws.

Lobbyists for the various medicine-oriented groups which have offices here are calling Yarborough's bill "the doctors' bill" and the administration's bill, "the cops' bill."

IN RECENT testimony before a Senate subcommittee on alcoholism and drug abuse, Creed C. Black, assistant secretary of HEW for legislation, supported the administration bill and said it was not just a "Justice Department bill."

Black said HEW's "professional people" had every opportunity to express their views and register objections when the bill was being drafted.

Then Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Ia., commented that Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, director of HEW's National Insitutes of Mental Health, had told another Senate subcommittee that he could not support the administration bill.

Hughes asked whether Dr. Morton G. Miller, director of special programs for the National Institutes of Mental Health, agreed with Yolles. Miller, testifying for the department with Black, replied that, "as a professional," he agreed.

Specifically, Dr. Miller said scientific determinations, such as the classification of drugs, should be made by "scientific persons in scientific agencies, primarily health agencies."

SIGNIFICANTLY, the government's top physician did not testify. Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, assistant HEW secretary for health, had been invited, but Black appeared in his stead, reporting that Egeberg had "serious scheduling problems."

The subcommittee did hear, however, from Dr. James Goddard, director of the Food and Drug Administration for the Johnson administration and now a spokesman for the Public Health Association. He noted that he had supported the centralization of anti-narcotics activities in the Justice Department in 1968.

Goddard said the Nixon administration bill and rationale were "unbelievable" and "I now reverse my stand completely."

It was, in short, not a joyful hearing for administration spokesman Black.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Field Act Construction Proves Out In Quake

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The sufficiency of the school construction requirements of California's Field Act got a partial test in last week's quake in and around Santa Rosa. It came off rather well.

Although five commercial buildings in downtown Santa Rosa were closed while engineers made safety inspections, and the future of the two-year-old $1,343,000 county welfare building was much in doubt, only one school was closed because of quake damage. And that one was built in 1912, long before the Field Act.

There was minor damage at several newer schools, mostly consisting of broken widows, shaken-down shelves, and ruptured water lines. But the only major structural damage was reported at the 57-year-old Fremont School. It was ordered closed permanently.

The Fremont School was one that had been condemned under the Field Act previously, but a bond issue to replace it failed of passage last April.

THE FIELD ACT was enacted as result of the 1933 Long Beach earthquake, which shook down most of the school buildings in that area. These were principally of brick construction, without steel reinforcement. Frame buildings beside them survived the shake that toppled the schools, alarming California legislators over what had been happening in school construction.

The act, requiring light frame buildings or steel reinforcement of heavier construction, applied only to schools erected after its passage. Many older buildings remain in use. But three years ago, Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch handed down an opinion that caused school boards to get busy on replacing the older structures.

Lynch ruled that every school board must have every pre-1933 building inspected and, if found not to meet the act, either close it or bring it up to Field Act standards.

THIS CAUSED a near-panic among school boards. So many schools were found to be not "earthquake-proof" that immediate replacement or shoring up of all of them was impossible. As a result, quite a few districts put classes on double sessions the next fall while old school buildings stood vacant.

This situation resulted in a new piece of legislation, authored by Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, and passed by the 1967 legislature. It gives school trustees until next Jan. 1 to have pre-Field Act buildings inspected and draw up plans for their repair or replacement.

It provides also that if bond issues for replacement fail to pass, school boards may levy a 10-cent special tax and squirrel up the money to replace the condemned schools. A deadline of 1975 was set for new construction.

During the rash of school closings that followed Lynch's 1966 opinion, there was much contention that the pre-Field Act buildings might be more reliable in a quake than some of the lightly built frame schools of recent years. Santa Rosa's experience last week indicated the contrary, however.

IT MAY BE fortunate, though, that water lines rather than gas lines were ruptured in the newer schools in Santa Rosa. For the Field Act, aimed at protection against earthquakes, has encouraged school construction that is far from fireproof.

According to the U. S. Office of Education's "Digest of Educational Statistics," about a fourth of California's public school classrooms are in combustible buildings. Only 1.1 per cent are in buildings erected before 1920, with 24.7 per cent in schools built since that year. Only three states have built a higher percentage of combustible classrooms since 1920, the figures show.

Novato Calls Again For Park Lagoon Bids

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission has asked for new bids to construct a spray pool and small boat lagoon at Pioneer Memorial Park, according to Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director.

The city previously received only one bid, $53,333, with only $33,000 budgeted, so rejected the bid.

Others now want to bid, Adams said. The commission set 8 p.m. Oct. 20 for bid opening, he said.

The Novato Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission also:

PIONEER MEMORIAL PARK — Received a report from Adams that tree planting, grass seeding and other landscape work should be completed within a week at the park.

PARK PRIORITY — Gave first priority to the O'Hair property at the southwest corner of Sutro Avenue and Novato Boulevard for a major city park. It asked the city council for money for an appraisal and a land development analysis. The city has been offered the 78 acres for $500,000.

CEMETERY — Set 8 p.m. Oct. 20 for a public hearing on what to do with the Pioneer Memorial Cemetery. Original plans called for removal of the tombstones and replacing them with a memorial. There was objection to this, so the commission wants to hear public suggestions before deciding on final plans for the cemetery.

Mill Valley May Test Multiethnic Training

A pilot program on multiethnic education, to be run by the Mill Valley School District, has been offered to the district board as a substitute for a previously proposed multiethnic coordinator who was to have been sponsored by all school districts in the county.

Mill Valley Supt. James A. Collins told the board Monday night that the countywide program had fallen through because only Mill Valley and the Marin County superintendent of schools office had agreed to contribute funds for the coordinating post.

However, Collins suggested that Mill Valley and the county cooperate on a multiethnic education pilot program using the nearly $4,000 the two districts had committed to the coordinator proposal.

The program, to be studied further by Collins, would develop guidelines to be used in the county's basic course of study which now does not contain the guidelines for multiethnic education required by the state. It also would develop an inservice training program for teachers with community and parent participation.

The idea of a multiethnic education coordinator was first proposed by Mill Valley parents several months ago.

Fair-Marin members will nominate six persons, and the board of supervisors will select the final three to serve for three years.

The remaining four members on the seven-man board whose terms do not expire are President Harold Stockstad and secretary Lotte McWatters, serving until October 1971, and Treasurer Marilyn Miskimen and W. P. (Doc) Duhamel, serving until October 1970.
